SURVIVORS TELL HOW 48 DIED IN SEA AND FLAMES

Ship Crash Set Off 500,000 Gals. Gas.

Boston, Mass., June 11.—[Special.]—Forty-eight lives were lost last night by fire and drowning when the Merchants and Miners' liner Fairfax, bound for Baltimore, rammed and sank the tanker Pinthis, laden with 500,000 gallons of high test gasoline, in Massachusetts bay off Scituate, in the midst of a heavy fog.

The death list is more likely to increase than to shrink, for of nine survivors of the Fairfax lying in the Carney hospital here suffering from burns, some are dying and others are reported in a critical condition.

Coast guardsmen who searched the scene of the collision this afternoon reported that there was "no chance of survivors now."

The fishing schooner Rainbow arrived here late today with the bodies of seven men, three women, and a baby. Several were burned almost beyond recognition.

Nineteen Lost with Tanker.

The Pinthis' crew of 19 went down without even a cry when the explosive fluid she carried, blew up at the first shock and tore the tanker apart. Four of the Fairfax survivors died aboard ship and in hospitals, and 13 were listed as missing. These, it was believed, were among the score or more who leaped or fell into the sea during the first few moments of panic and perished in the blazing film of gasoline from the vanished tanker that floated on the water and ignited the port side of the Fairfax.

The injured were brought into port by the Gloucester, a sister ship of the Fairfax. With them came the more fortunate ones who had escaped the flames.

From these the first details of the tragedy were learned. The stories they told were conflicting in many respects. All seemed on the verge of hysteria, except for a few marines and sailors who chanced to be on board and who seemingly remained calm throughout.

Some Blame, Others Praise Skipper.

Some of the passengers denounced Capt. S. J. Brooks and the crew of the Fairfax. Others praised the personnel of the ship for their bravery and coolness in the crisis. United States steamboat inspectors will seek in a formal investigation tomorrow the true facts of the disaster, the worst since the Lamport & Holt liner Vestris sank off Cape Hatteras more than a year ago.

Frederick H. Tarr, United States attorney, was collecting the stories of witnesses with a view to possible criminal action.

Acting Secretary of Commerce Julius Klein was understood to have ordered the local steamboat inspectors to determine if criminal negligence was a factor in the heavy death toll. Representative McCormack made formal request upon United States Attorney Tarr to order a federal grand jury investigation.

What Inspector Charges.

Capt. Charles M. Lyons, one of the federal steamboat inspectors here, did not wait for the formal convening of the inquiry but boarded the Fairfax at her pier tonight, inspected her log book, and questioned Capt. Brooks, her master. Afterward he charged that the ship's officers were "gambling with lives out there."

"It looks to me," he said, "as though D. C. McNeil, the vice president of the Merchants and Miners', who was a passenger on the Fairfax, tried to run things."

Capt. Brooks asserted, according to Capt. Lyons, that Mr. McNeil instructed him to send a message to the company offices in code instead of broadcasting an S O S.

"Capt. Brooks admitted to me that he did not at any time send an S O S," Capt. Lyons said. "He also admitted that no attempt was made to get coast guard stations for aid or ask any one in Boston to go and search for those overboard. He admitted he heard a noise on the starboard side at 6:57 p. m. (eastern standard time).

No Report on 14 Missing.

"At no time did the coast guard stations here or along the coast know that there were fourteen passengers of the Fairfax, including several women, missing. Those people were in the water and no one can swear that they were not alive.

"The whole matter of loss of life and other happenings along that line

SHARPSHOOTER SQUADS CARRY WAR TO KILLERS

Lingle Death Inquiry Goes On in Secret.

Rewards totaling $55,000 are offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the slayer of Alfred Lingle.

The Chicago police, reorganized for war to a finish on gangdom following the murder of Jake Lingle, TRIBUNE police reporter, started into action last night.

Instant results were apparent. Hoodlum leaders vanished. Police said they were in hiding or had fled to other cities. Roving police squads raided the haunts of gangdom. Many of them were dark, closed in fear of police action. In those still operating the police herded the occupants into patrol wagons. At midnight 585 prisoners were locked up in police stations.

Coroner Herman N. Bundesen, State's Attorney John A. Swanson, Police Commissioner William F. Russell, and Chief of Detectives John Stege were working secretly to solve the Lingle murder, but there was no secret about what the police department was doing on the general crime problem.

Special Squads Hunt Criminals.

Six special squads of detectives, commanded by men who have made police reputations by killing from four to eleven criminals each, were organized by orders of Russell. The squads are to carry the war into the enemy camps, ferreting criminals from their dens.

They were given no direct orders to kill criminals, Stege said, but because of their records in the department their selection was regarded as significant. Three of the squads will be on duty at a time and Stege said he will ask Sheriff John E. Traeger to deputize them so they can go out of the city into the criminal hideouts of the county whenever the trail leads them there.

Names the Squad Leaders.

"The commanders of the squads," said Stege, "are Lieut. Frank Reynolds, who has killed eleven criminals; Lieut. Al Booth, who has killed six; Lieut. Walter Storms, who has killed five; Lieut. William Cusack, who has killed four; Lieut. Pat O'Connell, who has killed five; and Lieut. Andy Barry, who has killed six.

"In addition Lieut. Edward Birmingham, who has been with the state's attorney until recently, will command a squad of men on foot who will spend most of their time in the loop, although they may go wherever they will. They are to visit every hotel, barber shop, cigar store, speakeasy or any place where hoodlums and criminals congregate.

Orders Cleanup in Loop.

"When they find undesirables frequenting any particular place the proprietor will also be arrested and charged with keeping a disorderly house. I know these men will clean out the loop and it is up to other squads and district police to keep the criminals running."

A meeting of the deputy commissioners of police was called for 7:30 o'clock last night, at which they planned action intended to clean up the city. Commissioner Russell said that if his orders and ideas are carried out as he thinks they will be the criminal element will be paying dearly for the murder of Lingle, of whom Russell said: "I was fonder of him than I could be of my own son."

Loesch Denies Ouster Demand.

Such was the answer of Russell and Stege to suggestions that they might or should resign if they cannot cope with the outlaw class of Chicago. Statements attributed to Frank J. Loesch, president of the Chicago crime commission and appointed by President Hoover to the national law enforcement commission, demanding the ouster or resignation of Russell and Stege, were denied by Mr. Loesch. A statement made by Mr. Loesch was as follows:

"I don't ask anybody to resign. I have no right to do that. What I say is merely this: If Russell and Stege can't find the solution to this crime they should give place to some one who can.

"This cruel, well planned, and atrocious murder of Lingle on a public

Airplanes Bear Millions to Aid Florida Banks

Miami, Fla., June 11.—(AP)—The Bank of Bay Biscayne, oldest financial institution of south Florida, and three subsidiaries in metropolitan Miami failed to open for business today. The subsidiaries are the Miami Beach Bank and Trust company, the Bank of Coral Gables, and the Biscayne Trust company.

Notices posted on the doors of the institution said the action had been taken by directors "for protection of depositors" and because of "recent substantial withdrawals."

A fifth banking house, the Bank of Homestead, closed after being open an hour, with the statement that it would reopen in a few days. Homestead is 30 miles south of Miami. Officials said the institution was closed as a precautionary measure.

Several Thousands Affected.

It was estimated that between 8,000 and 10,000 persons were affected by the closing of the Miami area banks.

The Bank of Bay Biscayne listed total resources of $17,182,292 and deposits of $15,037,198 as of March 27, 1930, in its last quarterly report. Capital stock was listed as $1,000,000 and surplus and profits at $1,145,093.

In a statement issued by the subsidiaries at the same time, the Biscayne Trust company was listed as having $1,520,041 deposits and $1,962,148 resources. The Miami Beach Bank and Trust company showed $2,349,943 deposits, and $2,539,281 resources. The Bank of Coral Gables listed deposits of $606,598.94 and resources of $743,759.

Cash Comes by Plane.

Heavy withdrawals were reported by other banks of the city, but the arrival of $2,000,000 in cash by airplane from the Jacksonville depository of the Federal Reserve bank this afternoon and the announcement by Gov. E. R. Black of the Federal Reserve bank in Atlanta, that a total of $6,000,000 in cash was en route here was expected by banks to allay fears of depositors before tomorrow.

President E. C. Romph of the First National bank said his institution had paid out approximately $500,000 to a large number of depositors today and that sufficient cash was available to meet all demands. The First National closed at its regular time.

Bank Stays Open Late.

The City National bank remained open after its regular closing hour to give depositors opportunity to withdraw their money if they chose. President Hugh Gordon Jr. said withdrawals had been approximately $350,000 and that funds were available for all depositors seeking them.

Other banks in the city and in the suburbs reported heavy withdrawals during the day. Creed Taylor, deputy governor of the Federal Reserve bank in this district, came here today by air from Tampa, and went into conference with officials of the bank of Bay Biscayne, a member of the Reserve System.

Arthur W. Saarinen of the state banking department, took charge of affairs of the closed banks.

12 Injured in Oil Fire in Texas; Loss $1,000,000

Port Arthur, Tex., June 11.—(AP)—Twelve men were severely burned and damage estimated at nearly $1,000,000 was caused by a fire which raged for several hours before being brought under control tonight at the plant of the Texas company oil refinery, just outside the city limits here.

Census Shows Gain of 672,048.

Official census figures by wards announced last night, reveal Chicago as the fourth city and the fastest growing metropolis in the world. Chicago's population is 3,373,753—which is 672,048 more residents than the city had in 1920. The cities larger than Chicago are London and New York and perhaps Berlin.

Fifteenth	124,687	Twenty-sixth	45,780
Eighteenth	84,016	Twenty-seven	43,753
Nineteenth	107,511	Twenty-ninth	73,312

The Figures by Wards.

The completed census figures by wards were made public during the evening by Joseph E. Vesely, chairman of the census supervisory committee. These figures, together with the ward figures contained in an estimate made when the wards were mapped in 1921, follow:

Ward.	1930.	1921.	Ward.	1930.	1921.

Announcement of the growth in Chicago's population at a luncheon given by the Association of Commerce was a signal for a city-wide celebration in observance of Census day. News of the unprecedented growth, which exceeded even the most liberal estimates of the city's size, was flashed from the luncheon room in the La Salle hotel to all parts of the city, where school children and business men were gathered to hail the final score of the census takers.

City Stages Celebration.

Flags flew from loop buildings, factory whistles blasted, schoolrooms echoed with songs, and meeting places throughout the city reverberated the cheers of neighborhood groups which applauded speakers who extolled in glowing superlatives Chicago's remarkable advancement. Along La Salle street office workers dumped ticker tape into the street and the streamers, caught in wires and poles below, fluttered in the wind throughout the rest of the afternoon. Other loop streets were strewn with paper tossed from skyscraper windows.

Col. Robert Isham Randolph, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, calling the attention of the noon gathering to the significance of the census figures, declared that the accelerated rate of development is heading Chicago toward first place among the world cities.

"New York Is Slipping."

Col. Randolph declared that Chicago's 24.87 per cent increase in population in ten years is an unprecedented growth for a great city—far more spectacular, he said, than New York's increase of 531,000 since 1920.

"New York," he observed, "is slipping."

Census statistics, he said, show that in practically all the great metropolises large growth in the number of residents has been accompanied by a decrease in the rate of increase, yet Chicago's gain in the last ten years has shown an increase in this rate. The percentage gain for the 1910-20 period was 23.63. The addition of ten square miles of territory within the last ten years may account in a measure for the increase in the rate of increase, it was stated.

In thirty years, the speaker said, Chicago has almost doubled its population. Following is a table showing the population figures over the last 70 years:

1870	298,977	1910	2,185,283
1880	503,298	1920	2,701,705
1890	1,099,850	1930	3,373,753

The largest Chicago ward was the Thirty-ninth with a population of 150,886. The smallest was the First, the loop ward, with a population of

CONSUL DEMANDS AN APOLOGY FOR EVANSTON ARREST

George Depasta, 6805 Sheridan road, consul general of Greece in Chicago, was arrested last night for driving his automobile past a stop sign at Main street and Dodge avenue, Evanston.

Policeman Henry Anderson took him into custody and refused to listen to his assertions that he was immune from the law in Evanston or elsewhere—at least so far as traffic violations go. Depasta had a courtesy card issued by Commissioner William F. Russell of Chicago.

Desk Sergeant Bert Kinder was impressed, however, and upon the advice of Chief William Freeman released Mr. Depasto. Even that did not satisfy Mr. Depasto.

"I demand an apology for this offense from Chief Freeman," he said. "I can't be arrested in this town for anything less than a felony, and you know it. Three years ago I was arrested here for speeding, and the next day the chief had to issue a formal apology."

Chief Freeman couldn't be reached for comment.

SCHOOL GROUP APPROVES NEW AIRPORT LEASE

The buildings and ground committee of the school board yesterday approved the terms of a new lease of a school tract in Clearing for the expansion of the municipal airport.

Final passage by the board, which convened after the committee meeting, was forestalled by Mrs. Helen Hefferan, who said she hadn't time to read the new lease carefully. A special meeting of the board will be held Monday at which it is expected that the measure will pass. The matter has been negotiated for two years.

A new clause in the lease provides that the schools shall receive 10 per cent of the gross income of the airport instead of 50 per cent of the net profits, which was previously proposed. The proposed lease is for 50 years with a clause permitting cancellation at the end of twenty years. At the end of this period the rental will be increased.

JAPAN VOLCANO RAINS ASHES IN 30 MILE RADIUS

TOKIO, June 11.—(AP)—Violently erupting today, the volcano Asama, 90 miles northwest of this city, hurled hot stones and ashes upon surrounding villages. The damage was believed to be considerable. Rivers of lava flowed down the steep slopes of the 8,260 foot mountain, causing a forest fire that raged all day. Three mountain climbers were severely burned. With others, they were rescued by searching parties.

Through the black smoke that enveloped the mountain, flashes of the flames of the eruption and the forest fire were seen. Ashes fell upon Takasaki and other towns 30 miles from the volcano.

Great Britain's Ambassador Stocks Cellar

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 11.—[Special.]—The British embassy in Washington stocked up its cellar today for the first time since Sir Esme Howard, the former ambassador, banned the importation of liquor a year ago. A truck load of assorted liquors was delivered for the sixteen diplomats on the British staff.

The whisky and other alcoholic beverages arrived at the back entrance of the new million dollar British embassy on Massachusetts avenue this afternoon from Baltimore. This was the first liquor shipment to be placed in the burglar proof wine and silver vaults of the structure.

Unloaded at Baltimore.

The liquor had been unloaded earlier in the day at Baltimore from the British freighter Manchester Exporter, and brought here on a truck that was convoyed by an automobile load of Washington police. The shipment included whiskies, brandies, champagnes, and other wines, and liquers.

Sir Ronald Lindsay, the present British ambassador, indicated on his arrival in Washington last spring that he would not keep the embassy on a dry basis. A few weeks ago the ambassador ordered fresh supplies from England. Arrangements were made with the state department yesterday for safe entry of the whisky. Other shipments are expected within the near future.

Diplomats Breathe Easier.

The news was received joyfully by the diplomatic colony.

Consternation spread through the ranks of the diplomats last year when Ambassador Howard, as dean of the corps, announced he would make no further liquor importations. In many quarters it was feared that if the British embassy remained dry, the aridity might spread to other embassies.

Cheat Argentine Bank Out of Million by Check Raising

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

BUENOS AIRES, June 11. — The local police are seeking a gang who have swindled the Bank of the Nation out of sums which are expected to reach a total of more than $1,000,000 by filing unimportant civil actions in the courts from which they obtained checks signed by the judge for insignificant sums, which were then raised to enable them to collect large amounts from juridical deposits made for more important cases.

A few drops of ammonia which she had swallowed while playing about in the kitchen yesterday caused the death of Martha Meserva, 2½ years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Meserve, 348 Franklin avenue, Maywood.

PRICES OF STOCKS ARE DRIVEN DOWN BY BEAR RAIDERS

New York, June 11.—[Special.]—Professional bear dealers returned to the attack on the stock market today and succeeded in bringing about the sharpest break of the year. On the face of the closing figures, fifty representative issues of the list showed an average loss of more than $7 a share. On twenty-five representative industrials, the loss was even greater, amounting to $12.33 a share—the heaviest since Dec. 12, last.

Defenses of the financial interests who rallied to the support of the market on Tuesday were battered down in the early trading. In the last hour constructive forces made a stand and succeeded in recovering some of the ground lost.

The new selling storm was accompanied by a crop of rumors evidently put out from the bear camp. One of these had it that a big banking house was in distress. The reports were denied almost as fast as they would crop out, but they had a destructive effect.

The day's sales amounted to 4,777,390 shares.

FINDS NAVIES GET BIGGER DESPITE KELLOGG TREATY

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

GENEVA, June 11.—In 1929, when the Kellogg peace pact became effective, the world launched 50 per cent more cruisers than in 1913 and had three times more building than in the year before the war. Italy, which had no cruiser building in 1913, not only led the world in this respect in 1929, but, with 71,000 tons under construction, was building more than the total of 68,300 tons the whole world was building in 1913. Japan stood second in 1929, with 40,000 tons building; the United States third, with 20,000 tons; Spain fourth, with 20,000 tons, and France fifth, with 10,000 tons.

Submarines formed one per cent of the world fleet tonnage in 1913; 3 per cent when the war ended, and 6 per cent when the Kellogg treaty went into force. The world's total naval tonnage, which in 1913 was 6,891,000 tons, stood at 5,812,000 tons in 1929, the difference being due to the sinking of the German fleet and the limitation of battleships in 1922. The figure for 1929, however, marked an increase of 21,000 tons over 1928.

When the census enumerators complete the count for the 174 suburban centers the figures are expected to show a population of close to 5,000,000 for the metropolitan district, according to the six district census supervisors whose report was made yesterday.

Cites Business Increase.

"Chicago's rise during the last decade has meant an increase of more than three billion dollars a year to the business of the city, to say nothing of its contributions to our tangible evidences of progress," said Col. Randolph. "A comprehensive review of the city's growth since 1920 proves that to take care of hundreds of thousands who have swelled our ranks we have had to boost our manufacturing output by more than one and a half billion dollars annually, our retail activities by almost 700 million dollars and our wholesaling by over a billion dollars.

"To take care of our 672,043 additional citizens, we have had to add to our retail establishments 322 bakeries, 346 drug stores, 408 dry goods stores, 3,343 groceries, meat markets and food shops, 143 furniture stores, and 469 hardware stores.

"In ten years our number of families has been increased by 141,350, our manufacturing establishments have grown by 2,000, employing 120,000 additional wage earners with an annual collective earning power of $200,000,000, and an annual composite bank savings deposits said to exceed $320,000,000. Chicago's building volume for the first nine years of the last decade amounted to $2,565,000,000, a three fold increase over the previous decade. Our stock exchange volume has increased over 600 per cent since 1920. Chicago savings deposits have likewise increased from $351,238,896 to $850,000,000.

Center of Distribution.

"It is no wonder that Chicago is the nation's center of distribution when its own consumptive requirements exceed that of any other city in the world. Chicago is the hub of 22 per cent of the nation's agricultural production."

Ralph E. Heilman, chairman of the ways and means committee of the association, who presided at the meeting, declared that through its growth Chicago threatens to pass Berlin, the third largest city in the world. Floyd Bateman, president of the Chicago Rotary club, also extolled Chicago's growth.

The census figures indicated that Chicago's population may now equal or exceed the present downstate population. The 1930 total exceeds the 1920 total of all Illinois outside Cook county, which then had 3,432,262. Preliminary returns for the present census indicate a relatively small advance for Illinois outside the metropolitan area.

Suburbs in Huge Gains.

Then, too, these reports indicate that many of Chicago's suburbs have doubled or trebled in size. The metropolitan area includes Cook, Lake, Du Page, Kane and Will counties in Illinois and Lake county in Indiana.

Final returns for Du Page county made public yesterday showed a total population of 85,388. The number of unemployed amount to 2,200. In Aurora 1,316 residents were out of work. Following are the unemployment figures for several of the larger towns in the county: West Chicago, 98; Winfield, 18; Villa Park, 176; Wheaton, 143; Hinsdale, 86; Glen Elyn, 180; Lombard, 271; Naperville, 130; Westmont, 95; Roselle, 6; Clarendon Hills, 20; Downers Grove, 275; Elmhurst, 259; Itasca, 2, and Bloomingdale, 8.

TOLEDO IS GAINING IN ITS POPULATION; TOTAL NOW 290,787

Figures issued by census enumerators at Toledo yesterday, in conjunction with the Associated Press, showed a healthy gain in population of the Ohio city. The total figure is 290,787, a gain of 47,623 or 19.5 per cent.

Other figures issued yesterday showed Anderson, Ind., has a population of 39,753, an increase of 10,021 or 34 per cent.

Wyoming Is Gaining.

Thermopolis, Wyo., June 11.—(AP)—Wyoming's population, exclusive of Hot Springs county in which the census work has not been finished, is 214,619, representing a gain of 20,217 over the 1920 population of 194,402, tabulations of the census bureau here show.

Manhattan Borough Loses.

New York, June 11.—[Special.]—With the announcement of the figures for the last unreported districts in Manhattan, the final count in the borough census showed today that the population of New York county has dropped 18 per cent since the last federal enumeration. The complete figures credit Manhattan with a present population of 1,856,528 as against 2,284,103 in 1920. It is the only one of the five boroughs of the city to show a decline. The latest figures on the city as a whole listed as "possible," 6,601,292 as against 5,620,048 in 1920, a gain of 981,244.

TWO ARE KILLED BY PLANE FALL IN WISCONSIN

Marine Officer Victim of Accident.

Fond du Lac., Wis., June 11.—[Special.]—Harry Baldwin, 27, of Monroe, and Edwin Bruso, 25, of Appleton, married and the father of three children, were killed this afternoon when their plane crashed in a marsh between Princeton and Berlin, northwest of Green lake.

The plane was imbedded in mud several feet deep and had to be dug out before the bodies could be removed. Bruso's body was in the pilot's seat.

Marine Aviator Killed.

Washington, D. C., June 11.—[Special.]—Second Lieut. Guy De Witt Chappell, United States Marine corps, was killed today when his plane crashed at the marine corps flying field at Quantico, Va.

Lieut. Chappell was practicing fighting tactics in a standard marine corps fighting machine, an F-73-1 Curtiss land plane, powered by a Pratt and Whitney 450 horsepower motor, when the crash occurred. The navy department expressed the belief that structural failures occurred.

One Killed; Two Injured.

Billings, Mont., June 11.—(AP)—An airplane engine that faltered as the ship took off cost the life of one man here today and injured two. A. D. Minamyer, 36, Billings oil man, was killed when thrown from the plane as it hurtled over a cliff at the edge of the flying field. Maj. J. Carroll Cone, vice president of the American Eagle Aircraft corporation of Kansas City, the pilot, and O. E. Lee, Billings financier, were carried down with the plane in its 80 foot drop and only slightly injured.

HOOVER BOARD IS DIVIDED ON DRY LAW WORK

1 Group Would Appraise Prohibition Regime.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 11.—[Special.]—Members of President Hoover's law enforcement commission, although they have been functioning for more than a year, have not agreed whether they have authority to investigate the wisdom or unwisdom of the 18th amendment.

The fact that the commission is divided upon the question of what it can and cannot do with regard to its dry law activities was disclosed today when the testimony of Chairman George W. Wickersham before the house appropriations subcommittee on May 27 was made public. Mr. Wickersham admitted that some members of the group, not including himself, think the commission ought to study the merits and demerits of prohibition as a public policy.

Demurs at Pledge.

Pressed by Representative L. C. Cramton [Rep., Mich.] for a pledge that the commission will consider the theory of prohibition none of its business and confine itself to enforcement methods, however, Mr. Wickersham demurred, stating he was "unwilling to say now what opinion the commission would reach when we get through."

Mr. Wickersham was called before the subcommittee to justify the request for a $250,000 appropriation in the second deficiency bill to pay the commission's expenses for another year beginning July 1.

Question Brought to Head.

Mr. Wickersham's statements to the subcommittee brought to a direct focus the controversy which has raged between wets and drys since President Hoover, during his campaign and in his inaugural address, promised to name a commission to make "a searching investigation of the whole structure of our federal system of jurisprudence, to include the method of enforcement of the 18th amendment and the causes of abuse under it." Many wets saw in the President's words hope for a verdict from an impartial body upon the success or failule of prohibition after ten years' trial, while the drys have insisted that he excepted prohibition and referred only to ways and means of enforcing it.

Although the commission's recommendations so far have dealt strictly with prohibition enforcement, Mr. Wickersham made it clear that the commission itself still is officially at sea on the question of how far it shall go.

Cramton Opposes Plan.

At the outset of the subcommittee hearing Representative Cramton insisted upon a declaration upon the point by Mr. Wickersham. Cramton declared that there has been an attempt to "divert the commission" and to "cause it to take up the study of the problem of prohibition—that is, as to the wisdom of the policy of national prohibition." He added that he was "not in favor of congress appropriating a penny to determine whether an amendment adopted by the people of the United States is a wise amendment."

Recalling his testimony before the senate judiciary committee a few weeks ago, Mr. Wickersham replied that he stated then that "we did not conceive it to be our duty to go behind the 18th amendment; that we took that amendment as a part of the constitution like every other part of the constitution and that the question was how best we can enforce it."

BANK IN CHEBOYGAN IS $308,000 SHORT; OFFICER A SUICIDE

Cheboygan, Mich., June 11.—(AP)—The First National bank of Cheboygan closed its doors today with announcement of a $308,000 shortage in its savings department, the manager of which, Clyde Milliken, 44, committed suicide Monday night.

The bank was closed and placed in the hands of Henry F. Quinn, examiner, on orders of the board of directors, who issued a statement predicting all depositors will be paid in full.

The savings department of the bank was unusually large for an institution of its size, the last statement reporting deposits at $866,860, compared to $230,100 subject to checks. The shortage was said to have resulted from peculations covering a period of several years.

GREEN URGES O. K. ON WAGNER BILLS TO AID JOBLESS

Washington, D. C., June 11.—(AP)—Placing the total of the nation's unemployed at 3,609,000 last month, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, told the house judiciary committee today he thought it "inconceivable" that congress adjourn without a "gesture" for relief.

Green appeared before the committee to give his "unqualified support" to the two Wagner bills to provide for establishment of a national employment system and the advance planning of public works.

"Unemployment still remains at as high a level as last January—20 per cent—only 2 per cent less than the peak," Green said. "Progress in employment is highly unsatisfactory."

Miss Frances Perkins of Albany, N. Y., head of the New York state industrial department, urged approval of the bills, and on the floor of the house Representative Sirovich [Dem., N. Y.] demanded that something be done to prevent poverty and crime promoted by widespread unemployment."

De Valera to Start Paper with Cash Raised in U. S.

DUBLIN, June 11. — Having obtained sufficient funds in America, Eamon de Valera said today he intended to start immediately the establishment of an Irish republican newspaper in Dublin.

FRENCH TROOPS EVACUATE KEHL; GERMANS SILENT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

STRASSBURG, June 11.—Evacuation of the Kehl bridgehead crossing the Rhine, opposite Strassburg, began today when the first battalion of the 166th regiment of infantry marched out.

The French troops paraded across the international bridge with flags flying and a band playing. The German civilian population watched the withdrawal silently. There were neither cheers nor jeers.

The fine new equipment of the French troops excited comment. The motorized machine gun sections, with big, black, glistening weapons and huge reserve cartridge belts, were particularly impressive.

CANNON TO GO UNPUNISHED FOR DEFYING SENATE

Probers Drop Him After Final Quiz.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 11.—[Special.]—The senate lobby committee after a final interrogation of Bishop James Cannon Jr. decided late this afternoon not to compel the southern Methodist dry leader to tell how he spent $65,300 intrusted to him for use in the 1928 presidential campaign by E. C. Jameson, New York insurance man.

The decision was the result of informal conferences between the committee members this afternoon following a dramatic session earlier in the day when the bishop, who bolted a hearing last week after challenging the investigators to bring him back under subpoena, reappeared as a voluntary witness.

Telling the senators that he meant no discourtesy nor contempt for either the senate or the committee last week, he again flatly and repeatedly refused to disclose anything of his political and financial activities in the anti-Smith fight.

Committee to Drop Matter.

While none of the committee would discuss the decision in advance of its formal announcement tomorrow morning, it was privately admitted that the members were unanimous that it would be fruitless to attempt to punish the bishop for an alleged contempt committed before less than a quorum of the committee or to seek additional authority from the senate to pursue the inquiry and perhaps force Cannon to testify.

Having offered him an opportunity to publicly meet and deny the charges which have been whispered about his conduct of the anti-Smith campaign in southern states ever since 1928, it was agreed that the better procedure would be to drop the inquiry, leaving Cannon to explain away as best he can the mystery which surrounds the Jameson transaction.

Woman Interrupts

At the tensest moment of the lobby committee session, with Cannon refusing to answer questions being put to him by Senator J. J. Blaine [Rep., Wis.], the hearing was thrown into confusion by a smartly dressed woman who pushed through the crowd to Cannon's side and screamed at the senators:

"This is a Romanist holdup in free, Protestant America, and I protest."

While Caraway rapped vainly for order and spectators hissed and applauded, the woman, who later identified herself as Mrs. Royall Shelton Waldron of Richmond, Va., and claimed to be a descendant of Patrick Henry, was seized by a capitol policeman and hustled out of the room.

A few minutes before the crowd was treated to another thrill when Senator W. E. Borah [Rep., Idaho], one of the senate dry leaders, took the bishop to task for walking out of the committee room last week. Once sworn to testify, a voluntary witness is as subject to the jurisdiction of the committee as a voluntary witness sworn in a court proceeding is subject to control of the court until dismissed, Borah reminded Cannon.

Cannon Taken Aback.

"I did not so understand it, sir," asserted Cannon, taken aback at the implied rebuff from Borah.

"Well, bishop, do you understand that now?" asked Blaine, sharply.

"I have the opinion——" began Cannon, "the statement of Senator Borah that that is true."

"And I think about that there will be no difference in the judgment of the committee," Caraway warned him.

Again the hearing was enlivened as a spirited defense of the bishop by Senator Robinson boomeranged back upon the latter. Irked by Robinson's frequent interruptions that the committee had no right to probe Cannon's use of a fund ostensibly given him for political purposes, Senator Walsh read extensive excerpts from the committee's record recalling how the Indiana senator, a dry and a Methodist, had mercilessly grilled other witnesses who, too, protested against an investigation of their political activities or the publication of their personal correspondence.

Robinson Grows Angry.

Purple with anger and embarrassment, Robinson slumped down in his chair as Walsh read the record of the former's cross-examination of H. H. Curran, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, and the similar treatment accorded by Robinson to Herman Metz, New York dye importer, who was revealed as a contributor to the campaign funds of Senator W. H. King [Dem., Utah].

Thumping the table with his fist, Robinson insisted that in the case of the wet organization he was investigating it rather than Curran, and that his examination of Metz was based on reports that the campaign contributions were an effort to purchase influence.

After Cannon had refused half a dozen times to throw any light on the disposition of the $65,300 Jameson fund, Walsh, for the record, reviewed the evidence that notwithstanding the fact that the money was given early in the fall of 1928, no mention of its receipt was made in any of the periodical reports filed by the so-called headquarters committee, anti-Smith Democrats, under the federal corrupt practices act, until Feb. 12, 1929, and that then only $17,000 was listed as coming from Jameson. Likewise Walsh pointed out that none of Cannon's reports ever showed the receipt of a $5,000 contribution toward the campaign from the board of temperance, prohibition and public morals of the Northern Methodist church.

"Now, bishop," asked Walsh, "do you care to make any statement of why these items were not reported in the several reports?"

Robinson interrupted to ask: "What has this to do with a lobby investigation" and Walsh retorted, "I'm not asking the bishop a question. I'm giving him an opportunity to explain."

"If he does not care to make a statement I do not care to pursue the inquiry at this time."

A few minutes later Blaine read Cannon's letter to Jameson intimating that the latter's contribution actually may have originated with C. Bascom Slemp, Republican national committeeman for Virginia, and again Cannon declined to say how much Slemp gave or whether any record was ever kept of Slemp's or any other contributions to the anti-Smith campaign.

SIXTY AIRPLANES FLY IN REVIEW BEFORE GENERAL

A squadron of sixty airplanes passed in review yesterday before Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, commander of the Sixth corps area, at Mt. Clemens, Mich., in preparation for the Air Defense of Chicago show to be given at Soldiers' field June 21 to 29. Flying formations and stunts were part of the demonstration.

After passing in review, the squadron reformed and passed the reviewing stand again, this time in honor of Sergt. Patrick Foy, retiring master sergeant of the Seventeenth pursuit squadron, who has served in the army for forty years. Maj. Gen. Parker and his aides stepped back to give the retiring sergeant full command of the stand for his review.

BOY, 3, KILLED BY TRUCK WHILE HE IS AT PLAY

Three year old Robert Jurgenson, 6330 Eggleston avenue, was killed last night when he was struck by a truck while he was playing in an alley near his home. The driver, Thomas Murray, 508 West 45th place, was held.

The boy's death and three others raised the 1930 Cook county motor toll to 388. The other victims:

William Garrity, 40 years old, 334 South Kostner avenue. Fatally injured when the taxicab in which he was riding collided with an automobile at Independence boulevard and Harrison street. Richard Gamble, 3049 Fullerton avenue, driver of the cab, and Soloman Davis, 1802 South Hamlin avenue, driver of the auto, were injured.

Mary Lewandowski, 8 years old, 3254 North Lawndale avenue. Struck by an automobile driven by Mrs. Anna Kosmick, 5776 Lawrence avenue, last night at Belmont and Lawndale avenues. She died early this morning in the Belmont hospital. Mrs. Kosmick was not held.

Thomas Sejud, 22 years old, 1700 Cullerton street, died in the county hospital of injuries received in an auto collision May 16.

Ross Batty, 38 years old, 3148 Warren avenue, driver of an armored Brink's Express company truck, was seriously hurt and two guards escaped with minor injuries last night when the truck was overturned in a collision with a sedan at Ogden and Maple avenues in Brookneld. Silver amounting to $300 which the Brink's crew had collected in its rounds of west suburban theaters was scattered on the highway by the crash.

Batty was taken to the Hinsdale sanitarium. The two guards, J. Adams, 35 years old, 6468 West De Soto avenue, and T. E. Darap, were cut and bruised. Reuben Levinsky, 2993 Milwaukee avenue, driver of the sedan, and three women riding with him escaped injury. Witnesses said Levinsky was speeding and drove past a red traffic light.

Wolfe Flies to Inspect Detroit Filtering Plant

Commissioner of Public Works Wolfe, with several of his department heads and a delegation of business men, flew to Detroit yesterday to study that city's filtration plant to obtain ideas for Wolfe's water purification project. Wolfe has announced he will ask the city council to place the filtration project on the ballot in the November election to determine whether a $60,000,000 filtration plant shall be bonded.

NO DICTATORSHIP RULE IN RUMANIA, CAROL DECLARES

New Monarch Outlines His Policies.

BY WILLIAM SHIRER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUCHAREST, June 11.—I had an audience with King Carol today, and under different circumstances than the last time he received me.

Two years ago he stood in the salon of the country house of Barbu Jonescu, a wealthy Rumanian, in the Surrey countryside, 40 miles from London, and discussed his ill fated plans to return to Rumania from England by plane. His project failed then, but he discussed what he would have done had he returned and became king.

Looks Ten Years Older.

At that last interview he was attired in white tennis clothes. Today he was in white, but this time the immaculate white of an admiral in the navy. He looked ten years older, instead of two, and much more serious and more earnest. He has not slept many hours since he swooped down on Bucharest Friday night, but he looked well.

He received me in the old Renaissance library of the royal palace, where his granduncle, Carol I., spent much of his time among his books.

He answered questions freely, speaking part of the time in French and part in English, both of which he speaks perfectly without accent.

He reiterated that his first task is to help work out a solution of his country's economic difficulties, and his second to reorganize the army. He gave his opinions on the problems of the minorities and especially of the 1,500,000 Hungarians living in Transylvania. He vigorously denied that he had any idea of establishing a dictatorship based on the military.

Will Work Constitutionally.

"Will you continue to work constitutionally through parliament?" he was asked.

"Certainly. A sovereign must work constitutionally and any reports of a dictatorship are false," he answered.

"What about the persecution of the Jews?"

"Anybody who knows Rumanians knows we are the most tolerant people in the Balkans. There is no question of Jewish persecution here."

"And minorities?"

"I am for adequate protection of the minorities and all of their rights, and in this connection I hope our relations with Hungary, which is the most involved minority question, will constantly improve in the future."

Plotted Return Himself.

"Who was mainly responsible for your return?"

"I myself decided on my return. Therefore I am responsible. My brother helped me infinitely and I will be always grateful for his aid. He was my closest collaborator."

"How do you feel toward your son, Michael?"

"The greatest joy of my return was to see my son again."

Former Premier Juliu Maniu, leader of the National Peasants' party, was asked by King Carol tonight to form a new government. After a two and a half hour meeting the executive committee of the Peasants' party declined to participate in the formation of the new cabinet. Maniu informed the king that he was forced to decline the task. It is reported King Carol had demanded that the finance portfolio should be given to Manolescu, former undersecretary. This was refused by the executive committee. Maniu recommended that the king request another member of the Peasant party to form a cabinet, or entrust the task to Gen. Presan, who is affiliated with no party.

Marie Passes Through Vienna.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, June 11. — Queen Marie passed through Vienna this evening en route to Bucharest from Oberammergau.

"I am returning a day earlier than I expected," said Marie, "because I want to join my son and be of service to him in the great and heavy task before him. I know the whole family will unite around King Carol and I hope to have the great joy of seeing Princess Helene at his side as queen.

Carol's Bitter Enemy Quits.

BUCHAREST, June 11.—(AP)—Prince Babu Stirbey, long a friend of Queen Mother Marie and long bitterly opposed to her elder son, startled the business world by resigning the presidency of Rumania's greatest industrial works at Resiza. This company manufactures railway locomotives, coaches, and airplanes, and is a powerful industrial factor in the little Balkan kingdom.

Prince Stirbey's friendship with Queen Marie was said to have been one of the greatest factors in Carol going into exile four years ago.

General opinion today was that the prince no longer was willing—or able—to head the company now that his foe is in power, although there were some hints he had resigned because the stockholders considered the firm had been mismanaged.

Since he was proclaimed king Sunday Carol has swept out a number of army officers, government officials, and others whom he considers unfriendly.

Helene Thinks He's "Handsome."

An incident of Sunday evening, made known only today, would indicate that Princess Helene might not regard so unfavorably resumption of her life with King Carol. On conclusion of his visit to her sister on Sunday evening Helene, according to a high court official, unexpectedly encountered Carol at the head of a flight of stairs. The briefest of greetings were exchanged, and the king was gone. Princess Helene stood as if rooted to the spot, and, heaving a sigh, unburdened her feelings to one of her ladies in waiting in the sentence:

"Ah, but he is grown so handsome!"

WIVES BATTLE AT DRY RAID; DEPUTY KILLED; SLAYER SURRENDERS

Hobart, Okla., June 11.—(AP)—While their wives engaged in a fight, a Kiowa county deputy sheriff and the operator of a filling station being raided for liquor shot it out at Roosevelt, Okla. W. H. Humble, the deputy, is dead from gunshot wounds and Sam Allen, the filling station man, is under guard in the county jail.

Wives of both men are in a Hobart hospital being treated for injuries inflicted in their encounter.

Humble, accompanied by his wife, went to Roosevelt to raid the filling station last night. The argument started when Humble explained his mission. Allen is said to have fired three shots which resulted in Humble's death about two hours later.

Allen escaped, pursued by a posse of 100 men which went from Hobart, taking bloodhounds from the Granite reformatory. He surrendered later to county officers.

BROOKHART ACTS TO BLOCK VOTE ON MAC NIDER

Washington, D. C., June 11.—(AP)—Opposition which may prevent a vote being taken at this session upon the nomination of Hanford MacNider of Iowa as minister to Canada was announced today by Senator Brookhart [Rep., Ia.].

Brookhart wrote the senate foreign relations committee that the Iowa Republican leader was "personally offensive" to him. The committee put the nomination before the senate today "without recommendation."

Senator Steck [Dem., Ia.] immediately gave notice he would support MacNider.

With congressional leaders planning an adournment by the end of next week, little hope was held out tonight that a vote could be taken on MacNider before then. All nominations die with adjournment, but President Hoover could make a recess appointment.

Senate O.K.s Bill Providing 2 More Judges for Illinois

Washington, D. C., June 11.—(AP)—The Deneen bill providing for two additional judges for the Northern District of Illinois was passed today by the senate and sent to the house.

PICKED POLICE TURNED LOOSE ON GANG KILLERS

Six Special Squads Get Orders to Clean Up.

thoroughfare, almost in the presence of scores of persons, has awakened a feeling of horror amongst the people which cannot be adequately expressed in words.

"Every man feels as a result of it that, given the occasion, his life may be taken without his being aware of the danger which is following him and without hope that there will be any retribution for the murder. We have no parallel to the present situation nearer than the middle ages in Germany, when the leaders met it by organizing a secret tribunal, the dread 'Vehmgerichte,' which executed the heads of the robber bands.

"The situation here which led to the Lingle murder is due partly to a lack of modern scientific methods in following hoodlums, for there have been practically no arrests for all the murders that have been committed for years, nor a single conviction. I do, however, have a high regard for the work in ballistics being done by Lieut. Col. Calvin Goddard.

Blames the Politicians.

"I do not hold the police alone responsible for this thing. My contention is that the vice of the whole situation is control of the police force by the politicians. Until that strangle hold on the force is released, we can look for no worthwhile improvement of present conditions.

"I advocate a recasting of the police force and the firing of numerous incompetent and corrupt men to make way for honest and capable men of better education and qualifications. That means better pay for the officers and patrolmen, which, however, may not amount to much more than the present policy if the same modern efficiency method of management of a force be applied as it is in great industrial operations.

Higher Pay for Police Urged.

"Patrolmen should receive no less than $3,600 a year with an increasing scale along the line to place captains at $12,000.

"The sort of prosecution which gangsters have had in this community for years emboldens them to commit such murders as Lingle's because escape was certain.

"For the last eleven years, to the beginning of 1930, the average number of gang murders in Chicago has been almost one a week, and in this year, so far, they have almost reached two a week. The murder rate has grown by what it has fed upon—immunity and apparent protection by some sinister force that rules this community."

Mr. Loesch's statement was the aftermath of criticism directed against Russell and Stege last week because of the transfer of two detectives from the pickpocket detail to general duty.

Stege Cites Bureau Record.

"It is up to Commissioner Russell whether I step out of the bureau," Stege declared. "When I came back to the police department Commissioner Russell asked me to take charge of the detective bureau, saying he had full confidence I would devote my best efforts to clean up crime. And I have put forth my best efforts. I have no apologies to make.

"The record speaks for itself. There is less robbery and burglary than formerly. However, there have been a few more gang murders, a number of which occurred outside the city limits. The Chicago police have tried to solve these.

"The murder of Lingle is the first outside the gangster class. Since the first of the year the police have killed nineteen men who were committing crimes. Citizens killed six other criminals in the act of crime.

"The detective bureau and its 900 men have given a good account of themselves. With few exceptions all the gangsters arrested in the last few years have been taken by detective bureau squads. We're going to keep up as we have always done. We are handicapped because Illinois has no vagrancy laws and we are required to have a search warrant in order to convict a man we stop and search and who is carrying a concealed weapon."

Lawyer Surrenders Hunt.

Commissioner Russell, Coroner Bundesen, and Prosecutor Swanson declined to reveal what progress is being made in the solution of the Lingle murder. Sam Hunt, Capone gangster, whose picture was said by witnesses to resemble the slayer of Lingle, was surrendered to the police by Attorney John H. Johntry, former alderman, along with some of Hunt's associates.

"The police have nothing on Hunt, who certainly did not kill Lingle," Attorney Johntry said. "I thought it best to surrender him and have him exonerated by witnesses. There is nothing against my client except that little affair up north."

The "little affair up north" was the arrest of Hunt, who several days ago was pulled off the running board of a moving automobile to which he ran from the scene of a shooting. He had dropped a golf bag containing a shotgun and a revolver was tucked beneath his belt. He denied knowledge of any shooting and the identity of the wounded man, who disappeared, has not been learned.

What happened yesterday regarding Hunt the police did not inform newspaper men—in conformity with the policy adopted regarding the Lingle murder. As far as was known he was still in custody late last night.

Stege received word from New York of the arrest of seven Chicagoans, presumed to be gangsters. The names wired here were the following:

Find Guns in Traveling Bags.

Gusick was said by the police to be the right hand man of Alphonse Capone and the brother of Harry Gusick, often arrested in Chicago. Vogel is said to be the brother of "Big George" Vogel, beer runner. Cooney was a café proprietor and levee character, the police said. The seven men had twenty-four new traveling bags, some of which contained revolvers, according to the message of the Brooklyn police, who were holding them as possible suspects in the Lingle murder. The prisoners said they were on the way to the Sharkey-Schmeling fight.

The eastern police are on guard for the exodus of gangsters from Chicago, Stege said, and more arrests are expected along the Atlantic seaboard.

In early raids last night the police seized Nick Kramer, 35 years old, 4940 South Hermitage avenue, formerly a beer collector for the Saltis syndicate, and James Joyce, 5602 South Ashland avenue, 30 years old, a partner of the late Dingbat Oberta in the floral business. They were taken from a speakeasy owned by John Kuchinski at 510h street and Hermitage avenue.

3 Gunmen Holdup Clerk of Garfield Arms Hotel

Three gunmen walked into the Garfield Arms hotel at 3260 Maypole avenue early this morning and held up the manager, Thomas Lawlor, who was alone in the office. The robbers compelled Lawlor to open the safe, from which they took $450. Then they walked out.

SLAYING SEEN AS CHALLENGE TO WHOLE PRESS

Comment Pours In on the Lingle Killing.

The Associated Press last night carried the following comment on the Lingle murder by Fred Fuller Shedd, editor of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, and president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors:

"The American Society of Newspaper Editors as a body and each individual member are concerned in the detection and prosecution of the murderer of Alfred Lingle of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

"If the gangsters of Chicago have been so foolhardy as to attempt to intimidate a newspaper in its proper service of public interest, it is our duty and that of the entire newspaper profession, to accept and answer the challenge side by side with THE TRIBUNE.

"If Lingle was murdered because he, as a reporter, was in possession of such knowledge that his life was forfeited for the protection of the gang, it is none the less the cause of every newspaper and every newspaper organization in the country to demonstrate to gangdom, that the public's right to honest, fearless newspaper service is not going to be denied."

Editorial expressions in newspapers and personal comment by citizens in all parts of the nation yesterday continued to offer sympathy with Chicago's war against gang killers. Some of the editorial statements follow:

San Francisco Chronicle—"The murder of James King William was the signal for the vigilante clean-up in San Francisco. The murder of Alfred Lingle may be the turning point where the decent elements in Chicago will turn upon gangland.

"In both instances the victim was a newspaper man, but that is a coincidence arising from the fact that a newspaper man is quite likely to come into conflict with vicious interests. What is significant is that the murder of Lingle, as the murder of James King William, is the crossing of the borderland that separates gangsters from the rest of the community.

"The murder of one of decent society's outposts is warning that gangland has crossed the borderline and that every man, woman and child in the community is in immediate peril. It is then that society is aroused to defend itself."

Detroit Free Press.—"The CHICAGO TRIBUNE has put up many a fight for law, order and good government in its home town, but the one it is now undertaking is, perhaps, the most desperate struggle of its strenuous history. Properly interpreting the cold blooded murder of its police reporter, Alfred J. Lingle, as a reprisal and attempt at intimidation by a harassed gangland, THE TRIBUNE accepts the challenge and says: 'It is war. There will be casualties, but that is to be expected, it being war.'

"Naturally THE TRIBUNE commands the hearty sympathy and moral support of all reputable newspapers in the country and of all responsible members of society."

St. Louis Globe Democrat—If the press is to give intelligent, dependable information as to gangdom's forces of depredation, somebody must go abroad, acquaint himself with their haunts and personnel, specialize, so to speak, in their methods, operations, general activities. To print the truth about them is often a work not less important than work by the police.

Mr. Lingle was such a specialist, one especially accurate and successful, it is said. It may be that in the face of the rising popular wrath, gangsterdom's leaders have thrown the dead body of this diligent reporter at the community in defiance of efforts to bring them to bay.

Perhaps we are about to see what we long have hoped to see—organized crime under furious assault by a community just as completely organized, commanding much the more powerful weapons, and powerfully aroused.

The following message was received from Gov. Fred W. Green of Michigan—"The murder of Alfred Lingle is a challenge from organized crime which must be met squarely. The entire police power of the state of Michigan, including the state police, is at your command for any use you may see fit to make of it in the solution of this crime."

LINGLE FUNERAL TODAY; FRIENDS THRONG HOME

Mother Arrives to Attend Rites for Slain Son.

Masses of flowers, sent by his many friends, were banked last night around the silver bronze casket in which lay the body of Alfred J. Lingle. Thousands of messages of condolence were sent to the reporter's family and hundreds of mourners visited the home at 125 North Austin boulevard to express in person a tribute to the memory of the slain man.

Until early this morning automobiles were parked for blocks in the streets near the home. Numbers of persons passed in and out of the room where the body lay. Of the many floral pieces received, there were noted those from Arthur W. Cutten, Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom, Ald. Bert A. Cronson, John L. Spellman, vice president of the telephone company; Commissioner of Police Russell, Chief of Detectives Stege, Charles Krutchkoff of the board of assessors, and Corporation Counsel Samuel A. Ettelson.

Mother Reaches Chicago.

Mrs. Emily Hazle Darst, Lingle's mother, arrived from Kansas City yesterday and, accompanied by his uncle, Alfred J. Hazle, 1933 Estes avenue, went to the home. Lingle's brother, Ted Lingle, will arrive from Albuquerque this morning. They, with Mrs. Helen Lingle, the widow, and the two children, Alfred Jr., 6 years old, and Dolores, 5, will constitute the chief mourners at the funeral today.

"He was the most wonderful son in the world," said the mother. "Although I lived so far away, he never failed to call me by long distance telephone every Sunday. He was kind and good and all that was honest and honorable."

The widow yesterday was under a physician's care. She collapsed several times.

Funeral Plans Completed.

Arrangements were completed last night for the military funeral and procession. Commissioner of Police Russell assigned Maj. John Bauder to help in arranging the units of the parade, and he was assisted by Capt. Willard Malone.

The funeral cortége will leave from the home at 10:15 o'clock this morning. Led by a motorcycle escort, composed of West Park and city policemen, the cortége will proceed east in Washington boulevard and through Garfield park, turning south at Central Park avenue to Madison street.

At this point the military escort will join the procession. The line of march will be south in Central Park avenue to Jackson boulevard and east in the boulevard to Our Lady of Sorrows' Catholic church at 3121 Jackson boulevard, where requiem high mass will be celebrated at 11 a. m. The celebrant will be the Very Rev. Jerome Mulherin, a close friend of Lingle.

Formation of the Marchers.

A company of mounted policemen will lead the march. They will be followed by a band composed of union musicians. The next unit will be formed of several companies of policemen, marching in honor of the man who was said to have had more friends on the police force than any other person.

The band from the Great Lakes Naval Training station will follow the policemen. The band was furnished by Rear Admiral Walter Crosley, commandant of the station, who also will send a firing squad. Lingle was chief boatswain's mate in the naval intelligence service during the war.

A detachment of the crack Illinois naval reserves led by Capt. Edward Evers and Lieutenant Commander Elmer Carlson will be next in line. Then will come several hundred city firemen in uniform led by Acting Fire Commissioner Edward A. Maloney, Fire Marshal Michael J. Corrigan, and Division Chief Joseph Mackey.

Legion Posts to Take Part.

Four American Legion posts will participate in the parade with their drum and bugle corps. They are the Medill Tribune, Gas, Commonwealth Edison, and Chicago Board of Trade posts.

After the services the military escort will form again, and, led by the company of mounted policemen, will march west in Jackson boulevard to Central Park avenue, where it will disband. The funeral cortege will proceed to Mount Carmel cemetery. There a salute will be fired and a naval bugler will sound taps.

The pallbearers will be James Doherty of THE TRIBUNE staff, James Murphy of the Chicago Daily Times, Commissioner of Police Russell, Lieut. Thomas McFarland, Harry Ash, first assistant attorney general of Illinois, and Leroy McHugh of the Chicago Evening American. All were friends of Lingle.

1 DEAD, 5 SHOT IN BROOKLYN SLOT MACHINE WAR

New York, June 11.—[Special.]—Brooklyn's slot machine war, which has been going on since the killing of Frankie Yale three years ago next month took away the chief and left the racket badly disorganized, flared up again early today.

When the smoke cleared away four men were stretched on the pavement, one dead, while a fifth, with a bullet in his leg and a bullet hole through the peak of his cap, was essaying an ineffectual getaway.

The dead man and three of the four wounded men were well known to the police. The fourth wounded man apparently was an innocent bystander who happened to get in the way of a bullet. At the time they were just changing shifts at the Miller avenue police station nearby, and in no time at all dozens of policemen were swarming over the neighborhood. But the shooters were gone by then.

The man slain was George De Foe, 24 years old, who spent seven of those years in Sing Sing as a burglar.

Sisters Have Their First Visit in Thirty-five Years

Mrs. F. A. Schuster, 2451 Homer street, who is 64 years old, and her sister, Mrs. Thomas Witlock, 75 years old, of Benton, Ark., are having their first visit in thirty-five years. Mrs. Whitlock is a guest at the Schuster home. They are the only two members left of their family of five children.

CLAIM MILLION LEFT BY GENERAL, AID OF NAPOLEON

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

FERRARA, Italy, June 11.—Claims to the $1,000,000 inheritance of Giovanni Mantovani, a native of this city, who volunteered for Napoleon the Great in his Russian campaign in 1812, was filed today by his relatives' grandchildren, Guisseppe Natale and Archildo Mantovani.

Mantovani, whose military record was closed with promotion to a generalship under Napoleon, married a Spanish princess who, at her death, bequeathed him her entire fortune.

When Mantovani died childless in 1860 the fortune was deposited in a Madrid bank, where it has been lying ever since.

CAPONE ESTATE IS ARMED CAMP, WITNESS AVERS

Florida Seeks to Padlock Gangster's Home.

Miami, Fla., June 11.— (AP) —The Miami Beach residence of "Scarface" Al Capone was described as a virtual armed camp today by Edward Robinson, state witness in proceedings instituted by State's Attorney N. Vernon Hawthorne to padlock the Capone home.

Robinson, whose home is close to the Capone residence on Palm island, exclusive residential area, testified that he had seen men walking about the Capone grounds with pistols in their pockets or strapped to their hips.

The Chicago gangster, named with his wife as defendant in the Hawthorne petition, conferred with his attorneys, Vincent C. Giblin and J. F. Gordon, as soon as the testimony ended.

Certain He Saw Pistols.

On cross-examination, Robinson replied to a question of Giblin as to his certainty that what he saw were pistols:

"I guess I know a revolver when I see one, and I'm giving this testimony under oath."

He said the incident occurred about a year ago.

The Rev. William H. Sledge, pastor of a Baptist church here, testified to hearing John Capone, a brother of the gangster, order three cases of liquor for delivery at the home of Fred Pine, Miami attorney, on Dec. 4, 1928. He was unable to identfy John in the courtroom today, under cross-examination, but said he was positive it was John. He heard the order given at the Capone home, he said, when he went there in an attempt to rent an automobile.

Capone Called Menace.

Thomas J. Pancoast, Miami Beach developer and real estate man, described the presence of Capone as a menace to the community when he was called to the stand as a state witness.

"He harbors people who are dangerous to us," Pancoast testified. "I want to live in peace and quiet, not among gangsters."

Maj. George E. Brown, in charge of the army engineers in this section, said Capone had attempted to press a bank note on him after exceeding his authority in building a dock at the rear of his home. Brown said he refused the note without looking at it to see its denomination.

COURT TAKES FIRST STEP TO PADLOCK 2 CAPONE CABARETS

Federal Judge Wilkerson yesterday granted two decrees pro confesso against Ralph J. Capone's Cicero cabarets, the Montmarte and the Cotton club. This means that if the proceedings are not contested within 30 days, the places will be padlocked for one year as public nuisances.

Following the raiding of the cabarets several weeks ago by dry agents and the issuance of temporary injunctions against them, only Ralph Capone filed an answer. He disclaimed ownership. Percy Haller, named as manager of the Cotton club, did not respond.

Assistant United States Attorney La Verne Norris obtained a permanent injunction yesterday against the Cocoanut Grove at 913 East 63d street. Judge Evans of the Federal Appellate court issued this decree.

NEW TRAFFIC PLAN TRIED IN JACKSON PARK

The south park commissioners have adopted experimentally a new traffic plan for Jackson park traffic. The Shore drive, south of 57th street, is reserved for north bound automobiles.

The north and south drive in the western part of the park willl continue to carry traffic in both directions.

Three of the drives are closed to traffic for use as parking areas. Parking will be prohibited on the traffic drives. Parking space for 600 cars is created on the drive just west of the yacht harbor and south of the bathing pavilion. Eight hundred cars can be stored on east and south arcs of the circle around the Fine Arts building. On the drive between the lagoon and the golf shelter and tennis courts, there will be parking space for 500 cars.

DRURY AND HOWE TRANSFER O. K.'D BY COUNCIL QUIZ

Aldermen Vote Approval of Russell and Stege.

After a two day investigation of the efficiency records of Detectives William Drury and John Howe, the council police committee yesterday unanimously upheld the transfer of the two policemen from special to general duty. The committee, with the same vote, declared also that its investigation disproved reports that the arrests of Harry Gusick and Hymie Levin of the Capone gang by the detectives had caused the transfer.

Commissioner of Police Russell appeared before the committee yesterday and was given an opportunity by Ald. Thomas F. Byrne [15th], committee chairman, to make a statement. Russell declared that Drury and Howe now have a greater leeway in the arrest of gangsters than formerly when they were members of the pickpocket detail.

Russell Tells His Position.

"I believe it is better to give Drury and Howe a free hand to arrest gangsters and that is what they have now," said Commissioner Russell in answer to questions of Ald. Arthur F. Albert [43d], whose resolution brought about the investigation. "Their actions are not curtailed by the reassignment. If I thought that they had been reassigned because of the arrest of two gunmen I would not stand for it."

At the opening of the hearing Drury and Howe submitted a list of the gangsters whom they said they have arrested and the disposition of the cases in court. As the committee clerk was reading the list he was interrupted by Chief of Detectives Stege, who had been following the original records.

"These fellows have been padding their arrest records," said Stege. "They have credited themselves with 214 arrests since the first of this year, although they have made only 84 arrests. Other teams have made honest reports."

Stege Makes Statement.

Stege then told the committee that difficulties beset the police department in obtaining convictions of gunmen for carrying concealed weapons. He said the judges are doing the best they can under the present laws.

"The police," he said, "have to prove that the gun was concealed on the person or was in a position in the gangster's automobile within easy reach. If we prove that the gun was concealed then we have to produce reasons for searching the gunman to find the weapon. We have to make a legal arrest to make a legal search."

"The police are up against obstacles every place they go," agreed Ald. Sheldon W. Govier [9th]. "Politicians, fixers, and some of the judges try to hamper their activities to suppress crime. I think we should investigate some of the judges."

Asks More Teeth in Laws.

Ald. James B. Bowler [25th] declared that the present laws on concealed weapons are not severe enough. "Why can't we have a law similar to the Sullivan law in New York state, under which gunmen are given a three year sentence to which seven more years is added if they have a previous criminal record?"

The meeting was thrown into excitement once when Stege charged that Ald. Albert four years ago had demanded of Morgan Collins, then chief of police, that he release four gunmen who had aided Albert in an aldermanic campaign.

At the end of the session the committee adopted the motion of Ald. Louis B. Anderson [2d], which read: "It is the sense of the committee that the commanding officers did not exceed their authority in the reassignment of Drury and Howe and that the reassignment was not caused by the arrest of gangsters."

Coste Awarded Medal for Greatest Air Feat of Year

PARIS, June 11.— (AP) —Dieudonne Coste, famed French flyer, today was awarded the medal of the International Aeronautic federation for the most noteworthy achievements of the year in aviation. Coste's various records were regarded by the judges as more important to the science of flying than were the accomplishments of Rear Admiral R. E. Byrd, the Spanish aviators, Iglesias and Jiminez, and the Austrian flyer, Kronseld, or Dr. Hugo Eckener, all of whom were considered for the award.

COUNCIL GROUP APPROVES NEW BRIDGE HOURS

Expect Final Action on Amendment June 18.

Unanimously approving the recommendations of the war department that the downtown bridges should remain closed longer than at present, the city council subcommittee on harbors, wharves and bridges yesterday passed the matter to the whole committee. Ald. William A. Rowan [10th] said that the council would be asked to amend the ordinance at its next meeting, June 18, if the committee accepts the recommendations, which is regarded as a certainty.

The Washington communication, wherein Secretary of War Hurley agreed with the terms of the proposed amended ordinance, was read to the subcommittee by Attorney Benjamin F. Goldstein, who was named a special assistant by Corporation Counsel Ettelson to advise the committee, and its terms were explained.

Changes in Closed Hours.

The amendment provides that the bridges shall remain closed in the afternoon thirty minutes longer than at present and adds a closed period Saturday afternoons from 12:30 to 2 p. m. to accommodate pedestrians going home for the half holiday.

In addition to the time extensions the ordinance provides that the bridge clearance be now measured from city datum, a theoretical point beneath the water surface, instead of the surface, a move intended to keep tugs from opening the spans during closed hours in the high water periods.

Shippers Protest Change.

It developed at the committee meeting that the river shippers, represented by R. C. Yeoman, secretary of the Chicago Waterways association, protested the approved extensions in a telegram to the war department on June 3, the day approval was announced in Chicago. An answer was received the same day, wherein the department stated the decision of the new hours "must stand for time being," and the boat owners were advised to remain quiet until the new conditions had had a trial.

Dispatches from Washington yesterday also carried word that Maj. H. J. Wild, resident government engineer here, had advised his superiors in the war department that control of the bridges be taken from the city and vested in the department, but no mention of this was made in the Hurley communication.

DR. READ NAMED AS DIRECTOR OF STATE HOSPITAL

Springfield, Ill., June 11.—(AP)—Dr. Charles F. Read of Chicago will become managing director of the Elgin State hospital on July, Director of Public Welfare Rodney L. Brandon announced today.

Dr. Read will succeed Dr. Ralph G. Ginton, who has been transferred to the state's new mental hospital at Manteno as managing officer. The Manteno hospital will open with about 1,600 patients shortly after July 1. The public welfare department plans to make it the largest of the state's mental institutions.

When completed the Manteno hospital will house between 6,000 and 7,000 patients. The state has already spent $3,000,000 and another $2,000,000 probably will be required to finish the project.

GETS HER CHANCE

FRANCES DEE.

Hollywood, Cal., June 11.—[Special.]—Frances Dee, 20 year old Chicago girl, was given a movie contract and a rôle to play opposite Maurice Chavalier, in the French star's next singing talkie today. Miss Dee signed the contract under her own name and her new screen name, Frances Deane, which will be the name by which she will be known professionally.

Miss Dee attended Hyde Park High school in Chicago and went for two years to the University of Chicago. She is the daughter of F. M. Dee, civil engineer of Chicago.

BROTHERS FLY IN ATTEMPT AT ENDURANCE MARK

Four brothers, all pilots, yesterday started an attempt to break the world's refuelling endurance record. In a Stinson Senior sabin monoplane, powered by a 300 horse power Wright motor, John Hunter, 26, and his brother Kenneth, 21, took off from Sky Harbor airport, west of Glencoe, at 4:40, daylight savings time. They announced that they were going to stay up as long as the motor lasted.

Last night two other Hunter brothers, Albert, 33, and Walter, 24, stood ready to go aloft in another plane of the same type to refuel the plane their brothers were flying in circles over the airport. The plane used in the record attempt has been named "The City of Chicago."

The hopes of the Hunter brothers to break the present record by more than 100 hours means that the ship must stay aloft almost 22 days.

The Hunter boys came to Chicago from Sparta, Ill., three weeks ago to make planes for the endurance flight.

SEEK APPROVAL OF 'THERM' BASIS FOR GAS BILLS

Natural, Manufactured Mixture Planned.

A mixture of natural and manufactured gas which will have a greater heating value than the present supply will be served to Chicago gas users beginning some time next year, according to an announcement yesterday of the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company. The natural gas will be brought here through a 950 mile pipe line from the Texas panhandle and mixed with the company's manufactured product.

The exact proportion of the mixture is an operating problem and has not yet been determined, the announcement stated. The mixture, however, it is said, will have a substantially greater heating value per cubic foot than the gas now supplied and the customer will use less gas by volume to obtain the same results.

In anticipation of the service change the company yesterday filed with the Illinois commerce commission a rate schedule under which it proposed to bill its customers on the basis of the heat units used rather than on the volume of gas consumed. The rate change, if approved by the commission, will go into effect on July 15.

"The company proposes to issue its bills expressed in 'therms' rather than in cubic feet;" said George F. Mitchell, president of the company. "A therm is 100,000 British thermal units. The change contemplates no change in the cost of gas service to the customer.

Old Rate Optional.

"Under the therm basis of billing the customer will pay only for the heating value of the gas furnished, regardless of the volume of the gas in which the heating value is contained. However, the present cubic foot rates will be continued in effect as optional so that any customer desiring to do so may continue to receive his bills calculated upon the basis of the cubic feet of gas used."

School to Discuss Municipal College with Fair Officials

First steps toward giving Chicago a municipal college were taken yesterday when the board of education voted to appoint a committee to confer with officials of the World's fair organization and the south park board. Supt. William J. Bogan explained that many of the buildings used for purposes of the fair may, by a few alterations, provide a ready made campus for the long desired college. Members of the park commission and the fair organization have expressed their willingness to coöperate with the board.

STATE GETS BIDS FOR ROAD WORK IN CHICAGO AREA

40 Miles of Construction to Cost $1,700,000.

BY HAL FOUST.

Two months after the opening of the paving season the state highway department yesterday received bids on its first impressive batch of contracts this year for metropolitan area road construction. Other important projects, where Chicago automobiles jam every Sunday, will be delayed further.

Yesterday's bids were for forty miles of paving and widening in the Chicago area, construction that will cost approximately $1,700,000. At the same time bids were received on 147 miles of pavement outside of the metropolitan district, to cost $5,800,000.

The metropolitan area will receive 22.6 per cent of these new contracts. The motorists of this district pay 43.9 per cent of the state's total road bill.

No highway grade separations are included in the projects. Most of the annoyances, hazards, and costly delays of driving in the metropolitan area are due to blockades at the intersections of busy highways.

Northwest highway—Widening, Palatine to Des Plaines, 8.5 miles.

Next month the state expects to award the following metropolitan area contracts:

Ogden avenue—Structure for Indiana Harbor Belt railroad crossing at La Grange.

The probable August letting will include the following metropolitan area projects:

Route 53—[On 159th and 163d streets], two lane pavings from Cicero avenue to Joliet road, 18 miles.

Route 54—[New north and south road through Hinsdale]—Twenty foot pavement from Roosevelt road to 95th street, 10 miles.

Routes 53 and 54, on which approximately $1,429,000 is to be spent, have been described by the Chicago Motor club as of more benefit to the development of subdivisions than for the relief of traffic congestion.

WIFE WINS DIVORCE FROM PRESIDENT OF FANNIE MAY SHOPS

MRS. MILDRED ARCHIBALD.

Mrs. Mildred R. Archibald of 854 Castlewood terrace yesterday won a divorce from H. Teller Archibald, half owner and president of the Fannie May candy store chain. The decree was granted by Superior Judge Joseph Sabath. Mrs. Archibald charged desertion. A property rights settlement had been made out of court. The divorce ends four years of litigation.

The Archibalds were married in 1901. They started the candy business together, with one shop, in 1918. Success was immediate. They began to branch out. Soon they had a chain of shops.

Difference of opinion as to the conduct of the business developed. It became public two years ago, when Mrs. Archibald filed suit for separate maintenance. She charged her husband had defrauded her of considerable money; that he had fraudulently obtained a divorce in Florida—an action which she refuses even now to recognize—and that he then was illegally remarried. She sought to contest the Florida divorce, but her motion was denied.

Her own divorce bill was filed a week ago, and replaced a pending suit for separate maintenance.

AMEND BOULDER DAM CONTRACTS ON WATER POWER

Washington, D. C., June 11.—[Special.]—Whether the government is certain to get its money back from the 165 million dollar Boulder dam project has aroused the interest of the house appropriations committee, it was disclosed today when hearings on the second deficiency bill were made public. While the committee in reporting the bill approved a budget request for an initial appropriation of $10,660,000, the action was taken only after changes in power contracts had been insisted upon which would give greater protection to the government.

Doubts as to security afforded the government were expressed by Representatives Louis C. Cramton [Rep., Mich.], William R. Wood [Rep., Ind.], Robert L. Bacon [Rep., N. Y.], and Joseph W. Byrns [Dem., Tenn.], as well as by witnesses for the state of Arizona.

Members of the committee obtained admissions from Secretary of the interior Ray Lyman Wilbur and other witnesses that, while the contracts with the city of Los Angeles and the metropolitan water district required the government to furnish specified amounts of water and power, there was no specific requirement on the part of the municipalities to buy a minimum amount of water or power. Amendments were made in the contracts to meet these objections.

$21,000,000 FOR POSTOFFICE HERE WINS APPROVAL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 11.—[Special.]—Approval of the erection of a new air rights postoffice at Chicago at a total cost for building and site or approximately $21,000,000 is carried in the second deficiency bill reported today by the house appropriations committee. Also in the bill is an authorization for the appropriation of $1,300,000 for the construction of a new appraisers stores structure in Chicago.

The bill authorizes the treasury department to dispose of the so-called Marshall Field site at Harrison and Clinton streets and to acquire air rights over the railroads located on the block bounded by Harrison, Van Buren and Canal streets and the Van Buren street parcel post station.

On this site the treasury and postoffice departments are authorized to erect a new federal building for the accommodation of the postoffice and other government offices. In addition, the treasury is to purchase for a sum not exceeding $3,500,000 the Van Buren street parcel post station and incorporate this building into the main postoffice structure. The total limiting cost is $21,000,000.

Air Rights to Cost $3,600,000.

The cost of the Marshall Field site postoffice project was estimated at $18,675,000. This project did not include the Van Buren street station. Had the purchase of this unit been included in the original postoffice project the total cost would have been $22,175,000, treasury officials said today.

John W. Philp, fourth assistant postmaster general, testified that the air rights for the new site could be purchased for a maximum of $3,600,000, and that the Van Buren street station and site, erected at an original cost of $4,000,000 eight years ago, could be acquired for not more than $3,500,000. Both figures, he said, were maximum costs, which the government expected to shave down. The cost of the postoffice proper, including apparatus, Mr. Philp stated, would be $13,900,000.

Yearly Savings of $968,000.

To this would be added the $3,500,000 cost of the Van Buren street building, making the total cost of the completed federal structure $17,200,000 plus the cost of remodeling the Van Buren street structure and incorporating it into the main building. To this cost figure would be added the $3,600,000 for air rights, making the total cost just under $21,000,000.

Mr. Philp said there would be a total saving of $968,000 annually in postal costs if the air rights building is erected.

SCHOOL AND PARK BOARDS APPROVE RELIEF PROGRAM

The members of the board of education and the Lincoln park commissioners yesterday gave their unanimous approval to the legislative program for financial relief of the local governments which has been presented to the special session of the assembly by the citizens' committee. The city council and the county board have already indorsed the program.

The approval of the board of education was voted only after a stormy session of the legislative committee. Objections were raised that the program did not provide sufficient funds.

Some Trustees Dissatisfied.

Several trustees expressed themselves as dissatisfied with the bills, but accepted them as the only solution offered.

"It is only by the approval of the local taxing bodies that the bills can be passed," Attorney William H. Sexton, representing the citizens' committee, told the trustees. "A great many of the downstate legislators are indifferent and will vote with the majority of the Cook county legislators. It is the duty of the board of education and of every other agency expecting relief to force Cook county legislators to vote for the bills."

Schmid's View of Bills.

Trustee Theophilus Schmid expressed what appeared to be the attitude of a majority of the board members. "I am inclined to vote against the bills," he said. "I feel that an imposition is being placed on real estate, but our hands are tied. The schools must be kept open, and I see no alternative for raising money. It is making the best of a bad situation."

Trustee Lewis E. Meyers, who had a part in drafting the relief program, told the trustees they must approve the bills or else go out in the street and pass their hats in an effort to raise $25,000,000.

$60,000 OHIO FIRE.

Nelsonville, O., June 11.—(AP)—A fire swept through the main business section of Bechtel, near here, today, destroying eleven business and residence buildings and for a time threatened the entire village. Damage was estimated at $60,000.

You are the center of the picture—its frame is YOUR HOME.

Does your home express the charm of your own dainty femininity—does it reflect YOU—to your husband? IT CAN! There is one charm which every home, no matter how simple, can have.

The charm of fresh, vibrant color!

Men Love Color

Men LOVE cheerful color, my dears. Just as you yourself attract when your little house frocks, your dainty blouses, your printed silks, are adorably COLORFUL, so your home charms when curtains, cushions, slip covers, table linens, spreads, all are lovely and fresh in color.

But, women ask me, "How can we keep these pretty fabrics lovely looking in spite of frequent washing? So often they fade all too quickly."

It is true that just ordinary "good" soaps do take out some of the color along with the dirt. But this will never be the case if you wash them always in Lux.

Lux is made especially to keep colors vibrantly alive, to preserve the soft, dainty texture of sheer fabrics.

And not only for colored things, but also for the many white linens and sash curtains about your house, is Lux invaluable.

The extra daintiness and freshness that come from the use of Lux, the loveliness of texture and the saving of white things from unsightly yellowing, are truly remarkable.

RAPS "DELIVERY SERVICE" PLAN IN TRANSIT BILL

More Organizations Vote to Back Ordinance.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The committee against the traction ordinance sent out a special appeal yesterday to "expressmen, undertakers, truckmen, truck drivers, chauffeurs, express drivers, and teamsters" to vote against the ordinance at the referendum July 1.

"Have you studied and considered the new Insull traction ordinance?" starts the circular. "How do you think it will affect your business and employment? Will it mean more bread and butter to you—or less?"

Base Plea on Special Car Plan.

The basis of the plea is a section in the ordinance which authorizes the new company to operate funeral, chartered and special cars, separate cars for the carriage of newspapers, express matter and mail, and, on the Rapid Transit Lines' cars, for the handling of express matter, newspapers, mail and merchandise by dispatch service. After citing the exact wording, the circular says:

"This section means that if Sam Insull and his cohorts get the new franchise they will be able to handle all express, parcel material, merchandise and freight, and funerals all over the city and outside of the city in all of the suburbs. This will enable the Insull traction interests to organize and monopolize a very efficient and economical delivery service for all lines of business, modeled along the lines of the chain stores."

Ashton Issues Statement.

Henry M. Ashton of the committee against the ordinance issued a statement in support of his side. Part of it reads:

"It appears that 'Old Man Chaos' is with us again. We first heard of him in 1918, when we defeated the so-called trustee plan at a referendum. Then the 'Old Man' remained in seclusion until 1925. In that year he was brought forward by Mayor Dever in an effort to sell the Schwartz-Dever plan to the people.

"Of course, we know what sort of chaos we had following the overwhelming defeat of the Dever-Schwartz plan. We have had better service on the surface lines under the receivership than we had before. Now Walter Fisher comes forward with 'Old Man Chaos' again. But the street cars will run as long as they continue to pay a profit."

Rosenheim Attacks Plan.

David Rosenheim, chairman of the opposition committee, also issued a statement, in which he said:

"Why give any public service company a perpetual right in the streets of Chicago?"

"The cry is being raised that the city government is so corrupt that it cannot be trusted to supervise the streets. If this is true, it is not probable that sometime there will be a change? Are we hopeless of ever electing honest men to office? Are we ready to admit that self-government is a failure? Are the working people of Chicago so prosperous that they are anxious to have their car fares raised from 7 to 10 cents, or more? This will surely happen if this ordinance is approved."

Backers Get Indorsements.

In the face of the arguments of the opposition, the nonpartisan committee, headed by Ald. McDonough, favoring the ordinance continues to receive the indorsements of civic and business organizations. To the list of 37 already printed in THE TRIBUNE, the McDonough committee yesterday made public six more organizations.

To date public announcement has been made of three organizations opposing the ordinance, although others are expected to follow, and 43 favor it. Those reported yesterday for the ordinance are:

Hamilton Park Improvement association.
Rogers Park Improvement association.
Chesterfield Improvement association.
Uptown Lions club.
South Shore Real Estate club.
North Crawford-Mart association.

Mrs. Ora H. Snyder, who operates a chain of candy shops, issued a statement in favor of the ordinance. She said:

"As a business woman who has a profound interest in the city's advancement I cannot see how any person with Chicago's welfare at heart can fail to indorse and actively support the traction ordinance. We certainly will be short sighted if we let the opportunity pass. As an employer I see the need for improved transportation service. Additional facilities will help to increase efficiency and obviate the extra minutes of strap hanging with consequent loss of energy. I am not a traction authority but I have abundant faith in the experts who have drafted this plan; and even the bitterest foes of the plan have not charged that it will not improve transportation."

Labor Head Favors Pact.

Barney Cohen, director of the state labor department, also presented his views.

After referring to the pledged expenditure of $65,000,000 in the next three years, Mr. Cohen's statement goes on:

"When it is considered that on top of these expenditures, work will be in progress in preparation for the World's Fair in 1933, it is apparent that Chicago should be in a class by itself so far as employment is concerned. If this ordinance is approved on July 1, work started within a few months afterwards will bring prosperity to this city at a time when other large cities are suffering from unemployment and stagnation in industry.

"The census figures made public today show that Chicago has added 672,048 people in the last 10 years, when there has been practically no extensions of transportation service. I believe that Chicago would have grown more than 1,000,000 if it had had the transit service to which it is entitled."

BRITAIN ORDERS DRIVE ON INDIA'S LAND TAX REBELS

New Feature of Revolt Is Spreading Fast.

BY CHARLES DAILEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BOMBAY, June 11.—Important conferences were held at Poona today between the Simla and Bombay ministries and revenue collectors concerning what action is to be taken as a result of the refusal of the civil disobedience volunteers to pay land taxes. Important decisions reported reached in regard to methods to be used are being kept secret.

The Nationalist nontaxpaying campaign is reaching throughout the peninsula, and prompt action has been ordered. Also, as a result of the ministerial conferences, picketing will be ordered suppressed in Bombay.

Plan Nationwide Drive.

Today's action marks the first step towards the enforcement of Viceroy Lord Irwin's ordinances, which will probably become nationwide, since the Nationalists are concentrating on these issues. Test cases will probably be made in Bombay and the Gujerat district by reason that the hand of the officials has been greatly strengthened since the publication of the Simon report.

Arrests continue in greater numbers throughout India. Of the total of 942 arrests made up to May 31, virtually all have been sentenced to prison terms averaging six months.

Police Become More Active.

The police everywhere are becoming more active, notably in the Punjab, where fifty natives were injured when one massmeeting was raided. Arrests for trying to incite police with dissatisfaction and for urging them to resign are being made, particularly at Madras.

Veteran observers are inclined to believe that the situation is growing worse. Signs of uneasiness are exhibited among the Nationalists who, after digesting the first section of the Simon report, are inclined to believe that the final recommendations of the report will hold no hope for Nationalist aspirations.

Rebels Warned from Air.

BOMBAY, June 11.—(AP)—An aerial warning without bombs was given the civil resistance forces in the Punjab today. Following the decision by the leaders of Mahatma Gandhi's campaign to strength their fight against payment of land taxes inhabitants of two villages near Lahore telegraphed the government they would not pay land revenues unless the punitive police were withdrawn and the punitive tax abolished.

The authorities today sent an army airplane to circle over the villages, while three armored cars and foot troops showed an evidence of strength on the ground.

Communal disorders were reported today from the Dacca and Calcutta areas. At Dacca a number of Moslems attacked Hindus, but were beaten off. It was reported that two Hindus were stabbed by Moslems in another clash.

FAMOUS 400 YEAR OLD BRITISH ESTATE TO BE SOLD TO PAY TAXES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 11.—Another ducal state in Great Britain is to be broken up in order to allow the members of one of the oldest families to satisfy taxation claims in the form of death duties. Several Americans are reported to be among the bidders for the land owned by the duke of Montrose.

The property has been in the possession of the duke's family for more than 400 years. Part of it has been offered to the government as payment for tax assessments, but Chancellor of the Exchequer Snowden refused, since the land is not suited to any official purpose.

Now the duke is trying to find a native purchaser for the land, which is in Scotland, to prevent its going into the hands of strangers when the sale is held next month.

Guard British Consulate Against Warsaw Jews

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, June 11.—The Polish police guarded every approach to the British consulate here tonight while huge crowds of Jews demonstrated on the main streets of Warsaw against the immigration restrictions in Palestine. Carrying anti-British banners, the demonstrators demanded the fulfillment of the British mandate in Palestine.

TORONTO POLICE BATTLE CROWD AT SHRINER PAGEANT

Night Electrical Parade Stormed by 100,000.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TORONTO, Ont., June 11.—One hundred thousand Toronto citizens and visitors tonight jammed Sunnyside, on the lake front, literally fought for the privilege of witnessing tonight's "electrical parade," overran the route of march, and delayed the spectacle over an hour, and rushed the reserved seat section of the two mile grandstand especially built for the Shriner parade shows.

It took the combined efforts of practically the whole Toronto police force, including mounted and motorcycle officers, to straighten out the tangle of humanity and make headway for the procession, with its illuminated floats and rainbow hued lighting effects.

City Dazzled by Pageant.

Earlier in the day the city was dazzled by the splendor of the Shriner pageant, in which, as the main spectacle of the Shriners' convention, three miles of nobles in parade passed by and saluted their retiring imperial potentate, Leo F. Youngworth of Los Angeles. At today's election of imperial divan officers, a new Shrine ruler was chosen, Elston A. Fletcher of Damascus temple, Rochester, N. Y. Thomas J. Houston of Chicago became deputy imperial potentate and the other officers were moved up in the line. Andrew S. Rahn of Minneapolis, Minn., and Walter D. Cline of Wichita Falls, Texas, were elected captain of the guard and outer guard, respectively, to fill vacancies due to promotion and the death of Clifford Ireland of Peoria, Ill.

Like Streets of Bagdad.

Like a demonstration that might have taken place on the streets of Bagdad two thousand years ago the weirdly attired nobles, with seventy bands interspersed, unwound their impressive pageant along Toronto's Lake Front boulevard. Fifty thousand people lined the parade route.

Acrobatic feats, saluting elephants, and bowing camels, stunt marching, and rapid parade formations, all added color to the greatest spectacle Toronto has ever witnessed. Small, quick firing cannon added to the din of howling police sirens and sent clouds of sea gulls screaming lakewards as Murat temple's gun club from Indianapolis marched by, it kept a machine gun rattling, and the crowds yelled "Chicago."

Crowds Cheer Chicagoans.

Medinah temple's "millionaire band" of Chicago played "O, Canada" while passing the elevated platform. The crowds arose en masse and cheered the Chicagoans to the echo.

Sitting without supper until eight o'clock tolght, the Shrine chieftains selected Cleveland, O., as their next year's convention city. They left selection of the date to a committee, with instructions not to conflict with the grand encampment of Knights Templar of the United States.

KOHLER GIVEN REGULARS' O. K. IN WISCONSIN

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Oshkosh, Wis., June 11.—[Special.]—Gov. Walter J. Kohler flew over from Madison with Mrs. Kohler at noon today and accepted the indorsement for renomination voted him unanimously by the Republican regulars state convention. The 1,156 delegates adopted a platform embodying the "new progressivism." Its avowed aim is to afford a common meeting place for folks in the middle of the road between radicals and reactionaries.

The complete state slate which the regulars will support in the Republican primaries in September against the La Follette group candidates was picked as follows: Governor, Walter J. Kohler; lieutenant governor, Harry Dahl of La Crosse; secretary of state, William L. Pieplow of Milwaukee; attorney general, Michael G. Eberlein of Shawano; treasurer, Edward J. Samp of Madison.

Harmony Rules.

Harmony saturated the convention. Not a ripple or a roll call. Everything went through unanimously by viva voce vote. Leaders now take the view that the Oshkosh-Green Bay movement now looks like a bandwagon. The campaign is built around Gov. Kohler. The regulars view the planks in chain stores and banking and on utilities as walking away with the thunder of the La Follette group, leaving the La Folletteites no fresh new issues in the campaign.

Revamping of the corrupt practices act was one theme which echoed the recent Kohler trial at Sheboygan which blew up. The platform declares the act must be amended to give all candidates the right to present their issues adequately to the voters, and that the best safeguard against excessive use of money must be through fullest publicity of campaign contributions and expenditures.

Kohler for Volunteers.

Gov. Kohler in his speech laid stress upon volunteer workers, holding that such service is in the way of civic duty. Dwelling on the direct primary system, the governor drew a contrast between backroom caucuses and open pre-primary conventions, which in reality are an open caucus to pick slates.

"Under the Wisconsin law" the governor said, "there appear to be only two successful ways in which a candidate can wage a winning campaign. First, through the selection of candidates at a voluntary convention such as this one. Second, by the choice of individuals by a small oligarchical group meeting in a closed room. We, as Republicans prefer the first method whereby in open forum the representatives of citizens all over the state indicate their preferences."

Against Foreign Entanglements.

The platform declared against foreign entanglements.

On prohibition it reiterated the petition of the Wisconsin legislature asking congress to hold a nation-wide advisory referendum.

President Hoover's name was mentioned only once—in commendation of his efforts on farm relief. For the rest the platform is directed to Wisconsin.

In the plank on chain stores the regulars claim Wisconsin is the first state to advocate some sort of a definite program in a Republican platform. They predict this may spread in other states. The plank follows closely the tentative draft by A. B. Fontaine of Green Bay, permanent chairman, as published in yesterday's TRIBUNE.

The tenor of the orators was the Republican party was born in Ripon 76 years ago and reborn in Oshkosh and Green Bay, and that the regulars are now in shape, after smashing the La Follette national delegate slate in 1928 and electing a governor, to make a clean sweep in 1930.

"First: The enactment of such fair trade legislation as will make them (chain stores) wholly amenable to state regulation and remove the existing handicaps of independent competitors.

"Second: The strengthening of our laws licensing foreign corporations doing business in this state, to the end that responsibilities for unfair trade practices shall be licensee attached, with penalties of license revocation for law infractions.

"Third: The imposition of a license fee of fair but sufficient amount to pay the cost of maintenance of their regulation.

"Fourth: To promptly investigate the practicability of an amendment to our taxation structure for the purpose of equalizing present tax burdens and to reach their profits.

"Fifth: That we memorialize our Wisconsin delegation in congress to give full aid and comfort to all national legislation to the same general purpose and effect."

HUSTON IN LETTER SAYS HE REFUSES TO BE STAMPEDED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 11.—[Special.]—Despite persistent reports that he will resign, Claudius H. Huston, chairman of the Republican national committee, declared that he has "refused to be stampeded" in a letter made public today, which he wrote on May 29.

Mr. Huston asserted that the charges that he was congressional lobbyist for a large corporation and that he diverted funds of the Tennessee River Improvement association temporarily to cover a shortage in his brokerage accounts are "absolutely false." Other charges against him, he declared, were "inspired by partisan or factional motives."

MORELAND MAY STILL BE RIVAL OF MICHAELSON

Loser Says He'll Run as Independent.

BY PARKE BROWN.

James C. Moreland, who came within about 60 votes of winning the Republican nomination for congress in the Seventh Illinois district on April 8, is so determined to stay in the fight next fall that he may run as an independent against Congressman M. A. Michaelson.

"Leaky Trunk," as the incumbent is spoken of in his district and elsewhere, defeated Moreland, according to the official proclamation, by 56 votes, but the loser is seeking a recount which, he says, he is confident will show he was the victor. Because of Michaelson's refusal to accept service, due to his Washington duties, a court decision on Moreland's petition has been postponed until June 23. Moreland says he fears this delay will postpone the opening of the ballots so long that the recount cannot be completed in time to place his name on the ballot if he wins.

Will Run as Independent.

"If it develops that the count will not be completed in time," he said yesterday, "I shall run as an independent. My supporters in the primary insist upon it."

The theory of the Moreland supporters that he can win as an independent if that sort of race becomes necessary is based on an analysis of the April primary returns. They also express a doubt that the Democratic nominee, Leonard W. Schuetz, can defeat Michaelson in this overwhelmingly Republican district.

Point to Primary Vote.

In the Republican primary there were 102,094 votes cast. Of these Michaelson received 28,790 and Moreland received 28,734. The rest were scattered among seven other candidates, most of whom were wet in opposition to Michaelson's dry record and support, the votes of the seven ranging from 4,192 to 13,698. The Moreland camp insists that while Michaelson received 28,790 votes there were 73,704 Republican votes—those cast for Moreland and the seven others—against him. They argue that Michaelson can win over only a small fraction of this hostile total if Moreland runs independently.

CORNS
Root and All—Out to Stay!

Two tablespoonfuls of that amazingly refreshing and foot invigorating Radox to one gallon of water makes a footbath which after three to four nights' soaking lifts out aching, maddening corns, callouses, too—root and all.

Radox softens the hard outer layers of corn—and oxygen which Radox liberates, enters the pores, each night penetrating further and further, carrying the salts right to root of corn which can be lifted out bodily.

Wonderful to take out pain and burning and refresh tired feet!

Get a package of Radox at any drugstore and know the joyous comfort of corn and callous free feet—Radox is the modern, scientific method to remove corns which completely eliminates old fashioned plasters, dangerous cutting, skin destroying acids and obsolete methods.

simmers down to the failure of Capt. Brooks to send an S O S. He had no idea what would happen and has no right to gamble with the lives intrusted to his care.

"I sent Capt. Bunting of the Gloucester a message shortly before midnight asking for a few details of the collision. I never received a reply. I rebuked him for not answering a radio message sent by a federal inspector. He only contended that the message was not properly signed.

"The messages to all appearances were greatly garbled and many sent to both the Fairfax and Gloucester either went unanswered or the reply contained only most meager information.

"I asked Brooks why he did not send for coast guard ships when he ascertained how many were injured and to what extent. He replied that they were giving the burned and injured the best treatment possible.

"A coast guard boat could have found the Fairfax, transferred the injured and would have had them in a hospital at 11 p. m. at the latest. The failure to call on the coast guard for those two reasons—the possibility of rescuing those in the water and the getting off the injured as fast as possible—is what I call gross negligence of the worst kind."

No S O S Received.

Coast guardsmen asserted that they had picked up no S O S from the stricken ship and reported that the commanding officer of the coast guard cutter Tampa, which was near the scene of the collision, received word from the Fairfax that no help was needed.

A few passengers alleged that the ship's officers made no effort to calm the hysterical passengers. Other travelers told of the crew snatching at life belts.

All passengers seemed to agree that the dozen United States sailors and marines aboard the ship as passengers were the heroes. They also lauded Miss Dorothy Mannix of Fitchburg, the ship's nurse, who worked like twenty women, saved many lives and relieved much suffering and then collapsed when the passengers were finally transferred safely to the Gloucester.

One of the passengers, who was of the opinion that the officers of the ship were lax and the ship's equipment was woefully inadequate, was Sergt. A. E. Abbott of the marines, en route to China with Mrs. Abbott.

"I didn't see a single ship's officer during the first hour after the ship had hit," said Sergt. Abbott. "Then they seemed to be running around uselessly. The marines and gobs organized a fire fighting force and with the aid of men passengers and some of the crew we finally got the fire out after a three hour fight."

EYEWITNESS' STORY

Boston, Mass., June 11.—(AP)—A vivid description of the sea tragedy involving the tanker Pinthis and the liner Fairfax was told tonight by George F. Farrell of Everett, Mass., chief signalman of the U. S. S. Lexington.

"I was up on the forecastle," Farrell said. "The fog was very thick. The tanker appeared without warning. I think there was just one whistle. I felt the shock. It was surprisingly slight. In about two minutes she exploded. The explosion was tremendous. It seemed to have a lot of power behind it."

The detonation, he related, sent out a shower of oil on the water, turning the sea around it into a mass of flame.

Passengers Leap Overboard.

Passengers whose staterooms lined the flame swept deck, burst out only to find fire all about them. It was at this time, in a panic, that they leaped for safety in the water.

"The canvas on the decks was burning and the boats above were on fire," he said, "and people on the top deck were trying to get down to the deck below by climbing over the rail and lowering themselves down. Some of them fell over."

He said Pharmacist Mate J. B. Walker dragged several persons to safety before being pulled over the side of the ship himself in a vain effort to save a woman.

The naval group aboard almost alone fought and subdued the threatening fire that charred the port side of the steamer, he said. They received little aid from the crew, Farrell asserted. Negro members had sought the starboard side of the ship and he counted 11 sitting in one lifeboat.

Officers Excited, He Says.

"Some of the officers," he went on, "seemed more excited even than the passengers. They must have had mostly a new bunch on, I guess.

"Some of the crew didn't even know where the life belts were. We had to break doors and windows to get out the life preservers.

"It seemed like an hour before we got clear of the flaming oil. Actually, I suppose it was about 10 minutes."

He said he understood one lifeboat was put down during this time but it was lost in the fire.

POLICE PROTECT CHECKER DRIVERS IN PROTEST RALLY

Attack Refinancing Plan of Officers.

Fifty policemen from the Racine avenue station commanded by Capt. Joseph Palczynski last night stood guard about Walsh Hall, Milwaukee avenue and Noble street, while 600 Checker cab company drivers held a meeting of protest against what they termed unfair tactics of company officials in a refinancing plan.

The police were summoned by the drivers, who told Capt. Palczynski that the company officers had sent gunmen there, and also that there were five wagon loads of brickbats. The captain found the brickbats, piled in the street, near the hall, and arrested Harry Mandel, described as a bodyguard for one of the company officials, when a driver complained he had threatened him.

Drivers Get Notice.

According to the men, a letter was sent to every driver some days ago by Max Rafman, secretary. It set forth the proposed refinancing plan and asked that they trade in their present stock and the equity in their stake for new shares. The company was to be reorganized.

The meeting was to discuss ways of preventing such a reorganization. Edward Fischer, the principal speaker, of 1570 North Hoyne avenue, said he had been a Checker driver for ten years.

"They chased me out a year ago," he said. "They threatened me with death. I still have my stock. The Checker company is really run by three gunmen who get $500 a month to threaten, shoot and kill. Down the gangsters and get the better of them through the courts."

Will Seek Injunction.

After other spokesmen had asserted that the drivers have the support of the Chicago Crime commission and the Employers' association, it was voted to retain a lawyer and seek an injunction to block the refinancing plan.

The biggest outbreak occurred when somebody discovered that Allan A. Lessick, traffic manager of the company, had gained entrance. A dozen drivers leaped up and seized him. Only prompt action by the police averted trouble.

A long trail of murders, bombings, and lawsuits has marked the history of the Checker Cab company. Outstanding were the killings of Joseph Wokral, in 1926, when he was seeking reëlection as president, and that of Barney J. Mitchell, treasurer, last January. Wokral, on his death bed, named Eugene "Red" McLaughlin as the man that shot him. McLaughlin was found dead in the drainage canal last Saturday. He was a brother of Robert McLaughlin, president of the company.

Make your first investment the strongest link in the chain

BECAUSE it is safe . . . permits a reasonable interest return . . . is not subject to market fluctuations . . . can be withdrawn without loss or decrease in principal . . . can easily be built up from a very small start, a savings account should be your first investment.

Add to it regularly and keep it as a nucleus for such other investments as you may make.

It will be more than a sound investment. It will also provide a cash reserve for unusual opportunities or for unforeseen emergencies.

Business concerns employ auditors and bookkeepers to keep them informed as to where they stand financially and to show them where money can be saved. You can use a budget book for the same purpose in your personal affairs. We shall gladly give you one for the asking.

JURY TRIAL UNDER VOLSTEAD.

The house of representatives has passed the bill, in the Wickersham portfolio of reforms to make prohibition prohibit, which undertakes to take the jury system out of Volstead enforcement as far as possible. The senate now has it. There are some confirmed drys in congress who view the attempt with disapproval or alarm, but, naturally, they were not many, and the more docile house members yielded to the dry lobbies and the administration, passing the bill on to the senate. The use of the injunction and contempt procedure under it has enabled the federal judiciary to dispose of property and persons by summary process, but where this was not possible the prosecution has been obliged to run a jury trial, and the results have not been satisfactory to the prosecutors. The Volstead law is of such a nature that its administration has tied criminal justice in a knot and the administrators cannot see any substantial relief ahead even by increasing the number of judicial districts and the number of penitentiaries to receive the ouput. Relief is sought, therefore, in a factory production of sentences to be made possible by getting the offender into a waiver of jury trial. The clogging of the courts is a result inherent in the nature of the law. It being a vicious law, it produces general resistance and nonconformity. In such cases authority never has been able to do with ordinary legal procedure. It must fall back upon extralegal methods, which may be the use of the star chamber or the quartering of dragoons upon the recusant families or communities. In this case the plan is to get rid of the obstructive jury to the largest extent possible.

A pliant offender, impressed by what may happen to him if he stands upon his rights when he is brought before a United States commissioner, may choose to submit his case to him. If the decision is that he is guilty a report to that effect goes to the District judge. If the offender is dissatisfied he may demand a trial with jury and take the consequences.

In a late modification of the proposed justice shop method the petty offenses covered by the process were defined as such as involved jail sentences of less than six months or a fine of less than $500. The Jones law also was amended to make a petty offense one in which less than a gallon of liquor was involved. Under the Jones law at present all liquor law offenses may bring the maximum of five years and $10,000, but there is a suggestion to the courts to discriminate between grave and slight offenses.

In whatever form the bill finally gets through congress, if it does, its purpose is to eliminate trial by jury because such trial interferes with the sentencing of the thousands of offenders against the Volstead act. In the proposed action of the bill the citizen cannot be deprived of his right arbitrarily, but the intimation of the law will be that if he knows when he is well off he will take what the United States commissioner hands him and will not seek the verdict of his peers. It is to persuade the defendant to let the government have its way with him from the beginning and it requires no imagination to see it leading to intimidation.

The jury trial is an embarrassment to administration because its safeguards made it impossible to handle the thousands of cases of the new criminality made by sumptuary law. Government when committed to the enforcement of such law always tries to rid itself of legal obstacles and find summary methods of dealing with nonconformists by herds and droves. It is for this reason that trial by jury, whatever may seem to be the occasional defects of its operation, has been cherished by free people or people struggling for freedom as their protection against determined tyranny or sporadic oppression. When they find government breaking through these guards they know that the pressure is inimical to their rights.

SPEED AND ELECTRIFICATION.

In the Pittsburgh district the Pennsylvania will electrify, run its trains at 90 miles an hour, and make the Chicago-New York run in fourteen hours, according to a plan recently announced. In the Chicago district the butt end of the railroad will continue its policy, presumably, of smoke, coal and the days of 1870.

Fourteen hours is six hours better than the twenty now allowed for the Chicago-New York trip. It will make New York a night's sleep away, and few business men on such a schedule gain time by traveling in the air. To meet Pennsylvania's plan, providing it becomes effective, air time to New York must be cut nearly in two. Five or six hours inclusive to New York will no doubt be the next announcement.

THE WATERWAY AND THE TWELVE HOUR DAY.

The activities of Mr. Newton Baker as counsel in the lake levels suit are, of course, well known. Mr. Baker is legal representative of the association of ship owners dominated by the steel corporation and its allied power interests, though it was as representative of the state of Ohio, which he served without pay, rather than his ship owning clients, that Mr. Baker appeared before the Supreme court.

We are indebted to Mr. C. M. Goshorn, treasurer of the Sailors' Union of the Great Lakes, for the information that Mr. Baker has recently spoken a piece for the shipping companies in another matter in Washington. As Mr. Goshorn said in a recent letter published in the Voice of the People:

"It has been a source of wonder to union seamen to find Mr. Baker, who has long posed as a liberal and was an eloquent expounder of the Wilsonian doctrines of the rights of humanity a few years ago, appearing before a senate committee recently and with marvelous eloquence upholding the anti-social twelve hour day and other evils imposed upon seamen by the Lake Carriers' association."

We had not been aware that Mr. Baker, in addition to his efforts to retard the development of the Mississippi valley, was endeavoring to maintain working conditions which enlightened employers have abandoned these many years as smacking of industrial slavery. Mr. Baker's clients, not to say Mr. Baker, may have overreached themselves in this matter. It may be possible to confuse some congressmen, even from the central states, about the diversion from Lake Michigan for the Illinois waterway; but we do not believe it is possible to make a medieval practice like the twelve hour day seem anything but what it is to congressmen who count any considerable number of union labor votes in their constituencies.

We shall be astonished if these congressmen are not encouraged to examine the allegations of Mr. Baker's client with respect to the waterway with a somewhat more critical eye now that the same client's attitude toward the twelve hour day is understood. Gentlemen who show themselves grasping and selfish in one direction must be suspected of the same traits of character in other matters. Certainly this point will not escape the leaders of union labor in Wisconsin, Michigan, Chio, Pennsylvania, and New York.

MULTIPLE MOTORS AND MULTIPLE RISKS.

One of its three motors failed just after a large transport plane had left the ground at East Boston. The machine, out of control, plunged into the bay. Of the thirteen passengers in the ship only one lost his life, but a number of the others suffered serious injuries.

The accident, which has had its counterparts in other parts of the country, suggests that there is a grave engineering defect in some of the multimotored planes, especially in the tri-motored ships. The chief object served in equipping a plane with more than one motor is to give it added safety: if one motor fails, the ship can continue to fly with the power from the others until a safe place to land is found. Apparently this consideration has been neglected in the design of some of the larger transport planes. They will not stay aloft, carrying a full load, when one motor goes dead. If this is so, the presence of more than one motor, far from adding to the factor of safety, constitutes a source of added danger. Instead of there being but one engine to fail there are three, the failure of any one of which can bring about a catastrophe. In addition, the mechanics who tend the engines must disperse their attention over three instead of concentrating on one.

There is evidence, also, to suggest that the failure of one of the wing engines in some of the three motored ships tends to make them less manageable than they would be if deprived of all power.

Public confidence in aviation will be increased if the department of commerce standards of safety, particularly for the transport planes, are revised upward. Multi-motored planes, carrying a full load, should be able to fly and even to climb with one motor dead. Unless they can meet this test they ought not to be licensed.

Editorial of the Day

REPORTER ASSASSINATED.

[Illinois State Register, Springfield.]

Today the editorial guns of the newspapers of Chicago are turned upon gangland with a vengeance because of the assassination yesterday of Alfred Lingle, TRIBUNE police reporter, by an unknown bandit.

This crowning tragedy—this amazing climax of a long series of murders in Chicago, where beer barons and bandits are terrorizing those who attempt to expose their bloodthirsty methods of intimidation—ought to be tantamount to a declaration of war, not only in Chicago and Cook county but in the state of Illinois!

If we are to have a supergovernment of bandits in the principal city of the state let's recognize it!

If this banditry is everything the newspapers of the state are saying about it, then it's time to take up arms against these pistol possessors and machine gunners who shoot their foes in the back and mow them down in defiance of all law and order as coroner's juries supinely return perfunctory verdicts—"slain by unknown persons!"

What's to be done about it?

Probably nothing!

Why?

Because the gunmen and their lieutenants deliver precincts in elections and wield a tremendous influence in the political life of Chicago. There is such close companionship of politics and crime in Chicago there will be less effort made officially to catch and kill the killers than to protect them and prevent exposure of a political system that is so putrid it offends the nostrils of every good citizen in this and adjoining states.

Rewards and threats will not bring relief. Only an upheaval such as the state has never known will get results.

HIS MIND SLIPPING ALSO.

MOSQUITO, MALARIA CONTROL.

THE STORY of mosquitoes and malaria control in the Philippines was told by Dr. Victor Heiser and Dr. Fajudo, health director of the Islands. Gen. Leonard Wood summoned Dr. Heiser to his office, saying to him, "I notice that thirty-five thousand people died in this country from malaria last year. That must be stopped." Dr. Heiser replied that he did not know how it was to be done. To this Gen. and Dr. Wood said, "It has been done in Panama. It must be done in the Philippines." Dr. Heiser replied, "Conditions are different in the Philippines, and a method suitable for the local situation would have to be studied out." "Get to work on the problem," was the order which followed.

The first observation was that there was almost no malaria among people who stayed in the swamps and other low grounds. The next was that the only people who had malaria were those who were exposed between midnight and day. The third was that the ordinary mosquitoes did not carry malaria. The next problem was to find a "hill billy" mosquito which did not bite until near midnight and which was capable of spreading malaria. In this they were successful. In the foothills of the islands there are many springs the water of which is fairly cold and clean. Breeding in these waters was the guilty mosquito. This mosquito found the foothills' spring water of just the right temperature and degree of cleanliness and containing just the food needed for her larvae. On the other hand, the swamp waters were too warm, too stagnant and did not contain the right larva food. This mosquito never sucked blood until around midnight. It met every requirement of the bill of particulars.

A volunteer permitted himself to be bitten. He went to bed with the mosquito bar removed from around his bed. About midnight the mosquitoes appeared. When they began feasting the bar was dropped over the bed. The gorged mosquitoes seemed happy and contented for an hour or two. Then they began to grow restless. By three o'clock they were seeking a way to escape. Just before daylight they became frantic, plunging against the bars in their wild efforts to escape. Thus it seems that the original alarm clock was not the crying baby. It was the "hill billy," malaria carrying, Filipino mosquito.

SHOULD BE INVESTIGATED.

R. M. H. writes: If, on clearing one's throat first thing in the morning, there is noticeable a small trace of blood, is this an indication of tuberculosis?

REPLY.

It may be. I have known rheumatoid arthritis to begin that way. The symptom may mean scurvy. The meaning of this symptom should be sought for.

THROBBING IN THE HEAD.

A. L. writes:

1. What does a throbbing in the head, which seems to have the same beat as a heart, indicate? When I hurry upstairs I feel it and quite often am kept awake in the night with it.

2. Also, what causes a pulsing on the right side of the throat?

REPLY.

1. It may mean anemia, heart disease, or some other disorder. It may mean nothing.
2. I do not know. Probably of no significance.

EGGS, RAW AND COOKED.

R. O. writes: Of what value is a raw egg? Soft boiled? Hard boiled? Fried?

REPLY.

Eggs are wholesome. There is no particular difference in food value between raw eggs and eggs cooked in different ways. Nor is there much difference in digestibility or assimilability.

NO FISHING ALLOWED.

Chicago, June 4.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Our chapter of the Izaak Walton League of America has a camp located near Manteno, Ill., on Rock creek, and next to our camp is a stretch of the creek where the land on both sides is owned by a certain farmer who will not let us fish this stretch of water.

1. Is it rightful for him to prevent us from fishing in this water, even though we wade and do not touch his land? 2. I do not know whether this stream is classed as navigable. 3. Does it make any difference as far as our right to use this water is concerned.? G. L. B.

1. Yes.
2. We assume that it is not classed as navigable.
3. Yes. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

NATURALIZATION OF WIFE.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. W. B.

NAY, 'TIS FROM THE MAIL BOX WE WOULD FLEE.

Old Art Lueder, the w. k. postmaster, writes us very kindly in regard to our letter to him saying that if Prosperity doesn't hit this neck of the woods pretty quick we may spend our vacation on a bench in Lincoln park. "I would suggest," writes Art, "that you attach a mail box to your bench in the park so that your mail would be safe even if you were taking a stroll." Nix, Art. If we should attach a mail box to our bench in the park, or even to a rock in the midst of some vast primeval wilderness, why, within two hours it would be filled with letters like these:

"LEARN TO MAKE BANQUET SPEECHES—YOU WILL NEVER HAVE TO BUY YOUR DINNERS AGAIN."

"TREMENDOUS REDUCTIONS IN PARIS GOWNS—BUY YOUR SUMMER WARDROBE NOW!"

"DO YOU STUTTER? WE WILL CURE YOU."

"DO YOUR TEETH BITE YOU? USE THE CURRYCOMB TOOTHBRUSH."

"LEARN TO BE A GREAT VIOLINIST IN 6 LESSONS AND EARN THREE THOUSAND DOLLARS A NIGHT!"

"KEEP YOUR SCHOOLGIRL FIGURE—EAT NO-FATTINE."

And a lot more to the same effect. No, thank you, Art, no mail boxes for us on vacation. The mail box is one of the principal reasons we want to take a vacation—so that we can get away from the damthing.

THE TANGLED WIND.

There's a tangled wind in the trees tonight,
And a little lost moon in the sky,

The world is across an ebony sea,
Far as the shore of Cathay,
The night is glamorous with a dream. . . .
Must a dream always pass away?

For the fire will die when the dawn-light comes,
And the moon will be old again,
And the fire will turn to a thin gray ash,
What happens to stray dreams then?

And children will bring their pails and dig
Sand castles when it is light.
I wonder if any of them will find
The castles we built last night.

HELEN WELSHIMER.

THE CONSTABULARY of a Chicago suburb went out yesterday with warrants and threw two guitar players, a flute tooter, and a concertina artist in jail, but a saxophone player got away and is still at large. How true it is that the innocent are often punished, while the saxophone player escapes!

"VETERAN RELIEF BILL Is Doomed to Pocket Veto."—The Trib. Say, vets! Doesn't that word "pocket" remind you of the pockets you used to get into when you were over there? It would be the bottom of a trench, with Jerry still shooting at you and the place full of gas and barbed wire and wires cobwebbed around in every direction that would explode bombs when you tripped over 'em, and a blind alley whichever way you turned. Pockets are grand places to put a veto, but they're pretty mean things in war times.

KING CAROL forgives his mother, Queen Marie. Which is mighty kind of Carol. Now if he forgives his wife, from whom he ran away to live with his sweetie, it will be just too touching.

Anyway 50-50—We Have More on Paper—England Has More on the Seas

And now Clinton W. Gilbert has figured out that while theoretically the London naval treaty gives us eighteen cruisers and England fifteen, actually—since we are not to be allowed to build two of ours until the treaty expires, and Great Britain will not be compelled to scrap two of hers until then—actually we will have sixteen cruisers and England will have seventeen. So that's it, huh! Well, we just knew there was a catch in it somewhere. Boy, if Ramsay MacDonald had engineered a treaty that would actually give England fewer ships than some other nation, he would be back in Scotland digging coal by now, with somebody who knew his stuff prime-ministering in Downing street. But over there they all know their stuff.

SAN LOUIE, Mo., apologizes for its dropping from sixth place in the list of cities of the U. S. A. by saying that its boundaries have not been changed much since 1875. How different from Los Onglaize, where the boundaries are automatically enlarged every Monday and Wednesday and at the full of the moon, on national holidays, and twice on Christmas and New Year's.

DARN THE LUCK! We believe everything we read in the newspapers, so when we read yesterday morning that Albert Edward was going to be on the air we turned on the loud speaker for two hours and drove the other boarders mad with rage. And not a whisper did we hear from Albert Edward. What happened? Did he fall off the air or something?

LAGNIAPPE.

WE WERE RAVING to old Bill Wisner about Hickman Powell's The Last Paradise, which is all about the island of Bali, where people don't wear shirts. That ought to be a best seller, cracked Bill, in this country, where if things keep on people won't have any shirts to wear.

CHICAGO has a population, according to the new census, of 3,373,753. Pretty good! Now, how many do we have to have in order to get a subway?

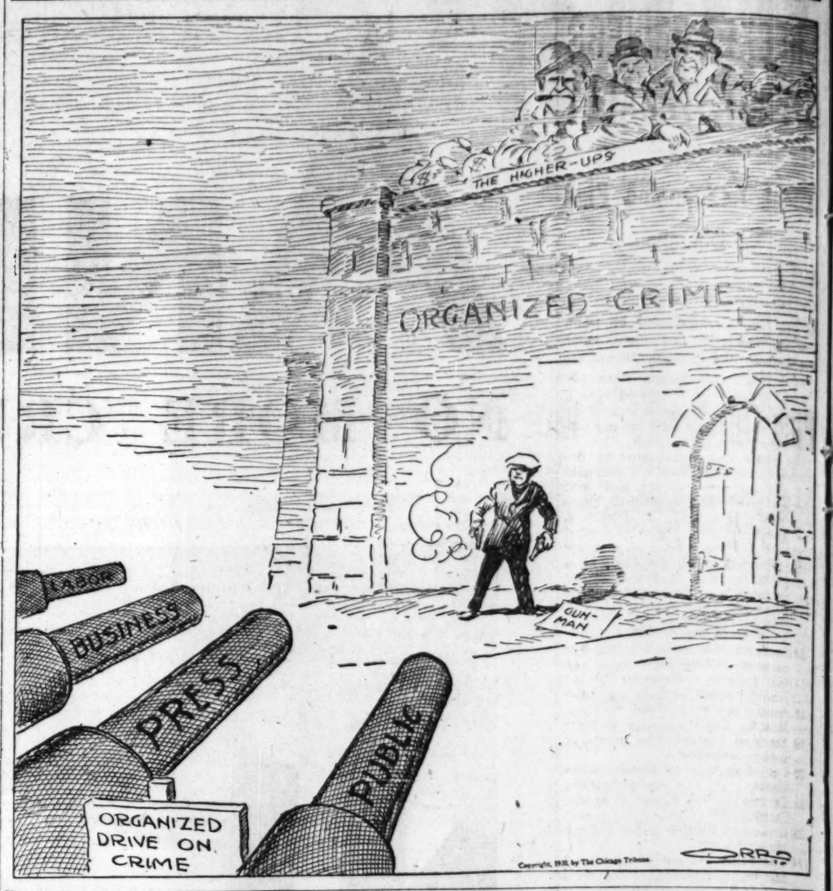
AIM HIGH!



FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 12, 1865.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Reverdy Johnson's argument for the defense in the Lincoln assassination conspiracy trial is mainly devoted to the question of jurisdiction, or the power of a military commission to try the case. He makes the further objection that certain of the members of the commission, including Gen. Hunter, are mentally and morally disqualified from trying the prisoners.

NEW YORK.—The rebel governor, William Smith ["Extra Billy"] has been furnished a passport by which to travel to Richmond to surrender himself to the national authorities.

CHICAGO.—Robert Boyd and Miss Celia E. Stowe, daughter of William H. Stowe, Esq., were married on June 8 at the Wabash Avenue Methodist Episcopal church by the Rev. R. M. Hatfield. Daniel K. Draper of Elk Grove and Miss Emily T. Bradley of Addison, Du Page county, were married at Addison by the Rev. Jonathan Blanchard.

CAIRO.—The steamers City of Cairo and Kate Hoyt furnish Memphis papers of the 9th. On the morning of 30th instant a disastrous collision occurred on the Yazoo river, three miles above the mouth of the Little Sunflower, between the steamers Poland and Idaho. The Idaho struck the Poland on the starboard quarter just forward of the boilers. Twelve lives are believed to have been lost.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 12, 1900.

CHICAGO. — Acrobatic work by Mayor Harrison, Ald. Ailing and John J. Amstein prevented the Chicago City Railway company from relaying its tracks in 22d street with old flat rails. It was the purpose of the company to begin the work at midnight. By daylight the rails were to be down between Cottage Grove avenue and State street, but Mayor Harrison ordered the police to prevent the work being done. The city council, earlier in the day, had passed an ordinance requiring grooved rails.

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—From the bloodshed and anarchy of yesterday the street car strikers turned to a renewal of their war on women. Mobs set upon and maltreated three women for patronizing the Transit company. A baby was nearly dragged from its mother's arms and two women were attacked and their clothing partly torn off.

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — Ald. John Powers of Chicago spent a few days fishing in northern Wisconsin and was returning with enough fish to satisfy the appetites of most of his constituents in the 19th ward when he ran into the game warden. As a consequence the Chicago friends will go without fish.

LONDON.—The Boers have further demonstrated that they are still fighting by rounding up near Roodeval 600 men of the Fourth Derbyshire regiment. Just how it happened is not known, but apparently is only another repetition of the disasters of Reddersburg, Korn Spruit and Lindler.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 12, 1920.

CHICAGO.—Either Lowden or a dark horse seems to be the destination of the Republican national convention. Four ballots have been taken and on the fourth the standing was Wood, 314½; Lowden, 289, and Johnson, 140½. Balloting will be resumed at 10 a. m. today. There were four confabs at the Blackstone between 10 p. m. and 2 a. m., the participants including Senators Wadsworth, Watson, New, McCormick, former Senators Crane and Weeks, and Charles Warren of Michigan. As the situation was viewed by these leaders, Gov. Lowden probably will triumph over Wood today in the struggle between these two major rivals. Senator Borah of Idaho, ally of Hiram Johnson, launched a final desperate drive to head off the nomination of Wood or Lowden. He bitterly assailed the campaign expenditures of the two major candidates and served notice that he would support neither of them in the election. He strongly intimated that he will carry the fight to the convention floor tomorrow.

ANOTHER BLOT.

Gary, Ind., June 10.—The recent murder of Alfred Lingle was another blot on Chicago's name. How many more such outrages, I wonder, will Chicago tolerate? As long as these gangsters kill each other, I say more power to them. They are at least doing what police and corrupt officials will not do. But when they start in to shoot down decent people on the streets it is time to call a halt.

Why, O why, are these hundreds of known gangsters and killers, known to every police official and politician in the city of Chicago, allowed to roam at liberty?

A gangster at heart is the biggest coward there is. Does he face his victims? He does not. He kills from behind and slinks away like the vermin he is and as such he should be treated. If a real cleanup campaign were started against these snakes and examples made of just a few the rest would run in terror. They are "brave" because they know they will go scot free.

Every dishonest official and politician in Cook county who has received hush money from these men and who has protected them and has grown rich from blood money, respected citizens many of them, each of these men is just as guilty of the murder of Alfred Lingle as if he had pulled the trigger himself. Chicago should and can rid herself of these vermin. There is something fundamentally wrong with a city which knowingly harbors and protects such criminals. MRS. WALTER THOMAS.

MARTIAL LAW.

Rockford, Ill., June 9.—"Jake" Lingle, highly capable reporter for THE TRIBUNE, has paid with his life for the lack of genuine action against the gangland of Cook county. Calvin Coolidge made himself popular when, as governor of Massachusetts, he took executive action and settled a menacing strike that eventually led him to the White House. To be a leader a man must do big things. Gov. Emmerson could become a big man by putting Chicago under martial law as was done at Herrin for far less reason. A. B. MASON.

NO CONFIDENCE IN THE POLICE.

Chicago, June 10.—I wonder why you people who publish THE TRIBUNE insist on putting a comic strip in your paper while the Lingle murder is fresh in the public mind? We who read your paper can get plenty of laughs out of the statements made by Stege and Russell on what they are going to do about this murder. Those two fellows have said the same thing before, as Collins and the rest have, but they never do anything. They just pick up a few minor gangsters and in a week or so it's dropped.

My advice to you, if you want to know who killed your reporter, is go and find him, but don't depend on Stege or Russell. R. K.

CALL FOR THE MARINES.

Chicago, June 10.—I believe there is only one thing left for our great city to do and that is to enlist the aid of the United States marine corps or petition the Canadian government for the loan of the Northwest Mounted police to clean up gangsters in Chicago and Cook county. I believe those two outfits are free from bribe taking, and that is the main evil here and why murder is rampant. H. F. CHAPMAN.

A TEST.

Chicago, June 10.—The Lingle murder gives your newspaper a chance to prove what it is worth. It gives a chance to form everlasting supporters and friends and it is up to you to show us now. We want to see if you really have backbone. READER.

OUT OF CONTROL.

Chicago, June 9.—Murder by the gun must stop in Chicago.

Now that gangland rats have struck at you, lead the fight to exterminate these un-American scum.

The city is powerless through rotten politics. Can't we call upon the governor to deputize and arm all members of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars under Col. Sprague or some other efficient leader and clean house with drumhead courts martial and executions in Grant park?

Swanson should act or get out of office; Russell likewise. Stege, after his transfer of two real men, should be thrown out. We need Pat Roche or an outside man like Theodore Roosevelt for commissioner of police.

FRIEND OF JAKE LINGLE.

PLACING THE BLAME.

Chicago, June 10.—THE CHICAGO DAILY TRIBUNE is guilty of the murder of Mr. Alfred J. Lingle and now THE TRIBUNE is offering a reward of $25,000 for the man or gang that murdered him. Did you ever see such inconsistency?

THE CHICAGO DAILY TRIBUNE advocates all the time disobedience of the best law that was ever enacted in the United States, the prohibition law, and thereby creates an enormous hoodlum gang. After THE TRIBUNE succeeded in creating a surplus of hoodlums for Chicago by failing to uphold the best law of the land, the prohibition law, it sends out a good man, Mr. Lingle, and the hoodlums created by THE TRIBUNE killed him. THE CHICAGO DAILY TRIBUNE is guilty of first degree murder in the case of our dear Mr. Lingle.

When a U. S. officer happens to kill a bootlegger while performing his duty your paper comes out in big headlines: "Another Good American Citizen Murdered." If, on the other hand, a bootlegger kills an officer of the U. S. you uphold the hoodlum for his killing and call it "justifiable murder."

GEORGE C. JOHNSON.

GANG WARFARE.

Chicago, June 10.—While listening to the program which came over the radio Monday evening, June 9, I was surprised and disappointed when I heard Mr. Silas H. Strawn express his regrets that the gang murders in Chicago were not more sanguinary than they are. If prominent and leading citizens have Mr. Strawn's expressed conception of city government, respect for law and order will suffer a marked depreciation. Mr. Strawn was introduced to the audience as a great merchant, a great lawyer, and a great diplomat. A great merchant knows that the success of his business depends upon law and order in his city. A great lawyer is supposed to hold law and order in high and holy esteem. The ways of diplomats have always been the object of suspicion and distrust. We would suggest that Mr. Strawn turn his back upon diplomacy and hold aloft the banner of the merchant's desire and the lawyer's ideal. EMMET KEATING, M. D.

WAR! A Book War Is Now On in Full Swing! A Band of N. Y. Publishers Has Declared War on Our Policy of Low Prices by Organizing a Drive to Cut Prices to $1—We Accept Their Challenge and Now Fight Back! WAR!

Until June 30th We Offer Little Blue Books at Amazing Cut Price of 30 Books for $1

WE have sold 150,000,000 Little Blue Books at 5c per copy; 20 for $1. This was the greatest bargain in the history of printing. But now comes this vast price war in the book world! We meet the challenge and hurl defiance! During the month of June—until midnight of June 30, 1930—we shall let you take your pick of Little Blue Books at the rate of 30 books per $1, postpaid, instead of at the regular price of 20 books per $1. Never before was there an offer like this one.

Every order we receive will mean a loss, but we have put aside $1,000,000 for our June drive. We shall aim for the greatest sales in publishing history! Our goal is: 50,000,000 books sold during June! After that date we shall return to our policy of 20 books per $1. Orders may be mailed up to midnight of June 30. The postmark will show that your order was mailed before midnight of June 30, so even if your order arrives in Girard, Kansas, a few days after that date your order will still be filled at the rate of 30 books per $1, carriage charges prepaid by us.

This is your only chance to get a bonus of 10 free books—30 books per $1 instead of 20 books per $1. Can you afford to pass up this amazing bargain sale? It will NEVER be repeated, because this proposition means a financial loss, and we are doing it only because of the present price war in the book world, about which you have undoubtedly read in the newspapers.

300 Little Blue Books for $10; and so on at the rate of 30 books for each dollar you send us. And we pay the carriage charges!

Pick Out Books at Rate of 30 Books for $1 While This Price War Lasts! Order Today! Sale Closes Positively at Midnight June 30—The World's Biggest Bargain

JUDGE IRA RYNER DIES; ON CIRCUIT BENCH SINCE '21

Judge Ira Ryner of the Circuit court died yesterday in the Evanston hospital after a week's illness. Death was due to a complication of a nervous breakdown, pneumonia, and kidney trouble. The judge was 51 years old and had served on the bench since 1921.

He was taken to the hospital a week ago from his home at 1415 Maple avenue, Wilmette, where he lived with Mr. and Mrs. Bernard J. Hens. Both were at his bedside with his physician, Dr. Harry Jackson. The judge was divorced ten years ago. He had no children.

Becomes I. H. C. Mechanic.

Judge Ryner was born on a farm near Burlington Junction, Mo. He was graduated as an honor student from the University of Nebraska in 1904. Through his interest in farm machinery he came to Chicago as a mechanic for the International Harvester company. During his work here he decided to become a lawyer.

He studied at the Harvard law school and came again to Chicago after his graduation. He entered the law offices of Colin C. H. Fyffe as a law clerk and later became a partner in the firm. The judge specialized in election laws.

Elected to Circuit Bench.

In 1921 he was elected to the Circuit court and was reëlected six years later. He was a Democrat. With the exception of a few months in the Criminal court the judge served the most of his time in the chancery division. Two years ago he was appointed to the Appellate court. Last Thursday he was reappointed to this bench.

Funeral services are to be held in the Wilmette home tomorrow afternoon. The body is to be taken to Cedar Rapids, Neb., for burial. The judge is survived by two uncles, Marshall Ryner of Galesburg, Ill., and S. A. Ryner of Moberly, Mo., and an aunt, Mrs. Bruce Carpenter of Rising City, Neb.

ORR TO BECOME SUPREME COURT JUSTICE TODAY

Springfield, Ill., June 11.—[Special.]—Judge Warren H. Orr of Carthage will take the oath of office as justice of the state Supreme court from the Fourth district tomorrow.

Judge Orr recently defeated Justice Paul Samuell of Jacksonville by a majority of 4,678 votes. The vote was canvassed today by the state canvassing board. The official total gave Orr 44,643 votes, as against 39,965 for Samuell.

Acting Gov. Fred E. Sterling of Rockford presided at the session of the canvassing board, acting in the absence of Gov. Emmerson, who is attending a Masonic convention in Canada.

CATHOLIC FIRM FAILS AFTER POPE WITHDRAWS AID

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MILAN, Italy, June 11.—The failure, due to the need of 45,000,000 lire (about $2,250,000), of the famous Catholic concern, Cardinal Ferrari, named after the Milan archbishop, who died ten years ago, was disclosed today.

A flat refusal by Pope Pius XI. to afford any further material assistance to the institution, which was declining under the weight of too widespread activities, was what determined today's official acknowledgment of bankruptcy, it is explained.

Becomes Big Concern.

The Cardinal Ferrari firm, which rose as a modest institution for charity shortly after the cardinal's death in 1921, suddenly swelled into a vast business concern three years ago, with the purpose of carrying out on a much larger scale Catholic enterprises of various kinds.

The reputation attached to the cardinal's name aided in getting support from many important financial circles in Italy and abroad. Encouraged by the credit the institution met with from both religious and civil sources, the managers branched out heavily, including the foundation of Catholic newspapers, the building of hospitals, schools, and sheltering houses for the unemployed.

Pope Withdraws Aid.

The pope, who was requested and agreed to assist the institution when it got into deep financial waters last year because of poor business administration, made it clear in a statement at that time that he disapproved of the worldly aspects of the organization and said his intervention would be the last.

Other important business concerns in Italy, such as the Banca Commerciale Italiana, which at first supported the Ferrari works, recently withdrew their financial support. This rushed the impending crash.

Dutch Spray Ice Dust on Cloud Banks; Produce Rain

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

THE HAGUE, June 11. — A new method of producing rain has been discovered as a result of an experiment by a Dutch meteorologist, Herr Veraart. An airplane was sent up over Zuider Zee which sprayed large quantities of ice dust from a height of 8,125 feet onto banks of clouds. Almost immediately a drizzling rain commenced to fall for a distance of 30 miles in the vicinity of Amsterdam.

POST BIDS FOR $198,000 WORK ON NEW LINK SPAN

Members of the Lincoln park board yesterday authorized the posting of bids covering $198,000 in construction work in connection with the new outer link bridge. Most of this appropriation will be used in the building of the approach to the bridge beginning at Grand avenue. Other expenditures authorized by the board included $4,000 for a survey and repairs of the park water system; $6,000 for a pier for excursion steamers at Fullerton avenue; $2,000 to modernize the park police alarm system, and $7,000 for work at the golf course.

HENRY C. FOLGER, STANDARD OIL CO. OFFICIAL, DIES

New York, June 11.—[Special.]—Henry Clay Folger, former president of the Standard Oil Company of New York and owner of one of the finest collections of Shakespeareana in the world, died today. In a week he would have been 73 years old. He had been living at Glen Cove, L. I.

All his business life Mr. Folger had been associated with oil firms. Joining Charles L. Pratt & Co. in 1879, after his graduation from Amherst, he at various times was officer and director of a number of companies of the Standard Oil group.

JURY CONVICTS SUSPECT WHO FLED COURTROOM

CRIMINAL COURT.

George Saines, Ames De Marcus, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life each in Pontiac reformatory; Arthur Seals, rape, sentenced to 1 year in the county jail by Judge Harry B. Miller.

Tony Verakes and Gus Langolf, larceny, sentenced to 1 year each in the Bridewell by Judge John P. McGoorty.

Charley Cummings, rape, sentenced to 30 years in the penitentiary by Judge Phillip Finnegan.

Max Berman, 30 years old, who walked from the Criminal court last fall when he could not get a suitable bargain sentence on a burgary charge, was convicted yesterday by a jury in Judge Walter P. Steffens Criminal court. He faces a sentence of 1 to 5 years in the penitentiary.

Berman and Louis Arnold tried to get a sentence in the Bridewell for a term under 1 year in return for a plea of guilty. When the offer was refused the men walked from the courtroom and refused to stand trial. Their bonds were forfeited. No trace of the men was found until a few months ago when Berman was picked up in New York.

PRIEST PLEADS GUILTY; STILL, LIQUOR FOUND

Schuyler, Neb., June 11.—(AP)—Raiding the rural parsonage of the Rev. Antone Folda, Catholic priest, near here, today, deputy state sheriffs seized one still and part of another 250 gallons of fruit mash, and 31 gallons of liquor.

Arraigned in County court, the priest entered a plea of guilty and was permitted to return home pending the arrival of a District court judge Monday to pass judgment.

He admitted the presence of liquor and stills at his parish home, and also admitted he had sold liquor to persons who called there, officers said.

In the basement of the home, the raiders said, they found an "ageing apparatus" devised to put "two years" on the finished product over night.

The Folda parish, a rural church, is one of the oldest in the state and the accused priest, officers said, has been there for many years.

KIDNAP JEWELER AND ROB HIM OF $35,000 GEMS

Franklin Meyers Jr., son of the head of a wholesale jewelry concern at 29 East Madison street, was kidnaped, slugged, and robbed of gems valued at $35,000 yesterday by two armed men near Lincoln and Seminary avenues. They jumped into his sedan after he had made a delivery at a jewelry store at 4630 Lincoln avenue. They made him circle the block, then hit him on the head with a revolver. After seizing the jewelry they tossed him into the street and drove away.

BANKER OBTAINS A DIVORCE FROM PREMIER'S WIDOW

MRS. MARIA KOKINATOS.

Mrs. Maria Coro-Milas Stratos Kokinatos, widow of an executed premier of Greece, was divorced yesterday by Jason Kokinatos, New York and Chicago representative of the Bank of Athens. Kokinatos, through the law firm of Socrates & Davis, charged that his wife deserted him.

Premier Stratos was executed on Nov. 28, 1922, with four other cabinet members and a general, following the disastrous campaign of the Greek army in Smyrna. His widow escaped with her two children. She went on the concert stage to sing in Rome, Paris, and London. In 1926 she sang in Chicago. Kokinatos met her during a recital. They were married on June 10, 1926.

Kokinatos testified that his wife was proud of her name and the high standing of her family in Greece, so that she refused to take his name. He said that she treated him as a person of inferior rank. They separated on Oct. 15, 1927. Mrs. Kokinatos is in Paris. Superior Judge Williams entered the decree.

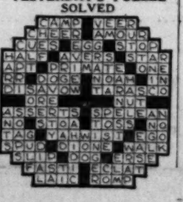
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED



Canned Vegetables
—so rich in vitamins
—are more appetizing when Seasoned with Sugar

SCIENTIFIC methods used by packers and canners insure a higher, uniform vitamin content than can be obtained on the home range.
If you could watch and study the great canning companies at work you would make these amazing discoveries. First, the vegetables chosen are as fine as any fresh vegetables that ever came into your kitchen. Second, the scientific methods of cooking and packing conserve more of the vitamins and minerals than you can on your home range.
To get the utmost from these pure, wholesome canned vegetables, heat them rather than boil them. They don't need to be re-cooked. Then season to taste and serve.
A dash of sugar to a pinch of salt is an ideal seasoning for all vegetables—canned or fresh. The sugar in this mixture heightens their flavor and makes them more enjoyable. And food that pleases the taste promotes the flow of gastric juices.
Doctors and dietitians approve the use of sugar as a flavor in the preparation of food for children and adults. For sugar makes most foods, which are carriers of roughage, vitamins and minerals, more enjoyable. Good food promotes good health. The Sugar Institute.
"Most foods are more delicious and nourishing with Sugar"

NAVY PACT DATA OFFER REJECTED BY SEN. JOHNSON

Secrecy Request Reason, He Explains.

Washington, D. C., June 11.—[Special.]—An offer on the part of the Hoover administration to turn over the secret correspondence on the London naval treaty to Senator Hiram Johnson [Rep., Cal.] on condition that the documents should not be made public has been rejected by the California senator.

According to information disclosed at the capitol, Senator David A. Reed [Rep., Pa.], one of the delegates to the London conference, made the offer to Senator Johnson yesterday during the executive meeting of the senate foreign relations committee in an effort to end the controversy caused by the refusal of President Hoover last Friday to supply the secret treaty data to the senate foreign relations committee. Senator Johnson, as the leader of the opposition to ratification of the treaty, flatly refused to accept the data unless it was turned over to the committee "unconditionally"

Restrictions Opposed.

Senator Johnson's position is that he thinks it would be unfair to turn over the confidential information to the senate committee and then place restrictions upon its use. In his opinion the senate should be trusted not to make public any part of the data which might be incompatible with the public interest. Senator Johnson has demanded unrestricted possession of all the correspondence touching on the negotiations of the treaty and he said today that he will keep up the fight for this information until he gets it or the treaty fight is over.

Disclosure that the administration had somewhat modified its position on the secret document situation came as a distinct surprise to most senators and caused a mild sensation in the capitol cloakrooms.

Committee Meets Today.

The offer of the administration to permit the senate foreign relations committee to see the secret documents is not considered likely to have any effect on the committee tomorrow when it meets to act on a resolution asserting the committee's right to have possession of all correspondence dealing with any treaty submitted to the senate for ratification. Senator William E. Borah [Rep., Idaho], chairman of the committee, expressed himself as confident that a majority would vote for it.

TARIFF FLAYED BY LA FOLLETTE AS REACTIONARY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 11.—[Special.] — Enactment of the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill threatens the Republican party with disaster such as followed the Payne-Aldrich tariff law, Senator Robert M. La Follette [Rep., Wis.] asserted today in a speech in the senate.

"This bill turns the clock back 20 years in the tariff history of this country," said Senator La Follette. "It undoes the work of a whole generation of progressive Republicans who commenced their struggle under Dolliver and La Follette in the senate and Norris in the house against the domination of the party and the government by Aldrich and Cannon.

"This bill brings the Republican party to the crossroads at which it stood in 1909 under the control of the old guard leaders who wrote the Payne-Aldrich act at the dictation of special interests and led the party to disaster in 1912. The rates in this bill have been dictated by the same interests that wrote the schedules of the Payne-Aldrich act. It is defended today by the surviving members of the same group of party leaders.

"Same Element," He Charges.

"And once more this element, with the acquiescence of a Republican president unable or unwilling to demand compliance with his own campaign pledges, are riding rough shod over the sentiment of the rank and file of the party and the interests of the mass of the people.

"When you consider the character of the rates of the bill, the methods by which they have been adopted, and the conditions under which we are revising the tariff, the parallel between the pending bill and the Payne-Aldrich act is complete."

Senator La Follette said Republican success in 1908 was made possible by a pledge by William Howard Taft for a downward revision.

"After the election a bill was written that affords only a slight decrease in half the schedules of the Dingley act and revised the other schedules upward," continued the Wisconsin senator. "As a result of that betrayal the Republican party lost the house in 1910, lost every state in the Union save Utah and Vermont in 1912, and did not regain control of the presidency and of congress until 12 years after the passage of the Payne-Aldrich act.

Sees Same Doctrine.

"We are now asked to approve a bill written on the same doctrine as the Payne-Aldrich act, bearing the name of the only majority member of the finance committee of 1909, who survives in this chamber."

Senator La Follette said the bill is "a complete betrayal of President Hoover's pledge, solemnly given to the American people throughout the 1928 campaign, that he would favor a 'limited revision' of the tariff as a means toward giving agricultural equality with industry."

FIVE DAUGHTERS ORDERED TO CARE FOR MOTHER, 70

From now on Mrs. Anna Sowka, 70 years old, will have a roof over her head. It will be the roof of St. Joseph's Home for the Aged, 2649 North Hamlin avenue. Judge George A. Curran yesterday ordered Mrs. Sowka's five married daughters each to pay $5 monthly to keep her at the home. The daughters were accused of refusing to let their mother live with them.

On one side of the courtroom yesterday as Mrs. Sowka was carried in were her five daughters and two sons: Mrs. Agnes Torson, 32 years old, 1712 Mango street; Mrs. Anna Schultz, 40, of the same address; Mrs. Helen Marshall, 33, of 5627 North avenue; Mrs. Stella Epstrom, 35, of the same address; Mrs. Frances Dzewercki, 50, of 3013 Christiana avenue; John Sowka, 38, of 1245 Devon avenue; and Joseph Sowka, 49, of 6224 Bradley place.

LOAN RECORDS OF FARM BOARD WILL BE SECRET

Total Is Known to Exceed 130 Millions.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 11.—[Special.]—Although it is known to have loaned out more than $130,000,000 to coöperatives, the federal farm board has invoked the rule of secrecy as to its financial transactions and decided to treat as confidential information concerning its beneficiaries and their monetary operations.

Officials of the board declined to disclose their records upon monies loaned to coöperatives for the purchasing and leasing of the creameries, canneries, and other food making industries as well as the sums paid out to such coöperatives. Inquiries were made after reports that food making concerns are unloading their properties upon coöperatives partially financed with government funds.

Coöperators "Protected."

"We have ceased giving out this specific information in order to avoid exposing the status and plans of the coöperatives to marketing competitors," a farm board spokesman explained. "We now are protecting the coöperatives as a bank protects its clients."

The most recent authentic statement of the farm board's loans was a summary prepared from a secret hearing before a house appropriations subcommittee and inserted in the congressional record May 27 by Representative James P. Buchanan [Dem., Tex.]. This summary showed the commitments of the board to be as follows:

Cotton, $50,548,000; wheat and other grains, $48,515,000; fruit and canned goods, $11,244,000; live stock, $8,500,000; wool, $5,385,000; dairy products, $7,157,000; miscellaneous, including beans, honey, potatoes, rice, tobacco and feed, $1,431,000. Total commitments, $132,880,000. Of the amounts loaned, according to the Buchanan report, $6,000,000 has been repaid and repayments of $10,000,000 more are expected in the next three months.

Says Big Loans Planned.

"By going over the hearings," said Representative Buchanan, "I have ascertained that the farm board expects within the next six months to approve applications for loans, commodity loans principally, aggregating $50,000,000 on all commodities except cotton and wheat, and on cotton and wheat they expect commitments of $100,000,000. This makes 150 million dollars that they expect to be called upon to loan in the next six months."

On the basis of the Buchanan figures, therefore, by next December the board will have loaned about 282 million dollars or more than one half of its 500 million dollars revolving fund.

On Jan. 18, a previous house hearing disclosed, the loans approved totaled $66,236,000.

Although it now has shut its books to the public, the farm board from time to time in the past has reported loans approved to coöperatives which give a partial picture of its activities.

Dairy Industry Aided.

The largest beneficiaries of the board in the dairy industry have been four regional milk coöperatives, one on the Pacific coast, two in the central states, and the third in the east, and a cheese coöperative in Wisconsin.

On Jan. 24, the board advanced a $2,000,000 line of credit to the Land O'Lakes Creameries, Inc., of Minneapolis and the same time approved a loan of $1,000,000 to the same group for the purchase and lease of facilities. On May 8, it advanced a $1,900,000 line of credit to the Coöperative Pure Milk Association of Cincinnati.

Previously it had approved a $150,000 facilities loan and a $300,000 commodity loan to the National Cheese Producers' federation of Plymouth, Wis.

Loan Made in West.

The other two big dairy coöperatives were the Dairymen's League Coöperative Association of New York, which was granted a $4,000,000 line of credit on April 24, and the United Dairymen's association, Seattle, which was granted a $900,000 facilities loan on May 29.

Smaller dairy coöperatives granted loans and the minimum amounts were: The Ohio Farmers' Coöperative Milk association, Cleveland, $400,000; the Lower Columbia Coöperative Dairy association, Astoria, Ore., $202,000; the Valley of Virginia Milk Producers' association, Harrisonburg, Va., $50,000; the Challenge Cream and Butter association, Los Angeles, $75,000, and the Shelby County Milk Producers' association, Memphis, $100,000.

The board has agreed to extend a $1,200,000 line of credit to sour cherry regionals in the Michigan-Wisconsin territory in addition to a loan of $720,000.

Florida fruit raisers have dipped heavily into the farm board loan fund. The Florida Citrus Growers' exchange was extended a $2,800,000 line of credit on Oct. 9, in addition to an emergency loan of $300,000. California grape organizations have also received substantial farm board aid.

According to the farm board officials, every possible safeguard has been thrown about the loans.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., June 11.—Charley Root and Kiki Cuyler joined forces today to bring a halt to the Cubs' losing streak which had extended to three games. Root's contribution was some of the same pitching for which he long has been famous, while Cuyler kicked in with a homer that scored half the champions' runs in a 6 to 2 decision over the Phillies.

Tomorrow's services against the Phils will be conducted by Bob Osborn. Willoughby will pitch for the home guards.

Cuyler did his important bit in the third when two mates were on the bases, and from this point to the finish the titleholders were never headed. However, they were pressed at times. In the home third, for instance, the Phils bounced back with their only two runs and narrowly missed a tie. After that, however, they threatened in only two innings. Altogether there were eight hits off the Chicago speed wizard, only three of them occurring in the last six innings.

Root Prominent in Attack.

Root not only served balls the Phils couldn't hit, but also made himself prominent on attack. With the first of his two hits he was responsible for arranging the setting for Cuyler's homer in the third. His single assisted in shoving home another Chicago run in the seventh. These four tallies were produced while a newcomer, entitled Earl Babe Collard, was pitching for the Phils. The two other Cub runs were picked up in the eighth when a youth named Nichols was given an opportunity to show how good or how bad he might be. He was mainly the latter.

A double by Root off the sign board in right was the first incident in the scoring of three Cub runs in the third. Until this point not much had been done to young Collard's pitching. Root was run down between the bases on Blair's tap, but English stepped in with a two bagger to right, putting Blair on third. Cuyler then took one strike before sending the ball to the four bits customers in center, which is the longest point within the park. After Kiki's wallop, Wilson hit the right field fence, but was nailed trying to make two bases.

Klein Drives in Phils' Runs.

Klein, as usual, was the potent factor in whittling down two-thirds of the champion's lead in the home portion of the third. After Collard had been retired on a fly to center, Southern singled to left. Sherlock hit safely into Wilson's territory, and Hack was in such a hurry to keep Southern from going to third that he booted. The error let Sherlock reach second. O'Doul popped to Grimm, but Klein drove a high fly to right, and it bumped against the fence. Klein made third on the blow and Southern and

BY EDWARD BURNS.

J. Smead Jolley and Schnozzola Kerr, who form about 90 per cent of the offensive strength of the White Sox these days, did all they could to pull a game out of the fire yesterday in the opener against the Washington Senators. But they got meager coöperation in the batting business and the visitors won in the ninth, 2 to 1.

But today is another day—maybe Ted Lyons can beat Lloyd Brown.

Perhaps the Washingtonians deserved to win, for they got ten hits, as contrasted with five by the Comiskeys, but the way things stacked up our lads could have grabbed the game if Bill Cissell hadn't had a double misfortune in the double play racket. In the eighth he ended a rally by hitting into a double play with men on first and third and one out, and in the ninth he cuffed the ball with an easy double play in front of him, which would have prevented the winning run.

No Hitters in Pinches.

As he discovers in every close game, Donie Bush has scarcely any one to use in the pinch batter rôle. The pitiable state of the reserves again was clearly shown yesterday after Kamm doubled in the ninth with one out. Pinch Batter Autry popped a foul to the catcher, scarcely more impressive than his pinch strikeout of Tuesday. Hunnefield, who apparently is Bush's other pinch batter, was more impressive than when he struck out on three pitched balls in a previous trial. Yesterday he drew a base on balls.

Now, to get back to little Mr. Kerr and big Mr. Jolley. The Senators had scored a run with two out in the fourth, and when the seventh inning came around it came time for somebody on the Sox to do something to even up that one run the visitors were boasting.

Schnozzola and J. Smead didn't bat in the seventh, but some of the other fellows tried to accomplish a tie or better, proceeding so far as getting men on second and third with one out. After Reynolds had been fanned by Hadley for the second successive time Cissell got the second Sox hit, a single to right. Then Clancy walked. Cissell and Clancy pulled a double steal. The bases were full with one out when Metzler walked. Crouse popped a foul to the catcher on Hadley's first pitch, and Henry popped to Myer, also on the first pitch.

Kerr and Jolley Score One.

Well by this time little Schnozz and big Smead realized the situation was desperate. So Kerr led off the eighth with a double to left and moved to third on Watwood's bunt. Jolley then tripled to center, scoring Kerr with the tying run. Lyons went in to run for Jolley, but could do no substantial running for, after Reynolds had walked and Braxton had relieved Hadley, Cissell grounded to Myer, who tagged Reynolds, and then threw to Hayes to double Cissell and retire the side.

And here's the way the Senators won in the ninth:

Bluege popped to Cissell. Hayes got his third single and went to third on Spencer's second single. Braxton grounded a ball to Cissell, which was a set up for a double play, but Bill muffed it. Cissell was spared an error because Kerr recovered the ball in time to get Spencer going into second, but the winning run was home.

HEAVYWEIGHT TITLE.

NEW YORK, June 11.—When Jack Sharkey and Max Schmeling were matched for tomorrow night's bout, billed as a heavyweight title affair by edict of the New York boxing commission, there was some question whether the public would accept it as such.

That doubt has been dissipated. The public has accepted the bout, largely, we think, because newspapers have accepted it. At least 500 sporting writers are in Manhattan from as far west as the Pacific coast to report the bout. Furthermore, there must now, or at some future time, be an accepted champion. Tunney has retired. Whether or not Sharkey or Schmeling measures up to standards of the past, they are foremost among the big men now in the public eye. The Wake accepts tomorrow night's winner as heavyweight champion of the world.

Chicagoans at Ringside.

Sportsmen, leading business men, stage and screen celebrities from all over the country hold ringside seats for the imminent hostilities.

Among the Chicagoans who made reservations are:

Big Gates of Past.

Gate receipts from those paying to see Sharkey and Schmeling in action will have been exceeded by five, possibly six, fights of other years. This is due to the fact that "top" for the present bout is $25, plus state tax, contrasted with other "tops" of $40 and $50. Boxing shows which have drawn more than $500,000 are:

Sept. 22, 1927—Tunney-Dempsey, Chicago, $2,658,660.
Sept. 26, 1926—Tunney-Dempsey, Philadelphia, $1,880,000.
July 2, 1921—Dempsey-Carpentier, Jersey City, $1,626,580.
Sept. 11, 1924—Wills-Firpo, Jersey City, $700,000.

Handling the Crowd.

Fifteen hundred persons, including police details, will be required to handle the crowd at Yankee stadium, which may run above the 80,000 mark. This includes ticket sellers, gatemen, ushers, and other Garden corporation employés. Police assigned to traffic and other duties will number 600.

Preliminary Bouts.

Four supporting bouts, totaling thirty-two rounds, if all go the limit, are on the card tomorrow night. None of the contenders has national fame compared to the principals in the main bout, which is scheduled to start at 10 o'clock, or 9 o'clock Chicago time.

Previous Records.

According to more or less trustworthy statistics—earlier bouts of pugilists often are clouded by reports of conflicting authenticity — Jack Sharkey to date has engaged in 42 fights in which he registered 12 knockouts, earned 20 decisions, had one draw, lost five times, and was knocked out twice with two combats of the no-decision type.

Schmeling's record is 52 fights, including 31 knockouts, 18 winning decisions, one losing decision, and he was recipient of the soporific punch thrice. Johnny Risko, whom he stopped in nine rounds, and Paulino Uzcudun, whom he defeated in 15 rounds, are the best Schmeling fought in this country.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 11.—Jack Sharkey, is fighting tomorrow night not only for the world's heavyweight championship but also to show whether he has what turfmen would call "class." Strange, isn't it?

Here is a young chap, who has battled his way to the top among a rather indifferent lot of heavyweights to become recognized champion of this country and yet he is asked by most critics to prove that he actually is entitled to those honors.

Carrying the turf lingo farther, Sharkey is a notorious "in and outer." At times, he has fought like a coming champion. At other times, he has looked mediocre. This inconsistency is what, in part, causes so many ordinarily good pickers to qualify all their predictions with an "if." It's one of several reasons why this milk fund benefit bout is one of the strangest title affairs ever held in this country.

Must Show Self Control.

Ring generalship, possibly self control would be a better term, is one requirement Sharkey is asked to show to merit high rating. He often has lacked it in the past. Just what tactics will he adopt to meet the heralded crowding, forcing attack of Herr Maximilian Siegfried Adolf Otto Schmeling?

Sharkey's best blow, that is, the one he can land most often and most easily, is a left jab. It is sharp and fast, but it does not come from far enough back to carry sonorific results. It does not leave him open. Its value is chiefly to stop an oncoming opponent, to get him off balance for a right cross.

The Bostonian's hooks in previous battles I have seen have come from too far back. When he was excited they seemed almost to start from the floor. Often they were of the one-two variety, thrown from an angle. It was such a hook which unquestionably fouled Scott at Miami. Their weakness is that they often were self-advertised from the distance they travel and that even Sharkey himself did not seem to have much idea where they would land. They left him wide open for an opponent's driving right.

Shortens Radius of Hook.

At Orangeburg Monday Sharkey unleashed what I consider the greatest menace to the German challenger. It still was a left hook, but it did not start from the floor. Its radius was short; momentum and power were obtained from a shift, giving leverage. Despite the sixteen ounce pillows used in the training camp, it shook Sharkey's sparring partner to the heels. It was not a one punch without a recovery blow, but because of Jack's balance he used it one-two, either twice to the jaw or first to the body and then to the jaw. His right glove still was in blocking range.

Schmeling's best blow, as seen in camp, was a hard right. It came unexpectedly as he hooked with short lefts. All Maxie's blows seem to travel less distance to reach their objective

BERLIN, June 11.—[Special.]—Germany's boxing enthusiasts are preparing for a sleepless night, as they tune in on the radio at 3 o'clock Friday morning to follow every phase of the Schmeling-Sharkey fight. Many groups and clubs will gather privately and in restaurants which will keep open for the unusual event.

Only a half dozen of Max's most intimate friends will be permitted to spend the night at Frau Schmeling's apartments.

While there is hardly any German who does not hope for his countryman's victory, there seems to be little confidence in Max's chances excepting of course, among his mother, brother, and close friends.

The best that the Berlin press looks for is that Max will stay the entire fifteen rounds and lose only on points.

Frau Schmeling today cabled the following to Max: "My dear son, for the fight all the best wishes of your mother, Brother Rudolph, and Nanny."

Speculators Get $123 for Title Bout Ringside Seats

New York, June 11.—[Special.]—Ticket speculators are getting fancy prices for desirable seats at the Sharkey-Schmeling fight. Ringside seats in the first five rows are bringing as high as $123, and as far back as the tenth row ringside seats are bringing $80 and $100. These tickets have face value of $26.25.

Fur Vaterland Max Will Fight, While Jack Defends U. S.

New York, June 11.—(AP)—The warriors bold and their managers—even bolder but in less danger—weighed in tonight with predictions which, if all were correct, would result in both Max Schmeling and Jack Sharkey winning the heavyweight championship tomorrow night.

Their statements follow:

Max Schmeling—Never before any of my ring encounters have I told any one I would win or predicted what would happen to my opponent. I am going to change this custom, or violate this rule, if you care to call it such, before this, my most important contest. I am fit. I am confident. I hope for the best. I know I will not disgrace my country. I present my compliments to Jack Sharkey, extend him the hand of good sportsmanship, hope for a fair, square stand-up match in which both loser and winner will acquit themselves manfully and may the best man win.

Joe Jacobs, manager of the German heavyweight—Max Schmeling will knock out Jack Sharkey inside of ten rounds. I make no conditions. I have no "ifs" or "buts." My fighter is 100 per cent better than he was last year when he knocked out Johnny Risko, who defeated Sharkey, and hammered to near helplessness Paulino Uzcudun, whom Sharkey refused to meet.

Jack Sharkey—This is the greatest fight of my life. I feel that the responsibility of retaining a title that has become traditional to America is placed on my shoulders and I promise that I will do my utmost to win. Max Schmeling will find a true American facing him. He will find a man determined of victory and one who will not admit defeat until every last ounce of energy is exhausted in him.

I have trained for his fight as never before. Max Schmeling will not win without producing the fight of a giant. This is not a fight between individuals. It is a battle of supremacy between the two formidable representatives of two of the largest countries in the world. This is my view of the encounter. My country will not find me wanting.

Johnny Buckley, Sharkey's manager—We'll knock him out in five rounds. You can go to sleep on it.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 11.—Max Schmeling, the German heavyweight prizefighter, rode into New York this afternoon on the Lackawanna railroad to keep a date with Jack Sharkey and, you might say, with his future and his destiny. He and Sharkey will fight fifteen rounds, no more but perhaps fewer, in the Yankee stadium tomorrow night under the auspices of the New York milk fund.

They expect to draw some 70,000 spectators, who will pay at least $700,000 to see the fight and perhaps as much as $800,000, but whatever the gate receipts may be they will divide 50 per cent equally between them, minus certain small deductions. Furthermore, each young man will be expected to refund a donation to the milk fund, as this is customary, although Schmeling neglected to drop any money on the drum when he fought Paulino Uzcudun on the same occasion last year.

Sharkey Older and Thicker.

Sharkey was born in Binghamton, N. Y., of Lithuanian parents named Cuckoschay or Zukowski or some similar jumble of sounds with the coo-coo sound predominating and Schmeling was born in Klein-Luckow, Pommern, north Germany, under the name he still wears.

Sharkey is about three years older than Schmeling, who is 24, and he seems much thicker about the waist, not with flabby blobs of slack and suet but with the natural fleshy deposit of maturity. He is the better boxer and the bigger man, with an advantage of perhaps a dozen or fifteen pounds, and he has had much more experience against first class opponents than Schmeling, who has met only two first rank men, beating both. These were Johnny Risko, whom he knocked out in nine rounds, and Paulino Uzcudun, whom he outpointed in fifteen rounds.

The heavyweight championship of the world will be at stake in this prizefight by special order of the New York prizefight commissioners, who claim world-wide authority for their erratic and presumptuous judgments. In so designating this prize fight between one man with several unexpunged demerits on his record and another man with only two important victories, the prize fight commissioners probably were animated by a wish to swell the receipts for the charity. They also created a prize of at least one million dollars for the winner, this being the estimated minimum value of the heavyweight championship, and while the winner will be unworthy, the burden of providing the million will be distributed among many voluntary customers.

Sharkey First to Arrive.

Sharkey preceded Schmeling into New York by almost 24 hours, but he had done his training at Gus Wilson's prize fighters' camp at Orangeburg, N. Y., which is a commuters' stop, only a little more than an hour up the west shore of the Hudson river. When he finished training Tuesday night, after a month in and out of the place, he was only a short drive from the hotel on upper

Cubs Turn on Phils, 6-2; Halt Losing Streak

For a few minutes in the fifth it looked as if Root's slim lead was going to be erased. A snappy bit of fielding saved it. Collard led off with a two base drive to right center and hiked to third on Southern's infield single. Sherlock grounded to Blair, who scooped up the ball, ran Southern out of line for a putout and then whipped the ball to first in time for a double killing. While this was going on, Collard hugged third. He still was there when O'Doul bounced to Grimm. Root stopped the Phils similarly in the seventh after a pass and a single had put two men on with none out.

Just before Collard bowed himself out of the party in the seventh the champions shook him loose from another run. With one out, Beck caromed a single off the pitcher's shin, the ball shooting into right field. Root bounced a slow hit through short, and Beck went to third. Blair singled to left, Beck scoring. English then lined toward right, but Sherlock leaped to get it and doubled Blair after a race back to first base.

The first man to face Nichols in the eighth was Cuyler, who walked. He stole second on the next pitch. Wilson let a third strike hook over. Stephenson bounced an easy roller toward first, but the Phils couldn't decide how the play should be made. The ball was permitted to roll, giving Stevie a single. Grimm forced Steve, and Cuyler scored. Hartnett's single to center sent Grimm to third, and Beck's hit scored him with the last Cub run.

Sullivan defeated Hibbard, 8 to 5, yesterday on the losers' grounds and won the north side championship in the Junior High School Baseball league. The victory gave Sullivan the right to meet the south side champion for the league title next week.

Castle Scores 90 in Illinois Seniors' Golf

BY HOWARD BARRY.

One hundred and fifty members of the Illinois Seniors' Golf association competed in the spring tournament yesterday at Olympia Fields. Players were divided into five groups. Thirteen were accorded places in class A, which is reserved for those who have reached the age of 70.

The others were graded at five year intervals down to class E, which is composed of mere youngsters ranging from 50 to 54. Until a man has reached the half century mark he is not eligible for membership in the organization.

The oldest to compete yesterday was Charles S. Cockle of the Peoria Country club. His 75 years rested so lightly upon his shoulders that he breezed through 18 holes in 94.

CLASS A.
70 Years and Up.
Low gross, C. S. Castle, 90.
First low net, Frank Barbour, 72.
Second low net, Charles S. Cockle, 76.
Third low net, O. C. Wells, 77.
Fourth low net, George W. Webster, 78.
Least number putts, A. H. Anderson, 32.

CLASS B.
Low gross, R. E. Williams, 82.
First low net, Frank Barbour, 72.
Second low net, J. E. MacMurray, 72.
Third low net, Dr. T. E. Roberts, 72.
Fourth low net, E. A. Engler, 74.
Least no. putts, A. H. Anderson, 32.

CLASS C.
60 to 64 Years.
Low gross, C. W. Booth, 80.
First low net, Joseph E. Callender, 74.
Second low net, Samuel Gilbert, 72.
Third low net, H. E. Sever, 71.
Fourth low net, D. T. Webb, 71.
Least no. putts, Otto R. Barnett, 28.

CLASS D.
55 to 59 Years.
Low gross, E. A. Eulass, 80.
First low net, F. W. Hill, 72.
Second low net, F. W. Gethro, 72.

Mrs. Arends Is Women's Golf Victor, 6 and 5

Mrs. John Arends, champion at Kildeer, won the major flight in the women's Chicago inaugural tournament finished yesterday at Beverly by defeating Mrs. A. R. Copeland of Calumet, 6 and 5, in the 18 hole final. Previously Mrs. Arends had won a nine hole semi-final victory of 2 up against Mrs. C. W. Blackwell of Calumet. Mrs. Copeland in the same frame defeated Mrs. Ralph H. Smalley, Calumet title holder, 1 up.

On Tuesday, Mrs. Arends led an entry of 120 as qualifying medalist. Her scoring in yesterday's final, however, was more brilliant than on the opening day. With two birdies and an eagle, she was one under par at nine holes and held a lead of six up on Mrs. Copeland.

The latter player lapsed in her usually good putting and won only one hole the fifth, where Mrs. Arends overplayed her approach putt. Rounding the turn they halved the four holes played, the match ending at the thirteenth green. The cards:

Mrs. Arends, out	543	564	665—43
Mrs. Copeland, out	654	556	756—49
Mrs. Arends, in	364	6
Mrs. Copeland, in	364

BY NO MEANS
"ONE OF THE STANDARD MAKES"

EVERY so often someone refers to the leading tire companies as "the big four," and to their tires as "the standard makes."

Candidly we feel this is a grand "break" for the other three, but something of a hardship on Goodyear.

The fact is, Goodyear builds millions more tires than any other manufacturer — more than one-fourth of all the tires sold in America, the remainder being divided among some forty other companies.

Goodyear reached this position of world-leadership not by building tires that are "one of the standard makes," but by building tires that are emphatically and conspicuously super-standard!

It is only natural that a product so conspicuously popular as Goodyear Tires should be widely copied, but, as is always the case, such attempts to copy its excellence have served only to emphasize the unique value of the original.

There is only one reason why year after year "more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind," and that is because year after year Goodyear Tires are better tires to ride on.

They are provably superior — super-standard — and the whole world knows it, which is why you should visit your nearest Goodyear Dealer without delay!

BY FRENCH LANE.

Early visitors at the scene of next ...aturday's American Derby found ...enty of entertainment yesterday ...hen Nusakan, owned by Charley Ir-...in, the Wyoming cowboy, galloped to ...ictory in the Morrison Hotel handicap ...t odds of nearly 25 to 1.

Only the small players backed the ...hestnut son of Sun Briar-Coronis, but ...om the noise this army of spectators ...ade when Nusakan's number was ...ung out after a stirring stretch bat-...e, strangers in the crowd might have ...en led to believe that everybody ...resent bet on the long shot.

Nusakan was recently purchased by ...he Wyoming cowpuncher in New ...ork at a big price but in several ...arts here has not performed up to ...xpectations. He was beaten 20 lengths ...n his previous race.

Karl Eitel Looks Good.

He had some luck in this race or ...e still might have been beaten. To ...ost of those in the crowd Karl Eitel ...an like the best horse and probably ...as robbed of victory when Jockey J. ...D. Mooney tried to drive him through ...o narrow an opening a sixteenth of ...a mile from home. Karl Eitel was ...making his move for the lead at the ...time.

Instead of getting through, Karl Eitel was shut out completely and be-...ore he could recover and race around ...he leaders, Nusakan, Club House and ...T. S. Jordan had sped past the line ...of finish.

Not one of the prospective Derby ...starters was in action during the after-...noon so it was up to the older sprint-...ers in the Morrison to furnish the big ...end of the entertainment. My Dandy ...and Karl Eitel were the disappoint-...ments, both being heavily backed and ...both finishing out of the money.

Nusakan's time was 1:12 4-5, about ...a good as they have run three quar-...ters this season. He had to come from ...behind as T. S. Jordan had been lead-...ing to almost within the shadow of the ...finish line.

Caruso Due Today.

There was great activity in the ...Derby camp during the day. The east-...ern invasion was under way and among ...the arrivals was Gifford A. Cochran's ...Jemofol, Walter J. Salmon's Swinfield ...and Snowflake, and Willis Sharpe Kil-...mer's Dark Sea. It was understood ...that W. R. Coe's Caruso might arrive ...today or tomorrow.

Gallant Knight, second to Gallant ...Fox in the Kentucky Derby and win-...ner of the Fairmount Derby, was given ...an easy trial, going three-fourths in ...1:16 2-5. He looked exceptionally good ...and many persons close to the Audley ...Farm Stable affairs are strong in the ...belief that he will win the American ...Derby.

Reveille Boy was another Derby colt ...to engage in a trial and went a slow ...mile and an eighth in 2:01. He was ...never asked to extend himself. Tan-...gery will get his final Derby prep ...today and if it is impressive, he may ...be the favorite at post time on Derby ...afternoon.

Pirates Sell Hargreaves, Veteran Catcher, to Buffalo

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 11.—(AP)—Charles Hargreaves, catcher for the Pittsburgh, Pirates, has been sold outright to Buffalo of the International league. The veteran backstop, who is in New York with the Buccaneers, will report to Buffalo tomorrow at Baltimore.

THOMPSON TO MEET CORDOZA.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 11.—(AP)—Jack Thompson, world's welterweight champion ...ever, will meet Joe Cordoza, local middle-...weight, in a ten round non-title bout here June 17, it was announced today.

REXINGER BEATS THALHEIMER IN CITY NET MEET

Scott Rexinger, Big Ten singles champion, upset Louis L. Thalheimer, seeded two, in the city tennis tournament yesterday at the Town and Tennis club. Rexinger won, 6-3, 4-6, 6-4.

Four other major upsets occurred as the quarter finals were reached. Walter Hayes, 15 times city champion, moved around the court like a school boy to trim Fred Royer, seeded fifth, 6-4, 6-0. Luke Williams, former Yale star, beat Leo Lejeck, seeded eighth, 6-4, 6-1.

Frank O'Connell, former western conference champion, outlasted Art Kaiser to win in straight sets, 6-4, 9-7. W. E. Parkhill accounted for the other upset by defeating Charles Lejeck of Hamilton park, 3-6, 6-2, 6-3.

WIGHTMAN CUP PLAYERS PAIRED; VIE TOMORROW

Loughran Loses 10 Round Decision to Ernie Schaaf

Kid Berg Beats Perlick, but Has a Hard Time

Banded Birds Aid in Study of Migration

BY BOB BECKER.

Chicago, June 11.

Dear Becker: I have found dead a dark, gray bird the size of a robin, but thinner. It has a band on its right leg. The inscription on the band is as follows: Bio L. Surv., 614 84.

Would like very much to have you give me information on this bird, its name, etc. S. ZELINGER.

Answer—You have picked up a bird which bears an U. S. biological survey band. Only that bureau in Washington, D. C., can give you any information on it. If you will write the survey, enclosing the aluminum band, information will be mailed to you regarding it. The survey has a record of every game and song bird trapped and banded by recognized bird banders in this country. When you write be sure and tell the survey where the dead bird was found. It will enable scientists to complete the record on it.

The description of the bird which you have given is so meager that we are unable to identify it, but identification will be made by the survey, as their records show which species bore the band numbered 614 84.

All outdoor fans should keep in mind the fact that thousands of song and game birds now wear bands. If you should happen to find a dead bird in your yard, be sure and look at its legs to see if either one has a small aluminum band on it. Hunters who kill water fowl during the shooting season also should keep a lookout for banded birds. The whole idea behind this bird banding business is to secure more facts on the mechanics of birds.

Maj. Ames Nine Chalks Up Ninth Straight Victory, 5-4

Matt Ruppert's triple with three on base gave the Maj. Carlos Ames baseball team of the Midwest league a 5 to 4 victory over the Great Lakes Jackies at Great Lakes yesterday. It was the ninth straight triumph for the victors.

Archers to Play Golfers in Match at Cherry Hill

A team of archers from south side suburbs will attempt Sunday to shoot around the course of the Cherry Hill Golf club, Flossmoor, with bows and arrows in fewer shots than the club's best golfers can do with woods and irons. The teams will shoot "best ball," and the archers, instead of shooting for the cup, will hole out by shooting an arrow through an indoor ball placed at the edge of each green.

Notre Dame Grid Movie Dropped as Officials Object

Hollywood, Cal., June 11.—[Special.]—A talking motion picture entitled "Toplitzky of Notre Dame" has been canceled on the verge of production because of objections raised by the president and officials of Notre Dame university. The film company had expended a considerable sum in making scenes of Notre Dame-West Point and other actual football games, which were to be woven into the story.

The film company recently asked cooperation of university officials at South Bend in recording shots and sequences there. It was informed that the coöperation could not be given, since Notre Dame does not desire itself celebrated for football prowess.

You mean... there's No Rivet..at all?

No sir! The rivet is banished from Spalding Cushion-necks... making possible the first Steel-shafted Irons that combine the advantages of the steel shaft with all the sweet feel of the finest hickory.

* * *

The little rivet that joins the head to the shaft has been part of the steel-shafted club for a long time. But in Spalding Cushion-neck Irons the association ends—the rivet goes out, to make possible the only steel-shafted irons with the sweet feel of the finest hickory.

And what great news that is to the big majority of golfers who already use steel-shafted woods.

They swear by the steel shaft in woods because it puts the swinging weight into the head and aids controllability... because it lessens wind resistance... because it can't warp... and because it is more uniform and permits more perfectly matched sets.

But despite their enthusiasm for steel-shafted woods, they haven't had much good to say for steel-shafted irons. Because in irons, all sweetness of feel is missing—the metal-to-metal contact of steel shaft against steel head causes shock and vibration that turn every shot sour.

But Spalding has removed all shock, all sour feel, and all objection to the steel shaft, by removing that rivet. Spalding, by removing the rivet, gives to the golfing world the sweet-feeling, straight-shooting, steel-shafted Irons it has been waiting for!

Naturally, the Cushion-neck idea has been imitated. But the catch with the imitations is, that they do everything but eliminate the shock—they all have the rivet in there—and none of them can achieve the same sweet feel as Cushion-neck without encroaching upon Spalding patents. Just ask your Professional what he thinks of these great clubs.

Sharkey-Schmeling Bout to Draw $800,000.

Broadway where he usually holes up for a night or two before any big fight in New York.

Schmeling, by an odd turn of circumstances, trained amid the scenes of Sharkey's youth, at Endicott, N. Y., a few miles outside Binghamton, and established an ephemeral personal following among the people who otherwise might have pledged a superficial devotion to Sharkey, the neighborhood boy.

Max Neglects the Public.

On the trip down from Endicott, Schmeling's train paused briefly at Schmelling's train paused briefly at the town of Stroudsburg, Pa., on the border of the hard coal region, where Gene Tunney trained for his first prizefight with Jack Dempsey. There were about 100 persons at the railroad platform, peering and stretching for a glimpse of Schmeling, but he refused to leave his seat in his drawing room where he was playing a harmless game of poker, to salute them.

A few passengers ventured in from the other cars, along the aisle of Schmeling's Pullman, where the sport writers were sitting, to peek in at his door, and he was civil to them; but the young man is beginning to shirk the obligations of the championship before he has won it, refusing to stir himself at several towns where little crowds had gathered.

Mike Jacobs, the expert assayer and business circulator of the Garden corporation, this evening estimated the gross receipts at $800,000. There are sixty rows of ringside seats at $25 each, thirty rows fewer than Tex Rickard used to sell. The rearmost of those, as well as 20,000 general admissions, remain to be peddled. However, the $13 and $5 seats were sold out this evening.

The Garden corporation, which wished to produce this fight on its own account but yielded up to the milk fund under firm but tactful pressure, has lent its resources and staff to the promotion with great enthusiasm.

Both prize fighters have always enjoyed fine health, and their training these last six weeks has largely consisted of mere motions, performed for the benefit of the ballyhoo.

Wake Predicts Spectacular Slugging Bout than those of Jack's. They carry power, especially that straight right which is more powerful than any right I have seen Sharkey use.

Sharkey will carry about ten pounds more weight into the ring. He is a better boxer if he uses what he knows. He is faster. He is in condition. He has been excitable in the past. Schmeling impresses one with earnestness, his coolness, which amounts almost to placidity.

He will take a blow and land one, feeling that he hits harder, at least with his right. He will carry the attack to Sharkey if he follows his planned tactics. The longer the bout lasts the better it will suit him. If his training camp is any criterion, he will be without nerves. He has not engaged in a battle for a year. Ring critics always fear ring rustiness. He is in condition.

Most Critics Pick Sharkey.

On "dope," as we know it at racetracks, Sharkey is an odds on choice. A majority of critics pick him to win. A majority probably secretly hope he will not, for Jack, until he adopted his present rôle of waving the American flag, never sought popularity. He seemed to delight in rebuffing those with whom he should make friends for professional reasons.

After all this theorizing the real answer will be in Yankee Stadium arena. There a chance blow, a blow below the belt, any one of the many things possible in a glove contest, may upset the theorizing, the planned tactics, and all else. It is a battle interesting in its possibilities. I'll be greatly surprised if it does not produce a spectacular rather than a drab contest.

HANNA ENTRY WINS FEATURE AT HORSE SHOW

Mrs. Carl H. Hanna's chestnut mare, Roxie Highland, took first place in a field of eighteen in the feature event of the second day's program of the twenty-first annual horse show at the South Shore Country club last night. X-Ray Examination Shows Owens' Injury to Be Sprain

Detroit, Mich., June 11.—(AP)—X-ray examinations tonight disclosed that no bones were fractured when Brick Owens, American league umpire, was hit by a batted ball during the Detroit-New York baseball game at Navin field today. Physicians diagnosed the injury as a slight sprain of the knee and predicted he soon would be out of the hospital. Owens was struck by a hard drive from Harry Rice's bat in the seventh inning and had to be carried from the field.

Iowa Removes 3 Members of Athletic Board

Iowa City, Ia., June 11.—(AP)—Three members of the board in control of University of Iowa athletics who were in the center of the Hawkeyes' differences with the Western Conference last year have been removed from the board.

While no official announcement of their removal was made, publication of the names of the members of the new university catalog today revealed that Prof. Louis Pelzer, W. H. Bates, and H. C. Horack had been replaced.

Pelzer was the Iowa member of the Big Ten faculty committee at the time the school was suspended from the conference, and he was a central figure during much of the controversy.

Bates is university secretary and was an ex-officio member. Horack, representative of the college of law, is leaving the university to become professor of law at Duke university next fall.

Pelzer has been replaced by Prof. Henning Larsen of the College of Liberal Arts. Bates is succeeded by Chester A. Phillips, dean of the College of Commerce, and Horack's position is taken by Prof. Rollin Perkins, also of the college of law.

President Jessup refused to comment on the changes in personnel, but members of the administrative body said the change was a "further effort by Iowa to keep the control of its athletics in the faculty body," a promise it made to the Big Ten conference at the time it was reinstated.

ASSURE CITY OF NATURAL GAS IN HUGE PROJECT

Launch $100,000,000 Development.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Chicago and its environs is assured of the largest natural gas supply ever piped. It will be brought through a 1,000 mile pipe line from the Texas gas fields, with a series of "boosting" stations that will put the gas under enough pressure to assure an initial daily delivery capacity of upwards of 200 million cubic feet.

The whole project will represent an investment of around $100,000,000. It was formally launched yesterday, after several months of negotiation, by Henry L. Doherty & Co., which is the directing interest of the Cities Service company. Participating in the project also are the Insull interests, Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, Texas corporation, Skelly Oil company, Phillips Petroleum company, and Columbian Carbon corporation.

Assets of 4 Billions.

This combination represents total assets exceeding $4,000,000,000. Subject to approval by the Illinois and Chicago authorities, the People's Gas Light and Coke company will distribute the natural gas in Chicago, probably as a part of its general supply. Other Insull companies are expected to furnish the gas in their territories. More than fifty cities along the route of the pipe line also will be served.

The construction of the big pipe line will be handled by the Continental Construction company, which has been formed as a Delaware corporation and has opened offices in Kansas City. The Natural Gas Company of America also has been formed to finance and operate the line with funds provided by the associated companies. There is no present indication of any offering of securities for financing purposes.

Contracts are being let for 1,000 miles of 24 inch high pressure pipe, which will require about 210,000 tons. An additional 1,000 miles of pipe of smaller sizes will be used in auxiliary and lateral lines, requiring about 100,000 tons. Construction also will start immediately on a number of gas compressor stations totaling 70,000 horse power, and these later will be raised to 100,000 horse power after the line is completed.

Extent of Acreage.

The main line will run from southern Oklahoma to Chicago and adjacent cities. The supply of natural gas will be secured from the Texo-homa and associated companies, which have an aggregate proven gas acreage totaling about a million acres in Texas, Oklahoma, and Kansas. Their natural gas reserves have been estimated by engineers and geologists at 7 trillion cubic feet.

The enormous demand for pipe for this and other projects is likely to prove the mainstay of the steel industry, according to the mid-week steel trade reviews.

"With seasonal reaction increasingly evident and affecting most branches of trade," the Iron Age says, "activity in structural work and line pipe is conspicuous as the principal sustaining influence in the steel market. Pipe line business recently placed, estimated as approaching 1,000,000 tons, is taxing the capacity of the country. New inquiries for structural projects are the largest for any week this year, at 112,000 tons, and exceed by 20,000 tons the highest weekly total in 1929.

"Despite improvement in these two important outlets for tonnage, the trend of steel ingot production is still downward. The general average for the country at large is 69 per cent, compared with 72 per cent a week ago. Seasonal slackening in most steel consuming lines points to still further recession in output.

"Production figures for May again emphasize the fact that this year's record looks unfavorable chiefly because of comparison with 1929.

Vacationist Seen Important Factor in Economic Life

BY SCRUTATOR.

The vacation habit furnishes the basis for business services that amount to three billion dollars a year in the United States. That figure was recently quoted as reasonably authoritative by the assistant secretary of commerce.

Accepting it as even fairly accurate, we find that the vacation business is bigger than the gigantic iron and steel industry, is 11 per cent greater than the meat packing industry or the clothing business, 51 per cent greater than the oil production of the country and nearly twice as big as the baking industry.

To the spending of our migrants within the country must be added those of the people who go abroad. Canada alone expects to get this year, as it probably got last year, more than 300 million dollars from our tourists.

Estimates Percentage.

Europe and the rest of the world must have gotten as many more American dollars. Four per cent, at least, of the total income of the people of the United States is spent while the spenders are away from home.

Transportation agencies and hotels are estimated to get one-fourth of the vacation money spent within the country's borders; retail stores are believed to get a larger percentage than this; restaurants cut in for 20 per cent; garages and accessory outlets about 12 per cent; amusement enterprises 8.5 per cent, and incidentals the remainder.

A larger part of the working population than is generally recognized is employed directly in serving travelers. The National Stand Owners association asserts there are between 110,000 and 150,000 roadside stands, mostly catering to the wants of tourists. A conservative estimate of the number of workers employed in them would be 300,000. From 50,000 to 60,000 of the roadside stands are open only in the vacation season.

We know that some families and some workers do not take vacations. But nearly all who can afford it take to the roads, the woods and shores and the mountains for a week or two as a minimum each year. That these are so numerous is evidence of a standard of living among the masses far above any subsistence level ever prevailing in the past.

Millions for Roads.

It was necessary, before those masses could become vacation conscious, that the proportion of income going to purchase food, clothing and other necessities should fall.

Millions have been expended on roads, particularly in the west, that are valuable only to tourists. Gasoline sales depend so largely for their peak on touring that the oil industry has been praying almost audibly for hot weather to promote vacations. The vacationists, consuming while he produces nothing, is an important factor in economic life, especially in a time when nearly everything is being produced in over abundance.

COURT TRIAL ON ADDRESSOGRAPH DEAL IS STARTED

New York, June 11.—(AP)—Trial of a $3,000,000 suit brought by Joseph Harris of Chicago against Perley Morse, New York accountant, opened today in federal court.

Harris charges that Morse and John Russell, now dead, defrauded him of that amount in the purchase of a half interest in the Addressograph company in 1923. The men agreed to purchase the half interest, Harris said, he to engineer the deal and the others to furnish the money.

After preliminary negotiations, he charges, Morse and Russell purchased the half interest, but did not give him his agreed share.

Harris won a verdict in a previous trial, but decision was reversed on appeal.

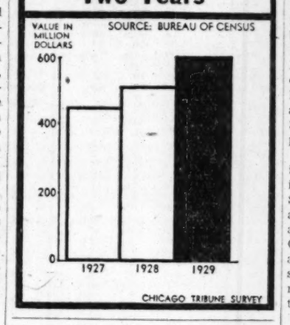
North Western Ry. Sells $1,425,000 Equipment Issue

The Chicago and North Western railway has sold to the First National bank and Salomon Brothers & Hutzler, subject to the approval of the interstate commerce commission, an issue of $1,425,000 equipment trust 4½ per cent certificates, series X, dated Feb. 1, 1930, and maturing $95,000 annually from Feb. 1, 1931, to 1945, inclusive.

Youngstown Sheet & Tube Lets Pipe Mill Contract

Youngstown, O., June 11.—(AP)—Youngstown Sheet and Tube company today announced that contracts had been let for a $2,000,000 electric weld pipe mill at its Brier Hill plant here. The mill will have a capacity of 300 to 500 tons daily of 18 to 26 inch pipe, and is to be in operation before the end of July.

American Farm Equipment Business Has Shown Big Increase in Two Years



A. OF C. PROTESTS UNEQUAL RATES ON FAST TRAINS

A protest against the apparent discrimination against railroad travelers coming to Chicago from the east, compared to those leaving the Atlantic seaboard for other points in the Mississippi valley, has been placed in the hands of the interstate commerce commission by the Chicago Association of Commerce. Inequalities in fares on fast trains are effecting a diversion of transcontinental passenger travel away from Chicago and through other midwestern connecting points, the trade group charges.

The injustice to Chicago, the protest points out, lies in the fact that the main lines operating from the east started in recent years to give comparatively rapid service from New York to St. Louis and other more southerly cities at extra rates that are only about half those charged to passengers coming to Chicago. This is said to have detracted from expansion of the extra fare service maintained between New York and Chicago.

The Association of Commerce does not attack the principle of extra fares for expedited and luxurious passenger service, nor does it undertake to say what the measure of the extra fares should be. Its position is that the interstate commerce commission should determine a reasonable basis of charges for expedited or luxurious service for which the regular passenger fares do not supply adequate compensation and remove the discrimination.

Will Offer American Share in German Loan Today

New York, June 11.—(AP)—Announcement was made tonight that the American portion of the long awaited $300,000,000 German loan, amounting to $98,250,000, will be offered tomorrow by a syndicate headed by J. P. Morgan & Co.

The American portion of the loan, known officially as the German government International 5½ per cent loan of 1930, will be offered at 90 and accrued interest. The bonds run for 35 years and are priced to yield 6.20 per cent.

Other portions of the loan are being offered either tomorrow or Friday in France, Great Britain, Holland, Sweden, Switzerland, Germany, Italy, and Belgium. The loan is the direct and unconditional obligation of the German government and its appearance is heralded by bankers as a final step in the settlement of the German reparations question growing out of the world war.

Marks Final Step.

The issuance is an integral part of the Young plan and is the final step in the adoption of the plan, transferring the reparations question from the political to the commercial field. Two-thirds of the total issue goes toward the commercialization of annuity payments in settlement of the reparations debt of Germany to creditor powers and will be placed to their credit in the bank of international settlements. The remaining $100,000,000 raised by the bond issues will be used by the German government for the requirements of the German railway company and the German postoffice and telegraphs.

A cumulative sinking fund, computed to be sufficient to retire the entire issue at or before maturity, is to be applied to the purchase of the bonds at or below 100 and accrued interest, or otherwise to the redemption at the price of bonds drawn by lot. The bonds are redeemable at 100 and accrued interest upon not less than 45 days' previous notice, on June 1 of any year through the sinking fund and on June 1, 1935, and yearly thereafter in amounts of not less than $7,500,000 principal amount at the option of the government. Coupon bonds are in denominations of $1,000, $500, and $100. The principal and interest is payable in gold at the office of J. P. Morgan & Co. without deduction for any German taxes, present or future.

Agency for Payment.

Bankers point out that the sole connection of the Bank of International Settlements, acting as trustee, is as the agency through which payment will be effected in accordance with the terms of the Young plan, but that connection in no way qualifies or limits the direct unconditional obligation of Germany to bondholders.

No further issues for the mobilization of the German annuity payments may be made on any market without the consent of the international bank except for the purpose of internal conversion of the national debt of a creditor nation. Any offering in the United States, even with the consent of the international bank, bankers say, must have the approval of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

The German bonds were admitted to trading on a when issued basis on the securities market of the New York produce exchange today, the initial sale being 5 bonds at 91¼. They are traded under the title "German government international 5½ per cent bonds."

Vote Added Stock Issue for Wisconsin Investment

Directors of the Wisconsin Investment company have authorized an offering of additional common shares. Shareholders of record June 5 will be entitled to buy one new share of common at $8.70 for each ten shares held.

The present market on the common stock is 10 bid, 12 asked, making the rights worth 30 cents on each present share. The rights have been underwritten, and when the financing is completed the company will have assets in excess of $3,100,000 on the basis of present market values.

See Pan-American Plan to Expand in South America

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 11.—Reports that the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport company had acquired the Tidewater Oil Export corporation for $5,000,000 were believed today to forecast expansion of Pan-American operations in Argentine and Brazil. Tidewater Oil Export is a subsidiary of the Tidewater Oil company, whose export trade has been chiefly confined to South America, where Standard Oil and Royal Dutch Shell interests have been holding the field.

New York, June 11.—Bear forces, operating under cover of a smoke screen of "inspired" rumors of one sort and another, launched a fresh offensive against the stock market today.

Concentrating their heaviest fire against the so-called pivotals and a selected list of especially vulnerable issues scattered throughout the list, they succeeded in breaking down the defenses of the financial interests fighting to support prices and drove a hundred or more stocks to new low levels for the year.

Losses ranged as high as 20 points, with few exceptions to the general weakness.

List Sharp Recoveries.

Bull leaders succeeded in rallying their forces during the last hour, and some sharp recoveries were registered. A few of the better known industrials regained as much as half the ground lost in the earlier trading. Most of the list was pegged above the day's lows, the finals in some instances showing recoveries of as much as ten points.

Incidentally, the turnabout provided the starting point for one of the liveliest scrambles for price control the floor of the exchange has witnessed in months—since the exciting days of the big all-time record collapse of last October-November, in fact. Almost 2,000,000 shares changed hands in the last fifty minutes, throwing the stock

CHICAGO STOCKS ARE FEATURED BY TRICKY CHANGES

Middle West Utilities Is Most Active.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Tricky price changes and increased volume of trading marked yesterday's session on the Chicago Stock exchange. At the close stocks were off from one to four points net after fluctuating erratically during the day.

Uncertainty over the tariff question and the floating of the reparations loan were regarded by most observers as the unsettling factors in the market. The buying which was expected in some quarters to steady the market and generate a further rally proved inadequate.

Disappoints Bulls.

Firmness at the opening was short lived and was followed by a sharp decline which held sway until after midday. The rally which came late in the day was disappointing to the bulls. Just before the final gong the bears got in a few effective swipes. Closing prices were moderately higher than the lows for the day but were well under Tuesday's last quotations.

Middle West Utilities was the most active issue of the day but Grigsby-Grunow was not far behind. The former was off 2 points at the close and a fraction above its low for the day. Grigsby finished at 21⅞, down 1⅜.

Trading in Majestic Household was active throughout the day and particularly spirited in the last few minutes. The issue recovered 2 from its low and finished the day off 4 points net. Losses of more than 3 points were sustained by General Theaters and Super Maid. Castle sold 5 points lower, then rebounded to close unchanged at 45. Winton Engine and Seaboard Utilities were lonely exceptions to the general trend, each with small gains. Auburn found a new low at 132.

Approve Listing.

Exchange governors yesterday approved the listing of the no par common stock of the Transformer Corporation of America. Initial trading in the 75,333 shares listed will start today. The authorized stock of the company totals 150,000 shares.

Stockholders of Corporation Securities company yesterday approved the plan, previously announced, to increase the number of directors from seven to eleven members. The new directors are Stanley Field, Edward F. Swift, Edward J. Doyle, and John H. Gulick. All of the men are directors of Insull companies, in which Corporation Securities has large holdings.

In explaining the move, Samuel Insull, vice chairman, said that all of the new directors are in position to be helpful because of their knowledge of the companies in which Corporation Securities is interested.

Associated Telephone Utilities company yesterday reported net income for the first quarter of 1930 before depreciation of $617,196 as compared with $302,614 in the corresponding period last year. The company reports that it is now operating a total of 446,194 stations.

MANY STOCKS DRIVEN DOWN TO LOW LEVELS

Late Rally Helps Reduce Market Losses.

ticker completely out of gear and generally demoralizing operations. Prices changed as much as 2 or 3 points between sales in some instances. The bulls, by virtue of heavy buying orders for leading stocks gradually gained the upper hand, however, and carried the list steadily forward until the closing of the gong.

However, on analysis of the final figures, fifty representative issues of the list were found to have sustained a net loss of $7.09 on the day—the widest since Dec. 12 last.

Give Way Easily.

As on Monday, the bear element began its attacks in the early dealings, owing to fresh uncertainty over the tariff bill, the banking interests which had come to the market's rescue in such noble fashion yesterday did not show any particular aggressiveness in meeting the new drive and prices gave way rather easily all along the line.

Thanks to this situation, the bears had things pretty much their own way for four of the five hours of trading. Just how effectively they had pushed their drive is shown by the prices of an assorted list of their chief victims just before the rally got under way.

Case Threshing Machine was down 24 points to 213, Westinghouse Manufacturing more than 11 points at 152⅝, Houston Oil 13 points at 86½, Eastman Kodak 16⅝ points at 214¼, Vanadium Steel 15⅜ points at 85½, Auburn Automobile 15½ points at 125½, Byers 9⅞ points at 81, Foster Wheeler 10 points at 85 and American Machine and Foundry 13 points at 235.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, June 11.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw was quiet today. The only sale confirmed was 19,000 bags of Cuban made late the previous day for June 16 arrival at 3.24c. Rumors of an increase in the Russian beet sugar acreage, and the easier London market, as well as the inactivity in spots, were the factors mentioned for the decline in futures, with final prices showing net losses of 2 to 3 points. The day's turnover aggregated 29,550 tons. Prices follow:

News and Gossip of Stock Marts

Trading Block.

Traders who have been busy in Wall Street Superpower for the last four sessions found the stock trading block as the 28 level was reached, and their rumored plan to raise the price to 25 has not proven fruitful. Instead, Superpower is now holding its own under buying stimulated by interests busy in American and foreign Power on the big exchanges.

Credit Given.

Short credit must be given to Mississippi Kansas Pipe Line for the way it has acted in the break. The company itself seems in good position. Standard P. Parish, president, recently pointed out that $27,000,000 is available for the present construction program and that the corporation owes money except for minor bills.

Radio Patents.

Most of the few stocks able to make headway during the last few days of declining prices, or at least firm, is Hazeltine. This company has several important radio patents which royalties are received. Income is the company's sole source of revenue.

THOMPSON PRODUCTS.

Estimated receipts at Chicago today—5,000 cattle, 22,000 hogs, and 10,000 sheep.

Hogs on the cash trade were extremely slow to sell yesterday and bulk of sales showed slight reductions after a stronger opening. The extreme top was unchanged at $10.15, but the general average moved down 5c at $9.85, comparing with $10.20 last Friday.

Medium and weighty butchers were scarce and showed the least weakness. Packing sows were more plentiful and finished fully 10@15c under the general selling the previous day.

All interests bought sparingly and about 9,000 were still in the pens at the close, including a good many held off the market in hopes of a slight reaction later in the week. The spread in prices between Chicago and river markets was unusually narrow.

Hog Futures Active.

Trading in hog futures was active again, but prices ruled from steady to 10c lower in sympathy with the recent break on the cash trade. Volume of trading this week has been largest in two months. During the first three days of the week 27 carloads were sold for future delivery, mostly for July and September, at $10.20@10.40.

July light sold freely at $10.35 yesterday. Light weights for August brought the same price, while $10.30 bought September light. July mediums sold at $10.20. September mediums opened at $10.35, moved up to $10.40, but closed at $10.35. July heavy grades brought $9.90.

On the "to arrive" market, light weights for all week carried bids of $10.20, which was above the extreme top on the cash trade the last two days. Buyers were willing to pay $9.75 for heavy grades to be delivered during the first three days of next week.

In spite of decreasing cattle receipts all classes were forced down 25c more yesterday, some kinds reaching new low levels for the year. Choice 1,367 lb beeves topped the market at $13.00, which compares with a peak of $13.75 a week ago. Prevailing quotations are below any corresponding period in four years.

Lambs Sorted Closely.

Lamb prices were pounded down 25@50c further and offerings of natives were sorted closer than usual yesterday. Only "hand picked" stock passed $12.25, with $12.50 buying the best. Bulk of good to choice kinds brought $11.75@12.00.

Three large bands of Idaho range lambs reached $12.25@12.35. Cull natives were almost unsalable at $6.00@8.00. Aged sheep declined 50c more, with top ewes quoted around $4.00. Yearlings declined 25@50c to a top of $10.00. Feeding lambs were slow and weak to lower, 61 lb California feeders going at $9.00.

KRAPHENE CORP.

Stockholders of Kraphene corporation, formerly the Kraft-Phenix Cheese corporation, have voted to dissolve that corporation, which has been taken over by the National Dairy Products company.

COTTON PRICES SLIP

Cotton markets opened stronger on better cables than expected, but prices eased and closed around the bottom. The weekly government weather crop report was generally favorable.

Closing prices were around the lowest, with July off 13 to 14 points, with losses in other markets 10 to 15 points. July in Chicago and New York declined 13 points, and New Orleans 14 points.

Spots were off 15 points, New York being 15.10c; New Orleans, 14.30c; Galveston, 14.40c, and Houston, 14.20c. Liverpool closed 3 to 5 points higher, with spot sales 3,000 bales. Prices follow:

RAILROAD NOTES

The interstate commerce commission has authorized the Pennsylvania railroad to operate over seventeen miles of the Big Four railroad between Muncie and Gridley, Ind. The trackage operation covers the freight service improvement, which will give the Pennsylvania a 63 mile route from Muncie to Richmond instead of its existing 131 mile line.

Harvey G. Couch has been elected a director of St. Louis-San Francisco and has been named to the executive committee in place of Eugene V. R. Thayer, resigned.

The interstate commerce commission has rejected the proposal of Colorado and Southern to abandon 185 miles of narrow gauge line between Denver and Leadville, Colo., which has been operated at a loss since 1900.

Chicago and Alton	7,472	7,915
Katy	9,732	10,052
Missouri Pacific	31,510	30,887

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, June 11.—(AP)—COTTONSEED OIL was fairly active and about steady during most of the session today, but toward the close developed a firmer tone on local and southern covering for over the census bureau report. RAIN REPORTS INFLUENCE DROP IN WHEAT MART

Little Attention Paid to Government Analysis.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Reports of rain in the Edmonton, Alberta, territory with the forecast for scattered showers over night proved too much yesterday for the bulls in wheat. Prices dropped 1½@2c from the finish of Tuesday with the finish at net losses of 1⅛@1⅞c, July being $1.04⅜@1.04½ and September, $1.07⅝@1.07¾ at the last. July, at the inside figure of $1.04¼, was the lowest since May 22. Winnipeg was 1⅜@1½c lower for the day, with buying against bids the main factor in checking the decline in the latter market, as well as at Chicago.

No attention was paid to the government report of Tuesday, although the condition of 71.7 for winter wheat was the lowest with three exceptions since 1870, and of spring wheat the lowest with six exceptions since 1867.

An impending movement of the new winter wheat crop in the southwest caused the Kansas City market to weaken with the close 1½@1⅝c lower with September selling down to $1.00. Talk of sales of cash wheat for export to Mexico by the government at prices well below what other handlers quoted was heard during the day.

Fear July Liquidation.

There was rather persistent commission house selling of futures here which led some observers to express the belief that July liquidation was getting under way, and some stop loss orders were caught on the way down, and the nearby month led the decline, hedging also being in evidence.

There was a small bulge at Winnipeg early on buying that suggested the removal of hedges against export sales, and the day's business was finally estimated at 1,250,000 bu, mainly Manitobas to the United Kingdom, but included quite a little No. 2 hard winter, and it was said that there was a good inquiry for new crop winters. No. 2 hard at the gulf was quoted at 2@2½c over Chicago July. Liverpool was dull and closed ⅜@⅝d lower with a limited demand for spot grain.

Corn Lacks Support.

Lack of support was an outstanding feature in the corn market, and the close was ⅞@1⅛c lower with July showing the most weakness, finishing at 80⅛@80¼c, with September, 80⅞@81c. The break in wheat had some effect and more than offset the sale of 150,000 bu cash grain for shipment. Weather conditions remain generally favorable for the new crop.

Oats closed ¼@½c lower with July at 39¾c, and September, 39¼c. A break of 2⅝c in July barley at Winnipeg to 38¾c, a new low on the crop, and ¾c under the inside figure for July oats in Chicago attracted considerable attention. The pool was credited with having sold the barley.

A heavy long interest is said to exist in rye against sales of corn owing to the great disparity in prices, July rye at the last being 59½c, a new low on the crop, and 20½c under July corn. Final trades were 1½@1⅝c lower with September, 64c. A good part of the trade was in spreading operations with some commission house selling on stop loss orders on the way down.

Associated Dyeing & Printing Corporation

The Committee takes pleasure in announcing that Mr. William E. Dobbin, Vice-President of International Trust Company, has become a member of the Committee.

There has been deposited under the Plan and Agreement dated April 25, 1930, more than two-thirds in amount of the outstanding Ten-Year 6% Notes and more than fifty per cent. of the outstanding shares of Common Stock of Associated Dyeing & Printing Corporation.

Notice is hereby given that the Committee has declared the Plan and Agreement to be operative and intends to cause legal proceedings to be instituted calculated to obtain a speedy reorganization as contemplated by the Plan.

Under the terms of the Plan, only those holders of Notes and Stock who deposit the same thereunder within the period which the Committee shall fix will be entitled to the benefits thereof. To give a further opportunity to holders of undeposited securities the time for the deposit of Notes and Stock without penalty under the Plan and for the exercise of the subscription rights thereby conferred (which can only be exercised at the time of deposit) has been extended until the close of business on June 26, 1930.

Deposits must be made with Bank of Manhattan Trust Company, the Depositary, at its principal office, No. 40 Wall Street, New York City.

Dated, New York, June 11, 1930.

Lease Former Quarters of Central Trust.

Quarters formerly occupied by the Central Trust company on the ground floor of the Borland building at the southeast corner of La Salle and Monroe streets were subleased by the bank yesterday to Alfred L. Baker & Co., Inc., one of the city's oldest brokerage houses. The brokerage firm, which has been located in the Home Insurance building for more than 30 years, will move into its new home about Aug. 1.

ALFRED L. BAKER.

The space leased contains 5,000 square feet. It will be remodeled somewhat to meet the needs of the new occupant. A private entrance will be installed at 111 South La Salle.

Formed in 1896.

Alfred Landon Baker, who died three years ago, founded the firm in 1896 in a small office in the old Continental Bank building. He moved to the Rookery building in 1897 and to the Home Insurance building in 1898. Mr. Baker was president of the Chicago Stock exchange from 1898 to 1901. His early associates were Tracy Drake and Solomon Sturgis.

Since Mr. Baker's death, Hugh McBirney Johnston has been senior partner of the firm. Other present partners are: Thomas Coyne, Arthur Betts, Robert M. Curtis, W. W. Crawford and John A. Stevenson. Neither the length of the term nor the rental in yesterday's transaction was disclosed.

Mather Tower Lease.

The Air-Way Branch of Chicago, distributors for the Air-Way Electric Appliance corporation of Toledo, has leased the entire tenth floor of the Mather Tower to which it will move its offices from 5537 South Dearborn street. J. L. Galagher is in charge of the Chicago branch which is in charge of fourteen outside offices in this district.

The tenth floor of the Igoe building, at the northwest corner of Van Buren and Jefferson streets, has been leased to the Teleregister corporation, manufacturers of automatic boards for brokerage houses, etc. Robert White & Co. were brokers.

ROBERT SCHENCK ADDS TO HOLDING ON HAMPDEN CT.

Robert F. Schenck has added to his large holding on Hampden court by purchasing the premises at No. 2724 from Theodore J. Ticktin for an undisclosed consideration. This purchase gives Mr. Schenck a holding fronting 150 feet on Hampden and extending back 250 feet to Lehmann court. As announced in this department last November, Mr. Schenck has under consideration plans for improvement of the Hampden court frontage with a large apartment house. The Lehmann court frontage may be improved with a large garage. However, these plans are in the formative stage. The premises bought yesterday formerly housed Martine's dancing school. J. J. Hutchinson of McMenemy & Martin, Inc., was broker. Frisch & Frisch and Leroy V. Penwell were brokers.

At a special meeting of the Board of Directors of McGRAW ELECTRIC COMPANY, held June 10, 1930, there was declared the regular quarterly dividend of 50c per share on the Common Stock payable July 1, 1930 to stockholders of record June 20, 1930. The stock books do not close.
JUDSON LARGE, Secretary.

Monon Votes Usual Extra of $1.

Despite numerous announcements of dividend reductions and omissions yesterday, there were a few developments favorable to stockholders. Among the latter was the action of the Chicago, Indianapolis and Louisville railroad in declaring its usual extra dividend of $1 and the voting by directors of the Pennroad corporation of an initial payment of 20 cents on the capital stock payable to holders of record Aug. 8.

Continental Diamond Fiber company reduced its annual dividend rate from $3 to $2 by declaring 50 cents quarterly on its stock.

Foreign Reductions.

Two foreign companies also announced reduced dividends. The French Line declared a dividend of 50 francs for 1929 on its 600 francs par value shares, against 80 francs in 1928. The Adamello General Electric company of Italy reduced its dividend to 14 lire a share of 250 lire par value for 1939. In 1929 a dividend of 18 lire was declared.

Artloom corporation declared a quarterly dividend of 25 cents on the common, placing that issue on a $1 yearly basis, against $2 previously.

An initial quarterly dividend of 20 cents a share on the new no par capital stock of British-American Oil company, Ltd., was declared. The new stock recently was issued in exchange for the old on a basis of two new for one old share. In April a quarterly dividend of 40 cents was paid on the old stock and dividends last year on the old stock amounted to $1.50, four regular 25 cents quarterly payments and two extras of 25 cents each. On Jan. 1 this year, the company paid 25 cents regular and 50 cents extra.

Evans Auto Loading.

The Evans Auto Loading company has omitted the quarterly dividend of 62½ cents a share at this time.

The Canadian Converters company declared a quarterly dividend of $1.25, placing the stock on a $5 annual basis, against $7 previously.

Novadel-Agene corporation, flour bleaching manufacturers, declared an extra dividend of 25 cents on the common, in addition to the regular quarterly dividends. The firm has voted to offer to preferred stockholders the right to exchange their stock into common in the ratio of three common shares for one preferred. The offer will hold good until July 1. The common to be issued will carry a dividend from July 1.

SYNOPSIS.

Catherine West of Boston, on her way to Paris, meets Geoffrey Macadam in the Havre boat train. Macadam is an Englishman who lives in Paris. Catherine tells him that she is going to visit her cousin's widow, Mme. Belmont Bender. She is a little apprehensive about the coming visit because she had received, just before sailing, a letter from Germaine Cushing, who tells her that Mme. Bender is far from well. Macadam is a friend of her and he tells Catherine that his firm handles Mme. Bender's affairs, but he doesn't know the widow very well. He had heard that she was ill. Arrived in Paris, Catherine is a little disappointed when her cousin's chauffeur is not at the station to meet her. Geoffrey sees her into a taxi, giving her his address and telephone number. He tells her that he will be anxious to know how things are at the Bender apartment and she promises to call him. Arrived at Mme. Bender's apartment, she is treated coldly by the servants, and Jeanne, Mme. Bender's maid, suggests that she go to a hotel. Catherine decides on staying in the apartment, as she is suspicious of the servants. Jeanne tells Catherine that Mme. Bender attempted to commit suicide the night before. The next morning Catherine goes in to see Germaine Bender, who is pathetically glad to see her. She tells Catherine how she had taken poison by mistake.

Geoffrey invites Catherine to dine with him and it is a relief for her to get out of the apartment and to tell him of her vague fears. He is disturbed, too. Geoffrey escorts her back to the apartment.

The next morning Catherine calls on Miss Cushing, who takes her to her milliner. There she sees a man she has noticed hanging around the Bender apartment. Back in the apartment, she finds the gallery open for the first time, and she goes in, only to discover a number of pictures and tapestries missing. She asks Jeanne about them and Jeanne says they were sold shortly before Mr. Bender's death. Catherine feels she is ill and believes she and Eduardo are thieves. She finds Jeanne is exerting a baneful influence on Mme. Bender. Jeanne denounces Catherine to the invalid.

Geoffrey again takes Catherine out to dinner and she unburdens herself to him. He has already put an investigator on the case. When he takes her back to the Bender apartment he takes her in his arms as he says good-night. Catherine responds to his caress.

He asks her to marry him, but she wants time to be certain of her feelings. On the way to her room she hears Germaine sobbing and goes to her. She retires hurriedly at Jeanne's return. Next morning Catherine is violently ill and the doctor is called in. Recovering, Catherine goes to visit Geoffrey's sister at Fontainebleau.

Geoffrey discovers that Blom, the mysterious person seen around the Bender apartment, is a possible heir to the Bender fortune. Shortly after this discovery Blom's engagement to Mme. Baron, a widow, whose maiden name is the family name of Mme. Bender, is announced.

A fire breaks out in Mme. Bender's apartment early in the morning and she is burned to death. Most of the building is saved. Catherine had returned suddenly to Paris the day before and when Geoffrey hears of the disaster he rushes to find her. The servants who die came to the apartment. A search of the premises reveals nothing. Geoffrey goes to telephone and sights Eduardo hurrying into a taxi. He follows the butler to the police office.

INSTALLMENT LXIV.

COMMISSAIRE'S ASSISTANCE.

Within the next few minutes Geoffrey had sought the nearest telephone booth and was in conversation with his father. He did not know whether he was cheered or exasperated by the fact that the old man was less impressed by Catherine's absence than he had expected.

"Quite likely she changed her mind and decided to go to the apartment of some friend," he suggested. "In which case it is not at all likely she had heard the news about Mme. Bender."

Geoffrey cast his mind over Catherine's acquaintances in Paris. Only two families did she know at all well, some Americans named Barton, in the Rue Freycinet, and a young married couple, artists both, in the Rue Leopold-Robert. He mentioned their names, giving the addresses.

"Get in touch with them at once and see if they have heard anything of her," he ordered briefly. "I am going to see Bernard and get his help, but would like you to meet me at two o'clock at the commissariat."

By great good luck Bernard was in his dreary office, and listened attentively to the story Geoffrey poured out. When he heard all he ruminated a moment, then gave his opinion.

"I agree with you, monsieur, that the thing looks serious. Since a motive for murder has come to light, I have little doubt that the fire last night was deliberately planned. But this young girl's failure to appear may easily have a natural explanation."

"But she was there last night. I tell you I saw the light in her room. The servants are keeping something back. They know where she is. At any rate, there is something I want you to do at once. That Portuguese valet is with Blom now. Will you go now to the Rue d'Amsterdam, lie in wait for him, and find out what he is up to?"

Obediently the agent reached for his rusty hat. The two descended, found a taxi and drove to the notaire's office, where Geoffrey dropped his friend, arranging a rendezvous at 2:30 in the foyer of Claridge's hotel.

Geoffrey found his father awaiting him in the lobby of the commissariat de police and eagerly inquired if anything had yet been learned from Catherine's friends.

"No," replied Macadam reluctantly. "The Bartons have not seen her, and the O'Briens did not even know she had been away from Paris. But that won't let that upset you. There may be other legitimate possibilities."

The news was a severe blow. To save his life the young man could not think of any other person to whom Catherine might have gone. They ascended the wooden stairs and found themselves in a bare room divided by a desk, behind which was seated an employé, bent with diligence over a dossier which scrutiny revealed to be that of paring his nails with a pocket-knife. He did not even look up till Geoffrey rapped on the desk, and then he looked with a vacant manner to the applicants' request for the commissaire. Listening with a vacant manner to the applicants' request for the commissaire, clicked the knife blade into its warty case and remarked that it would be necessary for the gentlemen to state their case first to the secretaire du commissaire.

To him the elder Macadam made a concise statement, in creditable French flavored with his Scotch accent. The secretary's drowsy eyes glanced this way and that and appeared to be thinking matters over in mild indecision. At last he made a casual gesture towards a couple of hard wooden chairs against the wall and volunteered to find out if the commissaire himself could arrange to hear the complaint.

Eventually the two solicitors found themselves in another office, facing the commissaire, a dry-faced little man with a stubble of closely cropped gray hair and a pair of gold rimmed spectacles, who was bent over his desk, steadily covering a large sheet of foolscap with angular writing. He looked up, cleared his throat deliberately.

"And now, messieurs, what can I do for you?" he inquired calmly.

This time Macadam signed to his son to take up the narrative, and as clearly as possible Geoffrey set forth all the circumstances connected with the fire, the commissaire listening meditatively. From time to time he lifted his head for the benefit of the secretary, who, seated at the far end of the desk, made a note accordingly in an official looking book.

At last when the account was finished the little chief removed his spectacles, rubbed his eyelids with a reflective finger, and summed up the case with bloodless precision.

"You wish to suggest, monsieur, first of all an affair of sequestration, augmented by undue influence, object pecuniary gain. As to the possibility of murder, from what you tell me there seems very little actual evidence. No witnesses, the charge may be difficult to prove, unless, of course, the examination of the corpse reveals some trace of poison. That, naturally, remains to be seen. Since you have managed to hit upon a plausible motive for a crime, it will be my duty to order a post-mortem, though I understand you are not certain that this Mme.—What is the woman's name?—Mme. Baron is a blood relation of the deceased. However, we will waive that point. The aggregate of circumstances will provide us sufficient excuse to go on with."

"Now for the other matter, the supposed disappearance of Mademoiselle Catherine. It seems to me rather early, monsieur, to conclude that she is actually missing. On your own statement she was not on the best of terms with Mme. Bender's servants. Is it not possible that on her way home last night she felt a sudden reluctance to descend upon them unawares, and that in consequence she spent the night at a hotel?"

Geoffrey admitted this might have happened, but declared it to be unlikely. What, he demanded, was one to do about the light in mademoiselle's room and the shadow on the blind?"

The commissaire shook his head disparagingly.

"One cannot rely upon that as proof that she was there. The shadow may have been that of some other person."

"But at a quarter past one, monsieur!' The alarm was given in at one-thirty. At the time I mention the servants must have been either asleep or occupied with the fire—if one is to believe what they say."

"True. You are sure it was a quarter past one?"

"Absolutely. I looked at my watch."

He raised his hand and the secretary made another note.

"Ah, well, that fact may be of value to us, particularly if it shows up any flaw in the servants' evidence. We shall see."

He rang a bell on the desk; the sluggish employé before mentioned appeared.

Presently a stalwart officer appeared in the doorway. His fresh, sunburned coloring and small blonde mustache suggested a Norman heritage. Geoffrey took an instant liking to him.

"This, messieurs, is one of my men, to whom I am going to intrust your case. Kindly inform him of the details. He will look after you, I trust satisfactorily. Inspector, conduct these gentlemen to the waiting room and hear what they have to say. I wish you good day, messieurs."

Russian Movie Sets High Mark as Art Effort

[SILENT]
[One star means fairly good; two stars, good; three stars, excellent; four stars, extraordinary; no stars—just another movie.]
Produced by Amkino.
Directed by Serge Eisenstein.
Presented last night at Orchestra hall.

By Mae Tinée.

Good morning!

Serges Eisenstein, Russian director who made this picture, "Ten Days," and "Potemkin," has signed a contract to direct movies over here. If they are to be great, or, perhaps, even good ones, he must be let alone. His is a genius that must not be fettered.

Criticism of "Old and New" lies quite as much in the realm of the art critic as in that of the movie reviewer. Mr. Eisenstein's all seeing, all recording camera, which is, after all, only the humble servant of a master mind, has caught living picture after living picture. Some of these startle you with their beauty. Others, by reason of the piercingly painful reality of the types and surroundings registered, make your heart contract. But always you are thinking—"Wonderful! Wonderful!"

The subject of "Old and New" is the Russian peasantry groveling in ignorance; crushed to earth under an old régime and, like truth, slowly but surely rising under a new. This director doesn't believe in "castes." With Russia at his service, he has fared forth into the highways and the byways, photographed what he wanted there and brought back to Moscow such people and objects as he deemed needed studio treatment. Much of "Old and New" was made, so I am told, on the largest coöperative farm in Russia.

You will find this picture intensely interesting as a study and not without a peculiar humor of its own. Witness the "wedding" of the pedigreed bull that, long awaited and saved for, has come to be the pride, joy, and future prosperity of the newly converted "coöps."

The acting is—never that! Not in all your lives have you seen a less self or camera conscious bunch than the human beings who swarm through this epic of a nation's travail, and agonizingly triumphant birth into a new life.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Question.

Which gives you the greatest pleasure, making a dollar, spending a dollar, or saving a dollar?

The Answer.

Emil W. Schultz, 3443 North Ridgeway avenue, salesman.—My greatest pleasure is saving a dollar for future use. Of course, I don't believe in saving every penny. I get a great deal of pleasure in spending when I have a few extra dollars. There is much pleasure in making a dollar these days.

Owen Roach, 148 East Grand avenue, clerk.—My greatest pleasure used to be in saving a dollar, but in 1929 when the market on butter went down I went with it. At present I am making and saving a few dollars for the future so that I can get some pleasure out of spending a few dollars. I believe in making it first and then spending it.

Otto Hansen, 1627 North Humboldt boulevard, demonstrator for Duesenberg motors.—My greatest pleasure is in making lots of dollars, saving a few; of course, I enjoy spending a dollar. But first of al lwe have to make it before we can spend it. The idea most people have these days is to spend a dollar before they earn it.

Miss Charlotte Gabrysiak, 8201 Saginaw avenue, stenographer.—My greatest pleasure is to make a dollar and save it. Saving dollars may save one a lot of grief. Many times I have tossed a coin to see whether I get that bargain hat or not.

Casimir Plebanski, 8220 Coles avenue, steel worker.—My greatest pleasure is in saving a dollar. You rest much easier, knowing that if anything happens you have money put away and can lay your hands on it. Of course, I like to spend money, but most of by earnings are put away.

Churchmen Say Churches Should Not Run Politics

Agents of 3 Sects Agree on That Policy.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 11.—[Special.]—Complete separation of church and state is urged in the report of the joint conference of churchmen issued here today after the delegates had spent three days discussing church unity. The Protestant Episcopal church, the Methodist Church, North, and the Presbyterian church were represented.

"We find complete agreement," said the report, "upon the importance of the separation of church and state as guaranteed in the constitution of the United States.

"We find the common conviction that the church of Christ has a definite responsibility to guide the conscience of individual Christians and a corporate responsibility to endeavor to infuse through society the principles of God's will. Utterances of the highest representative bodies in our several communions reveal a common conviction that the function of the church is not to govern or seek to govern political action, but to further the influence of Christian principles upon society."

The conference was called, on invitation of the Episcopal church, to straighten out ancient differences. The conclusions on this subject were outlined in the report as follows:

"In the matters coming before us for consideration, we find ourselves and the communions we represent in their formal pronouncement in substantial agreement.

"As far as other than theological and ecclesiastical factors were causes of the original separation of the bodies we represent, we are agreed that they are no longer operative in any such degree as to block the way to an organic unity.

"Our three communions are at one in recognizing the authority of the church to teach and guide individuals in the development of Christian life and to exercise discipline in cases of violation of the fundamental precepts of that life. We find that in all three communions the tendency is obvious to substitute for such discipline as excommunication the methods of love, persuasion, and voluntary penance as being more expressive of our Lord's teachings."

"Deity Blind" Group Among U. S. Students Assailed at Loyola

Degrees were awarded to 714 graduates from Loyola university yesterday afternon on Loyola campus. Honorary degrees were conferred upon Edward A. Cudahy, executive and philanthropist; Dr. Otto L. Schmidt, head of the Illinois Historical society; Mrs. Anthony French Merrill, lecturer and author, and upon the Rev. Dr. Fulton J. Sheen of the Catholic university of America. Dr. Sheen made the commencement address.

Dr. Sheen in his address advised the return to the original purposes of education in order to counteract the large groups of "deity blind" students. This latter group, he said, is alive to environment which might be called a progressive world.

"It is congealed and hardened with conceit and sophistication; rust and canker eat away the little soul that is left; its words are correct; its sense of propriety shows itself in the embellishment of homes and choice of amusements; it is at ease, is rich, is successful, worldly, honored. But it has eyes that are blind to the beautiful environment of God. Are the schools and universities in this country, which ignore God really educating the young men and women entrusted to their care?"

A partial remedy for such a condition as advocated by Dr. Sheen, is the establishment of universities in this country "dedicated to the purpose not of learning but unlearning."

"If such a university could rise within our land, wherein professors would set minds right," he said, "along the lines of sanity and would root out the misconception that novelty is truth and that morality is something more than taste, such a university would be doing the same service for our country as the board of health does for our city—keeping clean the mental arteries which supply the mind and heart. There can be no education in any system of training which asserts that man is just a glorified animal."

The daisy chain processional was a feature of the 44th annual commencement of the National College of Education yesterday in Evanston. Sixteen honorary scholarships were given in recognition of outstanding scholarship and teaching ability. President Edna Dean Baker conferred bachelor of education degrees upon 48, and kindergarten-elementary diplomas to 109 students.

Last night County Clerk Robert M. Sweitzer delivered the commencement address at the graduation exercises of De Paul academy. Diplomas were given to 123 graduates by the Very Rev. Thomas F. Levan.

The Rt. Rev. Harwood Strutevant, Episcopal bishop coadjutor of Fond du Lac, will deliver the commencement address at the 45th commencement of Western Theological seminary, Evanston, Tuesday, June 17. Honorary doctorate degrees will be conferred on Bishop Coadjutor elect George Craig Stewart, of the diocese of Chicago and the Very Rt. Rev. J. H. Edwards, rector emeritus of the Church of the Holy Spirit, Lake Forest.

Club Women Today Will Debate Policy Toward World Court

Denver, Colo., June 11.—(AP)—Turning from the diversion of a "play day" in the Colorado Rockies west of Denver, delegates to the twentieth biennial convention of the general federation of women's clubs prepared tonight for the more serious discussion tomorrow of the possibilities of United States' entrance into the world court.

Mrs. Ben Hooper of Oshkosh, Wis., chairman of the committee on international relations not only will present her report, but will lead the discussion to throw the influence of the federation behind the world court movement.

"The federation has heretofore gone on record and worked for the entrance of the United States into the world court," said Mrs. Hooper.

4 CHICAGO NOTABLES GET HONORARY LL. D.'S FROM KNOX COLLEGE

Galesburg, Ill., June 11.—[Special.]—Four Chicagoans and four from other states received honorary degrees at the eighty-fifth annual commencement exercises at Knox college here today.

The honorary degree of L.L. D. was conferred on Judge Thomas Taylor, Knox graduate in 1881, chief justice of the Superior court of Cook county; Maj. Gen. Milton J. Foreman, Silas H. Strawn, both lawyers, and on Joseph E. Otis, banker.

Announcement was made of the establishment of the Mary Foreman scholarship fund by Gen. Foreman in honor of his mother. There are to be four annual scholarships of $650 each. They are to be awarded next fall for the first time to boys and girls who otherwise could not attend college.

Doctor of letters degrees were awarded to President William Mather Lewis of Lafayette university, formerly head master of Lake Forest academy; to Frank H. Severance, historian, of Buffalo, N. Y.; to Miss Chloe Owings, head of the department of social hygiene of the University of Minnesota. Carl K. McKinley of Boston, a composer of music, was awarded the degree of doctor of music. Lewis, Severance, McKinley, and Miss Owings all are Knox graduates.

Of Gen. Foreman, Dr. Britt said: "You have served your day well as lawyer, public servant, and soldier. As human being with keen, sympathetic understanding of the struggles that your brothers and sisters of humanity endure and of the burdens that life places upon their shoulders, you have served better."

Mr. Strawn was told that "in such citizens as you rests great hope for the future. Genuine public service usually is performed at personal effort and sacrifice, and not infrequently at personal risk. We are, therefore, aware of a particular debt to those who serve the state as volunteers without the prestige of official position or the hope of future reward."

In awarding the degree to Mr. Otis, Dr. Britt said: "Only as learning and finance advance with equal step and sympathetic understanding will the levels of power and culture rise together to the greater good of the nation."

A class of 116 seniors received diplomas.

The commencement address was delivered by Dean William E. Simonds, who today retired from active work at Knox, after having been a teacher there for 41 years.

Nine Cook County Boys Among Highest Culver Cadet Officers

Culver, Ind., June 11.—[Special.]—Nine of the highest ranking officers in the cadet corps of the Culver Military academy will be from Cook county, according to an order read this morning at the final formation for the thirty-sixth commencement exercises.

One of the twelve cadet captains chosen to head the corps of over 700 cadets next year is Charles Levy Jr., 2300 Lincoln park West. The regimental adjutant, ranking lieutenant, will be Philip H. Kreuscher III., 5816 Blackstone avenue. Other lieutenants in the 1930-'31 corps will be Edward T. Tilley, 7948 Constance avenue; John B. Tiberi, 3727 Maplewood avenue; Charles C. Allen, River Forest; Fred S. Niemann, 1540 Lake Shore drive; George M. Hough Jr., 946 East 48th street, and Perry K. Schultz, Riverside.

The highest ranking second classman for the coming session will be Dale W. McMillan Jr., Evanston; Frederick Wright, Bellaire, O., is appointed to the highest office, that of cadet captain and regimental commander.

Augustana Synod Upholds Dry Law Enforcement

Rock Island, Ill., June 11.—(AP)—The Evangelical Lutheran Augustana synod, in its closing session here today, adopted a resolution "affirming our steadfast purpose to oppose any and all movements looking to the repeal of the eighteenth amendment and the weakening of our state and national laws against liquor; that we lend all possible aid to the enforcement of the prohibition law." Another resolution urged all the churches to support prohibition.

Science Falters as Moral Guide, Kinley Asserts

Makes Last Speech as U. of Illinois Head.

Urbana, Ill., June 11.—[Special.]—President David Kinley of the University of Illinois declared today science does not teach wise living and that the abolition of war will be a matter of spirit. Dr. Kinley then conferred degrees on 1,780 seniors at the fifty-ninth annual commencement. About 500 of the graduates are from Chicago and suburbs.

Dr. Kinley will become president emeritus on July 1, being succeeded by Dr. Harry Woodburn Chase. Dr. Chase recently resigned as president of the University of North Carolina and he is expected to take charge about the middle of July.

"Wise living," Dr. Kinley told the graduates, "is not to be attained by following the dictates of a physical law unless we first know the completion of that law's working is wise and good. Whether the scientific results are good or bad for us is a matter on which science has nothing to say.

"For wise living we must go back to some old principles of conduct—the law of love, self-restraint, regard for one another's rights rather than the free, unlimited expression of our own. We should have due respect for what are called 'new things,' but only after we have seen them subjected by competent minds to the scrutiny of severe logic, after they have been compelled to justify themselves before men of common sense and experience.

"In spite of its defects, I see no reason to think that any better form of government than the democratic republic, or representative government, is likely to be devised. Its defects are removable by education and only education, using that word to include improvement of character as well as of mind.

"Another problem which will confront the rising generation will be that of abolition of war. That abolition will be a matter of spirit. Therefore it is a matter of education. War will disappear when men generally believe that its evils are greater than any that could occur without it; that whatever good it produces is less than the cost in moral, esthetic, spiritual, and religious values.

"Have due respect for the established order," Dr. Kinley urged. "Much is said in these days about not believing anything on authority. There is a sense in which the advice is good and another in which it is foolish. It is good in so far as it tells us not to submit to compulsion in forming our ideas. It is nonsense to advise the young not to accept anything on authority. For it is impossible for all of us to have either the knowledge or the time to prove for ourselves more than a few of the opinions we hold. Our whole social structure is built on faith in the honesty of others.

"Avoid credulity; however, shun dogmatism and do not become fossilized in your opinions. Do not be misled by phrases. Remember that a phrase or a slogan is likely to have more influence with the crowd than a principle can have."

Dr. Kinley has conferred 20,000 degrees during his term as president. A resolution of the university senate commending him was read during the commencement exercises.

Baltimore Sun Officials Fly to Springfield, Ill.

Springfield, Ill., June 11.—[Special.]—"The Maryland Free State," an airplane which left Washington at 7 o'clock this morning, carrying Van Lear Black, chairman of the board, and Paul C. Patterson, president of the company publishing the Baltimore Sun, to the MacDowning-Scripps wedding in Rushville, arrived in Springfield at 2:55 central time today after a flight of seven hours.

Landing was made in a light rain. The wedding guests will proceed to Rushville tomorrow by automobile. The wedding of Tolliver MacDowning and Miss Margaret Scripps, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Scripps, and niece of Mr. Patterson, will take place at the Scripps' cottage, Rushville, tomorrow.

Etchings Among the Several Art Shows of Today

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

A number of attractive and interesting little exhibits are current now in the Art institute in addition to the two principal exhibitions, one of which opened yesterday and comprises work of the children in the Saturday morning classes and the other of which opens today in the east wing galleries and consists of the annual show of student work by students of the Art institute art school.

A pre-view of this latter exhibition will be held this morning at 11 o'clock, and Charles Fabens Kelley, dean of the school, will explain the purpose of present day art instruction with reference to the work of the students.

Among the pleasant lesser exhibits that of etchings by Auguste Lepere in gallery 12 in the print rooms is delightful. The etchings have been selected from the Art institute collections and from the private collections of Mrs. W. H. Hubbard and Daniel V. Casey. In an alcove in this gallery are hung color engravings of American scenery executed by J. Hill.

A group of German primitives, clearly bright in color and quaintly hard in expression, are in a gallery on the second floor of the museum, lent by Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Worcester. In the school lobby there are a number of well executed works by members of the Theta Chi Phi fraternity, an organization composed of students of the art school and members of the alumni. This is their eighth annual exhibit. The work includes oil paintings, water colors, pastels, charcoal drawings, pen and ink illustrations, still life and interior decoration designs.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, June 11.—Mrs. Finley J. Shepard will give a luncheon party on June 19 for her daughter, Miss Olivia M. Shepard, and the latter's bridesmaids. Miss Shepard is to marry John Read Burr.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Vanderbilt, who are returning this week from Hawaii, will spend a few days with Mrs. Vanderbilt's parents, Maj. and Mrs. Everett Colby, at their Llewellyn Park home.

Mr. William H. Hamilton Jr. and Mr. Abbott K. Hamilton gave a dinner dance tonight at the Duane in honor of their sister, Miss Elizabeth K. Hamilton, and Mr. Winsor Shippee, whose marriage takes place tomorrow.

Mrs. Tailer Carpenter, who will go to Europe later for the summer, returned to the Plaza from Newport, where she leased her house.

ENGAGED

[Toloff Photo.]

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Edward Ransdell of Glencoe announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Catherine, to John Riley Wilson, son of Robert L. Wilson of Winfield, Mo. The wedding will take place in the early autumn.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., June 11.—[Special.]—Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley has gone to West Point. He will deliver the principal address to the graduating class. Mrs. Hurley had a few guests for tea this afternoon to say good-by to Mrs. George Mesta who closed her apartment at 1785 Massachusetts avenue and left tonight for New York en route from there by motor to Newport. She will have the place, The Rocks, and spend the remainder of the summer.

Mrs. Wm. Fitch Kelley left today for Aurora, Ill., to visit her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. McClure Kelly, who will come east in a few weeks to visit her at the Knoll before starting on a trip to Europe.

The allen property custodian and Mrs. Howard Sutherland have taken a cottage at Lake Sunapee, N. H., where they will have a reunion of their family.

Husbands Deserve Same Consideration as Friends, Wimmen

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"Lord, let my woman see me as she sees her other friends!" That was the not irreverant exclamation that a certain husband used on an occasion not long passed.

Exclamation or prayer—what a secret of marital bliss that sentence contains! No more nagging there'd be. No trying to fit the mate to an impossible pattern. No cold blooded reforming.

Perhaps there would be a too Utopian state of affairs were the prayer answered far and wide. Maybe husband or wife, by the very nature of their union, never could be viewed by one another as a friend or friends are in spite of the fact that they might qualify as the best friends ever.

"Best friend and severest critic" unfortunately have a way of being strung together in domestic versions of friendships. But ponder for a bit, anyway, on the happiness that would accrue could we achieve the blissful, slightly indifferent attitude toward mates we hold toward friends.

To begin with, consider little habits, little personal habits of speech or conduct. Those trifles in a friend are accepted as simply part of their character, but in mates are exaggerated into ridiculous proportions. Perhaps a facial expression, a halt in the speech, over use of a hackneyed phrase, or a habit at table, or a taste about clothes, any of the things we wouldn't dream of calling a friend's attention to we pounce upon greedily in a mate. Could we not cultivate the same tolerance or indifference toward the near one's idiosyncrasies?

We could try to? For our own comfort, it would be so satisfying. Toward friends we do not hold up mirrors of comparison. We do not say Tom or Bill or Ellen or Jean do not do such and such a thing, so you shouldn't. We take our friends as is, imperfect or perfect. We do not let their imperfections affect us sufficiently to make us want to tell them "for their own good."

FARM AND GARDEN

BY PAUL POTTER

Gardening is becoming an estate of brotherhood judging by the wide practice of exchanging ideas and methods as well as advice and plants. Fences sag while neighbors talk over common problems and attempt mutual solutions such as the application of a remedy to get rid of cutworms, ants, lice on roses, wilt on asters and mosaic of cucumbers.

Most striking of this attitude of friendliness, which arises almost immediately when two gardeners find common interest, is evinced in the "friendship" gardens which add to the pleasure of flower gardening. Many women in the Chicago area have portions of the garden allotted to plants given them by their friends. Some are donations of annuals and some of them perennials.

Not only is pride shown by those who are successful in their own vegetable and flower projects but these same persons assert even greater pride in their ability when they give useful information to neighbors.

The marriage of Miss Marjorie ... Little, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alden Howe Little of 227 East Delaware place, to Henry Gilbert Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kidder Gilbert of the Ambassador hotel, was solemnized yesterday at 4:30 o'clock at St. Chrysostom's church.

The bride wore an eggshell satin gown with a flowing train bordered with rose point lace, a relic of other weddings in her mother's family. Her tulle veil was clasped with a wreath of orange blossoms and she carried gardenias and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor, Miss Elizabeth Hobitzell of St. Louis, Mo., wore a peach color chiffon gown with a long, tight fitting bodice and billowy skirt and a matching horsehair hat. She held a bouquet of Talisman roses.

The bridesmaids, Miss Janet Gardner of St. Louis, Mrs. R. B. Whittemore III. of York, Pa., and Miss Margaret Weisiger of Evanston, wore green chiffon gowns and carried African daisies and spring flowers. Horace Gilbert acted as best man for the groom.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the Littles' residence. After a brief wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert will reside in East Orange, N. J.

The marriage of Miss Lois Andrews Healy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Healy of Evanston, to Robert Morrison Atwater, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Atwater, also of Evanston, will be solemnized at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon at the residence of the bride's parents at 1124 Sheridan road. Miss Elizabeth Morrow will be maid of honor for Miss Healy and Miss Lydia Atwater and Miss Peggy Healy will be bridesmaids.

Brewster Atwater will be best man for his brother and the ushers will include Ralph C. Otis, Kinney Smith, Allan Healy, James Otis, Winston Healy, and James Patterson.

Miss Jane and Miss Katherine Trowbridge, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius M. Trowbridge of Lake Forest, have gone east for some visits and to attend the commencement affairs at Vassar this week. Their future sister-in-law, Miss Lilias Dell Webster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Frank Webster of Bronxville, N. Y., is being graduated, and her marriage to Calvin Durand Trowbridge is to take place a week from today.

The wedding will be at the Central Presbyterian church in New York City. The Trowbridge girls are to be in the wedding party, and Cornelius M. Trowbridge Jr. is to be best man for his brother. Mrs. Trowbridge is leaving for the east on Saturday. The bride and groom are to reside in Chicago.

The Tavern is going to have a series of summer dinner dances beginning with a party tomorrw evening. They will be given on the second and fourth Fridays of June, July, and August, the dates being June 13 and 27, July 11 and 25, and August 8 and 22.

Dinner will be served on the lower terrace, and dancing will follow on the upper terrace "almost within reaching distance of the stars that wink gayly at The Tavern's roof. If the weather isn't right, there's plenty of room indoors. Poets have been known to say that these summer parties on the world's highest dancing rink are positively swell," according to Charles Collins, The Tavern secretary.

Mrs. Henry A. Haugan of 2608 Lake View avenue and her son, Henry Jr., are returning Sunday from a six months' stay in La Jolla, Cal.

Kenwood Girls Give Show Tomorrow for Camp Algonquin Fund

At the home of Jane Paulman, daughter of Henry Paulman, 4845 Kenwood avenue, last night, seventeen young women who attend the Faulkner and University High schools went through dress rehearsal for the 1930 Kenwood Follies, which is to be presented tomorrow evening. This will be the third annual benefit put on by the girls for THE TRIBUNE charity. Last year Miss Paulman brought the fund $150, and the year before sent a sizeable gift.

"This year we expect to have a bigger and better show than ever," she said. "We hope to send a larger gift this year to the fund than before."

The Kenwood Follies is an annual event important to that neighborhood. The same customers come each year and bring more the next. Already a stage has been built and arrangements are being made to accommodate about 300 guests. The girls are expecting extraordinary success, since the date of the show falls on Friday, the 13th.

The revue has been planned and assembled by Miss Paulman and her friends, and will contain the latest song hits and specialty numbers.

These gifts have been received for the Algonquin fund:

Mrs. L. Parker	$ 25.00
A Friend	10.00
Georgia E. Thorne	5.00
Mrs. O. A. Linder	5.00
K. S. P.	1.00
Total	$ 46.00
Previously acknowledged	$652.50
Grand total	$698.50

All checks should be made payable to the cashier of THE TRIBUNE.

It's Time for Fathers to Come Into the Picture

A list of toys and playthings for children from babyhood up will be sent by Mrs. Bevans on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

There's no job you enjoy like the one you're doing well. There's no man who enjoys being a father like the man who's being a thorough one. Since time was, whenever a child was mentioned mother has always been in the picture, looming large.

It's high time for father to be in the picture, too. O, of course there are countless wonderful fathers—men who are close to and interested in and intelligent about and enjoy being with their boys and girls. Lucky boys and girls! Some of these fathers write in to me and the increase in their number is most interesting. But averaging things up, mothers are more in the home scene than fathers are.

To be sure, this is partly because the woman has more actual hours there. But that isn't the only reason. Other reasons are because it's easier for the father to let his wife run the children. And because he's freer if he doesn't take too much responsibility with them. Also, because he doesn't realize his great importance to them—their great need of him. And also, because the pleasure of being a regular father to his children is something he's probably never experienced.

Not until a father has known what it means to have the care, and fine comradeship, and intimacy with his children can he realize how foolish he is to let absorption in his business, or golf, or sailing, or fishing, or cards, or men friends, or lodges, or clubs—or just his ease, deprive him of those joys. If he had once had them I don't believe he'd ever give them up.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $5 for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, The Tribune, Chicago.

I could not resist purchasing an admission ticket for the ragged little lad who stood in the lobby of a motion picture house chuckling to himself over the stills advertising the comedy being shown within. Yet he was so tiny I hesitated as I asked, "But—can you read?"

Music with Ukulele Accompaniment.

"If any of your readers have old sheet music with ukulele accompaniment to discard I would appreciate having it. I am a patient in this sanitarium and recently received a ukulele, which I am learning to play.

"B. W."

Not so long ago when the ukulele was enjoying a fair amount of vogue much of the popular sheet music had accompaniment for this instrument. If your music cabinet still contains some of it won't you sort it out for this patient?

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

An interesting feature of this polka-dotted silk crêpe is the shawl collar that ends in a scarf at the left shoulder. It helps detract from the width of the figure. The hips are flat and the circular skirt is beautifully shaped with rippling fulness at the hem. Sapphire blue silk crêpe with eggshell vestee, or black silk crêpe with the vestee of delicate pink silk crêpe are pleasing suggestions.

The pattern, 3131, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years and 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, and 46 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3½ yards of 39 inch material with 1⅛ yards of 35 inch contrasting.

Distinctly Feminine Is This Frilly Frock

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—When the dog star rises, chic Parisiennes camouflage themselves with coolness in the shape of airy frocks of fresh colors and diaphanous materials. These little frocks for the summer evening are naturally of the informal variety, for feminine Paris is in the country, or if she isn't she makes believe she is.

Tulle, organdy, limp muslin, chiffon, or georgette are the favorite fabrics for warm evening frocks this summer. Nile green, wild rose pink, yellow, pinky-mauve or the various pale blues are the most refreshing colors. Hems fall just to the ankles, sleeves are conspicuous by their absence, décolletés are modest rather than ample.

If you believe in that preparedness which is the price of chic these days you will include in your summer wardrobe this frilly frock from Lenief S. A., which is equally suitable for the informal dance and for the formal garden party. For the latter occasion you will add the popular capeline in sky blue crin, posed on a net cap wreathed with tiny pink satin roses to frame your piquant face, from Mme. Marie-Georgette.

The frock of sky blue tulle fastens its Charlotte Corday fichu with a huge satin rose in sunset pink. The skirt is as many ruffled as an 1840 crinoline, but slender in line as a Kate Greenaway fourreau. The lowest ruffle is left in a state of guileless transparency. The bodice blouses slightly over a crushed belt of the blue tulle placed just a little high. Sky blue satin slippers and palest silk stockings complete the ensemble.

Food Talk.

There is one cake to which most men are susceptible—devil's food. When women are left to choose, they usually select the lighter colored varieties. Today we are giving a recipe for red devil's food, a dark cake that will appeal to all.

Any well made cake is a delicacy. And good cake is so delightful that an accompaniment is not needed. Even an icing is unnecessary. Why waste time in preparing any but the best of cake?

It is a well known fact that ingredients should be fresh and of high quality. Although these may be provided, putting the ingredients together in the wrong way is sure to ruin the cake. There is an old saying, "The best of cake may be spoiled in the making."

All the efficiency you can muster is needed in making cake. Your oven must be the proper temperature—and there is no way of guessing this. If you are not so fortunate as to have an oven regulator, you can use a portable oven thermometer. These are inexpensive pieces of equipment considering the service they give. All the equipment—pans, cups, spoons, bowls—should be lined up ready for instant action. The ingredients, eggs, chocolate, flour, everything for which the recipe calls, should be on the table where the mixing is done. Then your dexterous fingers can make the cake without any interruptions. The blending of ingredients must be smooth, rapid and intimate. The directions must be followed to the last dot of an

"i." Only then can you be sure of developing a technique in mixing that results in a perfect cake. And cake that is a complete dessert by itself is triumph enough.

The cause of the desirable red color in some devil's food is a question with food chemists. Housewives have believed for a long time that only those cakes that contain soda are red. Some chemists, however, do not agree with this theory. Whatever the cause may be we do know that it usually results when sour milk and soda are used. Our recipe includes both. The usual buttermilk sold by the dairymen or your grocery man is sufficiently uniform in acidity to produce good results.

RECIPES.

FRUIT SALAD.

4 slices pineapple.
6 maraschino cherries.
1-3 cup mayonnaise.
Lettuce.

Peel grapefruit and remove sections. Cut sections into even sized pieces. Peel oranges and cut into dice. Slice pineapple, raisins and cherries. Combine fruit and chill thoroughly. Some prefer the addition of a little sugar. When ready to serve, mix with mayonnaise. Arrange carefully on lettuce leaves. Yield: 4 servings. One serving: Total, 316 calories; protein, 14 calories; fat, 95 calories; carbohydrate, 207 calories.

RED DEVIL'S FOOD CAKE.

2 eggs.
1 teaspoon soda.
1 teaspoon vanilla.

Sift flour, then measure. Resift with cocoa twice. Cream fat until plastic. Then add sugar gradually, creaming thoroughly. Add well beated eggs and beat hard one minute. Add flour-cocoa mixture alternately with the sour milk in which soda has been dissolved, beginning and ending with the flour mixture. Add vanilla and beat vigorously one-half minute. Add boiling water [water must be boiling to make cake red]. Stir until batter is smooth. Turn into layer or loaf pans that have been oiled and lined with paraffin paper. Bake in a moderate oven [350 degrees Fahrenheit] about 35 minutes. Yield: One loaf or 2 layers. One serving: Total, 249 calories; protent, 16 calories; fat, 103 calories; carbohydrate, 130 calories.

MEAT LOAF.

1 pound beef.
1 small onion, finely minced.
1½ teaspoon salt.
Few grains pepper.
1 egg, slightly beaten.
1 cup dry bread crumbs.
4 slices salt pork.
Parsley.
Tomato sauce.

Put meat through a food chopper. Add seasonings, egg, milk and crumbs. Mix thoroughly and shape into a loaf. Place in an oiled baking pan and lay pork slices over the top. Bake in a hot oven [425 degrees Fahrenheit] 15 minutes, then reduce heat to slow oven [250 degrees Fahrenheit]. Baste every 10 to 15 minutes with fat that collects in bottom of pan. About 1¼ hours are required for cooking. Garnish with parsley and serve with parsley or tomato sauce. Yield: 6 servings. One serving: Total, 428 calories; protein, 187 calories; fat, 187 calories; carbohydrate, 54 calories.

BUTTERSCOTCH BAVARIAN.

2½ tablespoons butter.
1½ cups milk.
2 eggs.

Chill the cream. Soak gelatin in cold water. Melt butter, add sugar, and cook together until well blended. Add milk and heat over boiling water until sugar dissolves. Pour mixture over well beaten egg yolks, add salt and return to double boiler. Cook until coating forms on spoon, stirring continuously. Remove from fire and add softened gelatin. Stir until dissolved, then set in a pan of cold water. Beat egg whites and cream until stiff. Just as gelatin mixture begins to set, fold into whipped cream, then add the egg whites and vanilla and fold together until smooth. Pour into a mold rinsed in cold water and lined with lady fingers. Keep in refrigerator until ready to serve. Yield: 8 servings. One serving: Total, 271 calories; protein, 23 calories; fat, 155 calories; carbohydrate, 93 calories.

New IRONIZED YEAST Builds Weight and Strength Quick!

Pleasant Tablets. Quick Results—or Pay Nothing

It is a crime against yourself to be "skinny" and pepless when thousands, once thin, run-down, tell how they gained 5 to 15 lbs. in 3 weeks and increased strength and energy many times taking the new IRONIZED YEAST. It is often amazing how quickly these little concentrated Yeast tablets turn weak, rickety, scrawny bodies and limbs into strong, husky, well-developed forms that everybody admires, clear a dull pimply skin like magic.

Mack Lattoria

End "Nerves" Quick With New Yeast

Strengthen Stomach
End Constipation

Nervousness is due to a run-down system. Often made worse by poor digestion or constipation which fills the body with nerve-irritating poisons. IRONIZED YEAST builds up system quickly. Ends constipation and indigestion at once. Nervousness and nervous headaches vanish overnight. You feel cheerful and lively; sleep sound the first night.

Mr. W. B. Clements, Milan, Ga., was so nervous he couldn't sleep. He writes further: "Since taking IRONIZED YEAST am gaining weight and enjoy good night's sleep."

Get IRONIZED YEAST from any Walgreen or Economical drug store today. Feel new health arriving tomorrow. See nervous, constipation, indigestion vanish at once. Get rich, red blood.

Illinoisians Praise Ironized Yeast

Gains 9 lbs. in 2 Weeks
"Was tired; terrible headaches; bad skin. Since taking IRONIZED YEAST 2 weeks gained 9 lbs; new pep. Complexion better."—Mrs. R. W. Poague, Chicago, Ill.

Nervous, Dizzy Spells Gone
"Had Nervous breakdown. Dizzy spells. Tried IRONIZED YEAST. Gained 18 lbs. Am a new man."—Mechill McCarthy, Chicago Ill.

Gains 12 lbs. in 5 Weeks

Gains 15 lbs.; Better Nerves
"Was nervous; run-down. Gained 15 lbs. taking IRONIZED YEAST. Cheeks rounded out. Feel fine."—F. S. Michael, Chicago, Ill.

Why You Gain Weight Quick

This new, more powerful IRONIZED YEAST is two marvelous tonics in one—specially cultured, weight-building Malt Yeast and strengthening, blood-enriching Iron. Only when Yeast is Ironized is it most effective, for Iron is needed to bring out the strengthening values of Yeast. Highly concentrated by a new process which makes it many times more effective than unmedicated yeast. Gives results in half the time required by ordinary yeast or iron.

So quit being "skinny," weak. Get IRONIZED YEAST at any Walgreen or Economical drug store today. Feel great tomorrow. Gain many pounds in 3 weeks. New pep at once.

Photo of two different men shows why "skinny", puny men cannot compete in business or social life with husky, well-built chaps. Be a real man quick.

Hairdressing Goes Back to Dawn of History, 'n Beyond

By ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

The history of hairdressing is a fascinating view, full of surprises for many of us who are wont to believe that to our century go the rewards for certain features.

Take hair curling. It is not recorded whether Eve's hair was curly or straight. It goes without saying it must have been curly, or hair curling implements would have begun with the first woman. Anyway, as far back as Adam and I can delve, hair curling has been practised. Crude implements used for the purpose were recorded thousands of years before Christ. Two thousand years before Christ curling hair artificially was a practise so well established that in the land of the Pharaohs it was essential for the well-groomed man or woman of any social standing to have the hair waved.

So we learn through Harriet Evans, writing in a hair trade publication, how, that a special slave was allotted each head. These slaves were the original beauty operators. They kept their supply of oils and ointments for the care of the skin and a supply of unguents and heating irons for the hair.

The fact that helmet like coverings which were the chapeau vogue at the time, permitted only the ends of the hair to show, didn't allow the beauty operator slaves any more days off. The ends weren't allowed to hang long or wispy beneath the helmet shaped headgear.

The hair was rolled upon heated steel forceps to get the desired curl. There were periods in history when women's heads were not deemed of sufficient social consequence to deserve a curl. Only the men's were called the curling iron deference. So believing the male thought his wavey hair, he submitted his flowing beard to the operation and was, in a manner of speaking, one grand curled up shiek, if you believe all you see in the pictures.

The Greeks and the Romans used an instrument for curling called the calamistra. It was a hollow tube around which the hair was twisted. After the curling was completed a heated rod was inserted into the center of the tube and left there to cool. This gave the lovely wave—and perhaps produced the idea for our modern permanents.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

MRS. ED K.: I WILL GLADLY send you my booklet on the feet if you will send along a stamped addressed envelope. It gives the treatment for corns and tells you what to do for aching feet.

MRS. K. V.: IN ½ LARGE GRAPEfruit, with sugar, there are 130 calories; in one orange, 100 calories; ½ cantaloupe, 90 calories; three heaping tablespoons apple sauce, 200 calories; one average apple, 75 calories.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

The Tribune will pay $1 for every one published on "The Most Embarrassing Moment of My Life." Address Embarrassing Moments, Chicago Tribune. Write on one side of the paper. No manuscripts returned.

She Who Laughs Last.

Recently a friend and I attended the circus. While visiting a platform containing the various "freaks," such as a fat woman, the tall man, the tattooed lady, etc., we were as greatly amused over the comical features of the performers as was the crowd about us.

Is "the thinnest woman in the world" left the platform at the conclusion of the act, she approached and apparently attracted by my amusement over her extremely refined features, and amid the uproar and laughter of the onlookers, said, to my embarrassment, "O, if I could only kiss you." H. K.

Baldheaded Man Wins Prize.

At a neighborhood show prizes were given to the holders of lucky numbers. I happened to be one of the winners, and was greatly excited. I went forward to get it and to my embarrassment received a hairdressing set. The crowd roared, for I am bald.

AUTOMOBILES FOR SALE.

FOUR POCKETBOOK REASONS

WHY YOU SHOULD BUY YOUR USED CAR FROM THE STUDEBAKER CO.

1. We have the greatest selection of used cars under one roof.
2. Every one has been reduced over $200.
3. Our time payment plan is unusually liberal.

DODGE SEDAN. We have two fine running models that are very clean in appearance and okay in performance. Priced at only $95 each. They are both very fully equipped.

STUDEBAKER SEDAN. Big Six that's in exceptionally good condition today. Has expensive mohair upholstery and a beautiful cobalt blue finish. Excellent mechanically. Equipped with snubbers, spare tire, driving light, bumpers, etc. $295.

CHEVROLET COUPE. 1928 with very low mileage. It's equipped with 4 whl. brakes, 4 brand new tires, and many valuable extras. The finish, upholstery, and motor are in the perfect new condition. Only $275.

PEERLESS BROUGHAM. This car will satisfy the most exacting buyer. It's in splendid running condition and the finish has not a mar on it. Equipped with 4 whl. brakes, trunk, spare tire, shock absorbers, spotlight, bumpers, etc. Special for $285.

PIERCE-ARROW ROADSTER. Model 80. Here is an expensive car at an inexpensive price. Has smart appearance and spirited performance. Rumble seat. Equipped with 4 whl. brakes, shock absorbers, spotlight, spare tire, bumpers, etc. $645.

BUICK COACH. Mast. 6. Brand new tires, snubbers, heater, bumpers, etc. This car is as clean as a whistle and it's as comfortable as your home lounge. The motor is in wonderful condition. $250.

PAIGE SEDAN. Recent model that was carefully checked over in our shop and adjusted wherever necessary. The appearance is unusually smart and the equipment includes 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, new tires, etc. Reduced to $295.

HUDSON BROUGHAM. It's in splendid all-around shape, and the engine runs fine. Has shutter front, spare tire, bumpers, etc. $145.

PACKARD SEDAN. This 6 is equipped with 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumpers, trunk, spare tire, etc. Oiled and greased every 500 mi. by the original owner, so it's smooth today. Reduced to $585.

CHANDLER SEDAN. Late 7 pass. with practically new tires, snubbers, heater, bumpers, etc. The finish is bright and shiny and the upholstery has the appearance of velvet. Motor is in wonderful condition. $395.

STEARNS KNIGHT SEDAN. We recommend this as one of our best buys. Was chauffeur driven, so will give new car satisfaction today. 4 whl. brakes, heater, trunk, spare tire, etc. $550.

LINCOLN SEDAN. We believe this 7 pass. is the best Lincoln to buy in Chicago. The attractive finish has not a scratch on it. Has beautiful upholstery. Equipped with spare tire, shutter front, bumpers, etc. $385.

STUDEBAKER VICTORIA. 1927 Dictator 6 pass. Coupe, with good looking mohair upholstery and a bright, gleaming finish. Motor is A1. Has 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. $375.

ESSEX SEDAN. Late model, equipped with 4 whl. brakes, shutter front, new tires, bumpers, etc. The finish and upholstery and the motor are in dandy condition. $285.

NASH SEDAN. This Adv. 6 is equipped with snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. It's lacquered a beautiful color. The motor is A1. It's an exceptional buy at our price of $545.

STUDEBAKER CABRIOLET. One of the very latest Pres. 8 models. We defy anybody to tell the difference from a new car. It's an unusually smart paint job, wire wheels, side mounts, trunk, driving light, block absorbers, and other extras. Roomy rumble seat. The motor carries a 30 day free service guarantee. This car is a beauty and it's a real bargain at our special reduced price.

HUPMOBILE SEDAN. Late model str. 8 that's exceptionally clean throughout. Looks and runs as though it were just direct from the factory 4 whl. brakes, and a wealth of equipment. $595.
